SCHOOL BUILDINGS READY

Over $100,000 Expended To Put Schools In Proper Condition For Opening Next Monday.

In view of the unsupported rumors that the Newton schools could not be opened next Monday on account of work on the school buildings, the Graphic has interviewed Public Buildings Commissioner Cecil C. Chadwick, who has given us the following information of what his department has done during the present summer.

The following schools were painted at the outside:—the Williams, Auburnville; the Adams, Newtonville; and the Lincoln, Nonantum.

The Mason School, Newton Centre, was painted inside and out.

In the C. C. Burr School, Auburnville, a complete new plumbing system was installed.

In the following schools slate urinals were replaced with porcelain stall urinals, together with new supplies:—The Stearns, Nonantum; the Williams, Auburnville; and the Emerson, Newton Upper Falls.

In the Bigelow School, Newton, new water supplies; and tanks were changed to flushometer valves throughout the building.

At the new Davis School, West Newton, the grading was completed, and at the New and Old Hyde School, Newton Highlands, new water supplies.

The changing over from high pressure steam to low pressure and replacing steam engine and pumps by electric motors, at the Peirce School, West Newton, the entire ventilating system now being electrically controlled.

The moving of the two-class-room portable building from the Bigelow to the Peirce School location.

The alterations at the two High School Buildings, Newtonville, consist in general of the doing away with the Assembly Hall in the Classical High School building, making the same into a library; the changing of laboratory classrooms in the Classical to the Technical High School Building; installing of additional egress on both the Classical and Technical High Schools; changing over of the heating units at the Classical High School, making the same now automatically controlled with additional radiation; changing of partitions, etc., in both schools so that in the end the High Schools now have ten additional classrooms.

At the present time we are removing the old wooden buildings in the rear of the Technical High School, and have equipped in the Technical High a room for the electrical classes, and are building an addition to the Technical High School building for the automobile classroom.

The heating plants and plumbing systems throughout the schools have been overhauled, and general repairs made to roofs, etc.

The total expenditures on school buildings this year will be approximately $105,000.00.

COMMUNITY MEETING

The first community meeting under the joint auspices of the Newton Playground department and the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross was held last evening on the Newton Centre Playground and attracted an audience of about 1500 persons.

The program included selections on the cornet, which also led the community singing, the entrance of a color guard of Boy and Girl Scouts with the national colors, a talk by Mayor Childs, moving pictures including comic reels, a screen talk on cancer prevention, one on Red Cross activities and patriotic pictures, interspersed with community singing, the national anthem, the pledge of allegiance and the sounding of "Taps."

The next meeting will be held on the Upper Falls Playground next Thursday evening.

ST. PATRICKS OF CAMBRIDGE TO PLAY ATHLETICS OF WEST NEWTON

One of the best played baseball games of the season is looked for Saturday afternoon at the West Newton Common, when the St. "Pats" of Cambridge play the West Newton Athletics.

The St. "Pats" team is composed of Rindge and Cambridge Latin players, of whom little Rabbit Riley who plays shortstop is the star of the team, with his wonderful fielding ability.

On the West Newton Athletics, are such players as Lomax, formerly of the Boston Tigers, Houston of the Providence Stags, and Harry Gray of Newton Y. M. C. A. team.

These two teams played a game in the early part of the season which went eleven innings, finally being won by the Athletics 1-0.

The manager of the Athletics tries to put the best teams of the field opposite his team.

DEFENCE DAY

Plans for the observance of Defence Day in Newton are virtually complete and as outlined by the Committee in charge indicate that Newton will be well in line with the cities and towns throughout the country which are making arrangements to appropriately observe the day. A patriotic mass meeting will be held at the State Armory, West Newton, at 8 P. M., Friday, September 12. Co. C, 101st Infantry and Reserve Officers domiciled in Newton will mobilize at the Armory at the same time, and our citizens will thus have an excellent opportunity to see for themselves what Newton is doing in the way of preparedness. The meeting will be addressed by his Honor Mayor Childs and Mr. George S. Smith of Newton Centre, former President of the Boston C. of C., one of Newton's most respected citizens, and a man who can well and forcibly put across the subject of Defence to those assembled at the Armory. Members of the city government and the clergy of Newton will be among the specially invited guests. Preceding the meeting a parade will be formed at Newtonville Square, under command of Major C. Raymond Cabot as Chief Marshal and will proceed up Washington street to the State Armory. The Constabulary Band and Co. C, 101st Infantry M. N. G. will have the right of line and many organizations including the G. A. R., S. W. V., American Legion, Elks, Masonic bodies, etc., will be among those comprising the roster of the parade.

The meeting will enable our community to receive first hand information on the subject of National Defence and its importance and our citizens should turn out in large numbers in order to show that Newton stands 100 per cent back of suitable and proper National Defence. The names of the Committee in charge headed by Mayor Childs, honorary chairman, and Lieutenant Colonel Sinclair Weeks as chairman will be published next week prior to the meeting and includes representatives of all patriotic and national organizations in Newton.

THE BYFIELD CASE

The now celebrated Byfield case took a new angle this week when the attorneys for Mrs. Byfield filed a petition for an injunction restraining the city from expending money for the school house and for putting Mrs. Byfield out of the premises. The bill is brought under what is known as a tax payers' petition and is signed by T. O. Loveland, Mary C. Reinhardt, Angelina R. O'Leary, Anna C. Bartlett, Leverett D. G. Bentley, Newton T. Turner, Ellen Magoley, Effie M. Reardon, Elizabeth G. Gray, Jeremiah J. McCarthy, Helen S. Magoley, Charles H. Woodworth, Margaret S. Magoley, John J. Magoley, Leonora A. Magoley and William A. Robart.

The petition was first heard by Judge Qua of the Superior Court on Wednesday and continued until today. In addition the resourceful attorneys for Mrs. Byfield also obtained a stay in the actions of the deputy sheriff who has been engaged in packing up and removing the personal property of Mrs. Byfield since last Wednesday. The stay was obtained to determine the question as to the constitutionality of the act under which the aldermen last month ordered the sheriff to vacate the premises. This matter will be heard on September 12th.

Next Monday the suit for land damages will be heard before a jury at East Cambridge.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

We think that the appearance of the Newton High School grounds will be greatly enhanced if the new building is placed back from Walnut street, probably south of the Tech on high ground. The setting of all the buildings would gain in dignity.

H. P. PATEY.

orary chairman, and Lieutenant Colonel Sinclair Weeks as chairman will be published next week prior to the meeting and includes representatives of all patriotic and national organizations in Newton.

COMPLIMENTARY TO MR. EARLY

Unsolicited Testimonials Indicating The Regard In Which Representative Early Is Held.

April 18, 1924.

Mr. Bernard Early, State House, My dear Mr. Early:—

I wish to congratulate and thank you for your part in carrying through the substitute bill for the examination and classification of prisoners.

In introducing the initiative petition we expected that we might accept a substitute.

I believe that this substitute will accomplish what we wish at a considerable saving of money to the State.

If you are a candidate for re-election this fall, his accomplishment should bring you solid support especially of the women voters of your city who have been so interested in working for this measure.

I am glad to endorse your candidacy and if there is anything I can do as member of the Republican State Committee I shall be most happy.

Very cordially yours,
EFFIE S. ATTWILL.

Fellow Citizens:— Representative Bernard Early is a candidate for re-election to the House at the fall election. That he should be returned must be obvious to all fair-minded voters when his record is reviewed and studied. There can be no fair denial of the fact that experience better fits a man to continue in his work, and where the record of faithful and valuable work is as obvious as it is in Mr. Early's case the City of Newton should profit by it and re-elect him.

First—as to his record, which is an unusual one. Eight years an Alderman of the city, two years of which he was President of the Board; Vice-President of the Newton Savings Bank and Trustee member of the Investment Committee; Trustee and member of the Executive Committee of the Newton Hospital, and for many years in the management of the C. F. Crehore & Sons Co., manufacturing card and pressboard.

He is a Charter member of the Auburndale Co-operative Bank; Mr. Early has well earned the reputation for fidelity and industry and his judgment and ability to grasp and solve problems presented in the various fields in which he has served is recognized and cordially acknowledged by all who have studied his record as it has been made.

For these reasons he was elected as our representative and has been re-elected three times to the House of Representatives on that record.

His ability and judgment and his capacity for intelligent work have been so obvious that he has been appointed to, and served with distinction on the committees on metropolitan affairs, Public Health, Public Institutions, State Administration and Taxation. He has been faithful to the interest of the Commonwealth as required by his oath, and loyal to the interest of the city of Newton as promised to the citizens and taxpayers who elected him.

If we follow the practice of common sense which is to be a leading sentiment in the pending National Election we shall re-elect Mr. Early and profit by his experience and dependable record.

To displace him by electing as representative one who is a novice in legislation and unprepared by the long range of experience which has so well fitted Mr. Early for legislative duties, will be a backward step and contradiction of the rule which prevails in the almost universal custom in successful business of retaining experienced managers for the profit of stockholders.

We are each and all of us, stockholders in the welfare of the Commonwealth and the citizens of Newton should be represented in the management of that welfare by the best experience and capacity available. Let us use common sense and return Mr. Early.

KEEP POLICE BUSY

The liquor squads were busy over the holiday and while the seizures in different places were small there were a number of arrests. Sergeant Leehan, with Patrolmen Elliot, C. Feeley, T. Riley, and King, searched the premises of John A. McLean at 448 Watertown street and seized a small amount of whiskey. McLean was arraigned Tuesday morning for keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor for sale and for making an illegal sale of liquor. The cases were continued to September 10. Sergeant Leehan with Patrolmen King, Gaquin, W. Kiley and G. Mullen searched the home of Frank Gorgone at 63 and 67 Lexington street and seized a small amount of whiskey in pint bottles. Gorgone was arraigned for an illegal sale and the case was continued to September 9. Sergeant Leehan, with Patrolmen Elliot and C. Feeley arrested Raymond Kinchla of 92 Hawthorne street for an illegal sale. The case was continued to September 10. Sergeant Bannion, with Patrolmen C. Feeley, Veduccio, King and G. Mullen, raided the home of Joseph Paul, 304 California street but made no seizure. Paul was charged with an illegal sale and the case continued to September 12. Bernard McGee of Cambridge was arrested Saturday afternoon by Patrolmen Ray Taffe and Frank Feeley for being drunk and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The case was continued to September 10.

VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

On September ninth the primaries of all our political parties will be held. It is the highest duty of every club woman to take part in the choice of government officials. In many of our precincts this choice is equivalent to an election. At our last primary election only about one in three registered citizens voted, or 6500. With over ninety per cent of our nearly four thousand club women registered or about 3600 they might, if all voted, be a powerful factor in determining the city's choice for governor and other state and county officials.

OWEN-TRAFFORD

The wedding of Mr. George Owen, Jr., the well known Harvard athlete of this city and Miss Leonora Trafford of Milton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Trafford, took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Milton and was attended by a large number of friends, and relatives. Rev. Smith Owen Dexter of Trinity Church, Concord, performed the ceremony at four o'clock.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown and rose point lace and a wedding veil of lace, an old family heirloom, and carried a shower bouquet of swainsona and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Mrs. Herbert S. Carter, Jr., of New York City was matron of honor and wore a gown of orchid chiffon with hat of black mauline and velvet.

The bridesmaids, Miss Annette Trafford of Milton, another sister; Miss Florence Owen of Newton, Miss Blanche Borden of Fall River, Miss Edith Darrach of Greenwich, Ct.; Miss Sabina Dwinell of West Newton, Miss Ethel Cummings of Boston, Miss Alice Lee Thomas of Boston and Miss Ellen L. Whitney and Miss Theresa DeNormandie, both of Milton, were gowned in hydrangea blue chiffon with hats to match and carried bouquets of shell pink gladioli and larkspur. Ada Brooks Trafford was the flower girl.

Mr. Jocelyn Young of Newton was the best man and the ushers included Edgar Crosby of Newton, Bernard W. Trafford, Jr., brother of the bride, of Milton; Julius Appleton of Springfield, a cousin of the bridegroom; Herbert

S. Carter, Jr., of New York; Clark Macomber of Newtonville, Philip Coburn of Weston; Kenneth B. Lucas of New York; J. Curry Waston, Jr., of New York; Robert Bradford and Philip Kunhardt of Boston.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trafford in Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen, after a wedding trip to Atlantic City, will make their home at 19 Shaw street, West Newton, where they will be at home after October 1st.

Mrs. Owen is a graduate of Milton Academy, class of 1920, and later attended Miss Schopp's school in Paris, where she spent one year. Mr. Owen is a graduate of Harvard in the class of '23, and is one of the best known athletes Harvard has ever produced and the first Harvard man to be awarded 9 letters.

It is interesting to note that the father of the bride was the first Harvard man to be awarded 8 letters.

HARRIS-FRASER

The wedding of Mr. Louis S. Harris of Parker street, Newton Centre, and Miss Jessie Mae Fraser of Belmont, took place Wednesday evening at the Belmont Methodist Church, the ceremony being performed at eight o'clock by the pastor, Rev. D. Joseph Imier.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin and chantilly lace with lace and satin train. Her tulle veil was caught up with a cluster of natural orange blossoms at each side.

Miss Margaret M. Fraser of Haverhill, the maid of honor, wore powder blue canton crepe with crystal beads and carried an arm bouquet of Columbian roses. The bridesmaids, the Misses Eva Sabean of Waltham, Evelyn H. Perry of Lynn, Louise A. Harris of Newton Centre, Edith B. Fraser of Waverley, Grace A. Manning of Dorchester and Hazel MacClellan of Waverley wore taffeta in pastel shades, with silver lace hats and carried shepherdess's crooks.

The bride was also accompanied by Ruth Imier of Waverley and Leona Perry of Boston as flower girls and David Morton of Stoneham as ring bearer.

The groom had Mr. Everett E. Harris of Newton Centre as his best man and Messrs. Chester H. Fraser of Waverley, Gordon H. Harris of Newton Centre, Rufus Bond of Medford, Arthur Dallin of Arlington, Dr. Thomas H. King of Newton Highlands, Joseph H. Hogan of Geneva, N. Y., and Donald C. Chalmers of West Newton were the ushers.

A largely attended reception followed the ceremony at the Winsor Club of Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Harris being assisted in receiving their friends by their parents. The club house was gay with lavender and yellow in honor of the affair.

A delightful feature of the wedding ceremony was the singing of "O Promise Me" by Mrs. J. R. Milne, Jr., and the organ prelude and wedding march by Mrs. Clifford Stearns.

After a wedding trip through New York State Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home at 79 Benjamin road, Belmont.

HOME AGAIN Vacation's Over

School's Opening

The little men and women are starting in on another season of preparation for the responsibilities of home and state they must accept in the years to come.

We hope their vacations have been as enjoyable and beneficial as you expected them to be. We hope they have come home full of "pep" and eager for the work ahead of them.

For school work is real work. It must be carried on during the growing period. During a time when proper food means more to them than any other time of life.

Be sure that they have plenty of milk. Plenty of milk of the clean, rich, safe kind that builds strength and health and resistance. Milk of the kind that fortifies them against the strain and wear of school life. They need milk. A quart a day each one of them. And to be on the safe side see that they get

On the Republican ticket at the state primary next Tuesday there are contests for nine different offices, some of which attract but little popular interest and yet are of considerable importance. It may be of service to the average voter if we briefly review the candidates for these contested nominations.

First on the list is the office of Governor for which we recommend the selection of the present Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller. We do so because he is well fitted by business and political training, and is by far the better candidate to defeat the ever menacing James M. Curley, who will be the Democratic candidate. Mr. Fuller in his various campaigns has been opposed by what is known as the "Republican machine" and in consequence has built up a strong following of independent and semi-independent voters, who will gladly support him as the Republican candidate. If he is defeated there is reason to doubt if this class of voters will support Mr. Jackson and while they will not go so far as to vote for Curley, they may not vote at all and thereby aid Curley to that extent. Mr. Jackson is a fine type of man but behind him will be the menace of Curleyism and he should be defeated on that issue alone.

For Treasurer, in place of Mr. Jackson, we recommend Hon. James W. Bean, who has been deputy state auditor for five years and is the only candidate save Fred J. Burrell, who has any knowledge whatever of the state finances. Mr. Burrell, who resigned as state treasurer under fire, is, of course an impossible candidate.

For State Auditor, we favor Mr. Herbert W. Burr, as the most likely candidate to defeat the present state auditor, who is a disgrace to the Republican party.

For United States senator, we favor Congressman Dallinger, who has not only a fine legislative record at Washington, but who has the advantage of his age. Mr. Dallinger appeals with of his age. Mr. Dallinger appeals with peculiar emphasis to those who love the home and the church and he will be a senator of whom Massachusetts can well be proud.

For the almost unknown office of Councillor, we recommend the present Councillor, Hon. Charles S. Smith. With a new governor for the next two years, we should give him the benefit of experienced assistants among whom Mr. Smith stands first.

For state senator, we urge the nomination of Dr. Edward Mellus. Years of close association with Dr. Mellus have convinced us that he is just the type we should be glad to see enter the public service. Capable, conscientious and public-spirited, we urge his nomination.

For representatives in the General Court, there should be no question of the re-nomination of the present Representatives, Bernard Early and Leverett Saltonstall, whose records at the State House have been most satisfactory and creditable to the city of Newton. For the third place we are heartily supporting Mr. Clarence S. Luitwieler. Mr. Luitwieler is a successful business man with the time and the ability to study legislative problems and to act without prejudice or bias and free of political control. His opponent, Mr. Hollis, on the contrary is engaged in the insurance business—a business which always has important legislation pending at the State House and on which it is inevitable Mr. Hollis will act as his training and his business associates would have him act. Newton has never sent a man to the State House whose business connections are subject to legislative action and we trust it never will. A minor objection to Mr. Hollis, is his close association with that Master Politician, Mr. Thomas W. White.

For County Commissioners, there should be no question of the re-nomination of the present able and efficient Commissioners, Alfred L. Cutting and Walter C. Wardwell. Elsewhere we have commented on the candidacy of Andrew L. Wardwell, whose name on the ballot is apt to confuse the voter who wishes to support WALTER C. Wardwell for the place. We hope Newton voters will not be deceived by this barefaced attempt to secure votes for an unknown candidate.

The last contested nomination is that for Register of Probate, for which we recommend the present incumbent, Mr. Charles N. Harris. Mr. Harris has been for years the first assistant register and since the resignation of Mr. Esty has filled the office to the satisfaction of all who have occasion to use it. He has two opponents, both of whom are without experience in the office they seek.

Elsewhere in this paper we print a memorandum which we suggest should be cut from the paper and taken to the polls on Tuesday for use in marking the ballot.

One of the serious defects in the present direct primary system is clearly illustrated this fall in the contest for the Republican nomination for County Commissioners. Hon. Walter C. Wardwell has been one of the County Commissioners for several years and has proved himself to be a most conscientious and able public official. He is clearly entitled to a re-nomination and subsequent re-election to office. But a person named Andrew L. Wardwell, also a resident in Cambridge, has had his name placed on the ballot, with the very evident intention of obtaining votes under false pretences. Andrew L. Wardwell had had absolutely no experience for the office for which he is running and it is very evident that he expects to secure votes intended for

RENOMINATE YOUR PRESENT SENATOR

FOR THE STATE SENATE

Endorsed by no one profession, but by more than 2,000 of the best known men and women in the district.
The opposition of certain doctors is only a smudge; plenty of smoke but no fire.

In Senator Rice's district there are 82,000 citizens. From this number 100 doctors have been induced to sign a paper which has gone to the voters, too late now to be recalled, endorsing the candidacy of Dr. Mellus, practically an unknown candidate—why this opposition to Senator Rice and what does it mean?

During the last session of the Legislature 40,000 voters came to the Legislature with a petition which was a protest against the actions of the County Ring for the past three years. Senator Rice sponsored the cause of the petitioners. He was immediately warned that if he did not change his attitude, it would mean his defeat at the next election.

When Senator Rice announced his candidacy for re-nomination the question came up how was he to be defeated. Certain physicians interested in county affairs were told that Senator Rice was not sound on public health questions. That was enough. Citizens as a whole are all interested in public health. Break down Senator Rice's record on public health and the trick is done.

A meeting of physicians was called. Several doctors holding city and county political appointments were hark. Rice's record was condemned and the meeting voted to endorse a fellow physician and the fight was on.

Senator Rice is a man of good common sense, an active, able and conscientious legislator, devoted to the highest ideals in public service.

If the voters believe that a physician, practically unknown, with no legislative experience, can render a better service than Senator Rice it is their privilege and duty to vote for him.

and the building of the Technical School is all that has ever been done by the city. With the exception of the grave yard and urinator which were located on Walnut street, which was more than the citizens could stand, and they had to go.

The Aldermen voted to allow the school to be built on the Technical grounds, Mayor and Aldermen not knowing that in the gift to the city carried the warning that forever it was to be used as a site for a Technical School and that the site was approved by a vote of the school committee of said city on Dec. 6, 1907, and at the finish of the deed are the words. And no building other than the said Technical School building shall be erected on the granted premises.

When the Board found the above stated, they had another vote when Alderman Pratt made an amendment; meaning the removal of faults, the alteration of a bill before a body, a counter-motion at a public meeting.

The citizens are urging their building on the high land south of the Technical, and the watchword is "Save Clafin Park."

Old Mill Authentic One

Throughout the Atlantic coast tourist guides point out many old land marks, all of which are not authentic, but the old stone mill pointed out to visitors to Newport, R. I., dates back to 1676. It was built by Governor Arnold, although some popular versions say it was built by Norsemen. This is untrue, the Chroniclers of Rhode Island history say.

Circumstances

Circumstances have done much for every man, and yet he has often longed for other circumstances.

A Close Up

THE HIGH SCHOOL

Editor of The Graphic:

I am writing this letter to place on record a vigorous protest against the plan for building the new school on Lafin Park necessitating thereby an additional expense of $25,000 to change the course of the brook. It is discouraging to the taxpayers of the City of Newton to have the splendid efforts of our national government under Calvin Coolidge in cutting down expenses, nullified by local extravagance.

In the first place, has anyone looked to the question whether or not it is necessary to build a new high school at this time? When a manufacturer purchases the point when he has to increase the capacity of his plant, he first works his factory on a double shift, thereby reducing his overhead without adding to his plant account. It seems logical that a two-session school could be worked out for our high schools, or at least given a trial, before we spend more money for new buildings. If the persons who appropriate this money so readily were managing a private enterprise, they would not do this. Certainly if our colleges and universities can hold classes from eight o'clock in the morning until five and even six o'clock in the evening, it could be no great hardship for our high schools to do so.

Assuming that the authorities have looked into the matter and find this a necessary absolute necessity, I am at a loss to understand why they pick at the most expensive and difficult to do. With all the land available in the tract, why destroy one of the most beautiful parks in the City when a school might be located South of the Technical High in a line with it? It would afford an approach on all Street and relieve much of the traffic at Elm Road. The objection that the students would have to go far to get to the new building is in fact a reflection that in nearly every college in the country students pass from building to building, some of them being separated, in all kinds of fashion.

One point which makes the taxpayers doubt the absolute necessity of erecting this building is the fact that it is to contain a swimming pool, any university presidents and even physical directors refuse to sanction swimming pools as a part of their equipment because they believe them sanitary and spreaders of contagion. Despite the precautions taken, in view of this fact, it seems a total disregard of the rights of taxpayers burden them with the cost and upkeep of one.

Another unsavory point about this whole business is the apparent secrecy in which the plans were passed upon. I am a reader of the public regularly and except for a scattered reference to the matter in the accounts of the meetings of the Board of Aldermen, and the terms of protest, I have failed to see any definite account of what has been done and why it was done.

When our public officials do not feel the need of taking the citizens and taxpayers, who pay the bills, into their confidence, it is time we had new public officials.

Common sense and economy ought to be just as vital issues in local affairs as they are coming to be in the national administration.

Newton Taxpayer.

FOR

Sixth District

Respectfully solicits your support of his candidacy at the primaries

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9TH

The present incumbent has already served four years in the Governor's Council. It is a large district and if one man is to continually seek re-election, it must be conceded as a selfish stand against the ambitions of other Republicans in the district who believe that a distribution of such honor is reasonable and just.

I emphatically protest against the candidacy of Frank R. Bailey of Lowell whose nomination papers were filed five minutes before the expiration of the time limit with the Secretary of State—and only after several other citizens of Lowell had been solicited to enter the contest—this solicitation being made by men who do not reside in Lowell. It is not such a candidacy as should be expected, and may not the sudden inspiration (?) of Mr. Bailey be founded upon hopeful expectation that his candidacy will prove beneficial to the present incumbent—especially in view of the fact that Mr. Bailey's name will precede my name on the ballot?

AN ELEVENTH HOUR ATTEMPT TO DIVIDE THE VOTE OF MY HOME CITY OF LOWELL, IS RESORTING TO SHARP PRACTICES WHICH SHOULD BE REPUTED BY EVERY DECENT AND FAIR PLAY REPUBLICAN IN THE DISTRICT.

A record of many years' faithful service to the Republican party in state affairs, and a business activity of twenty years in my own community, which, I believe, to be of substantial merit, are my qualifications for the nomination as your Councillor from the Sixth District.

LOWELL—THE LARGEST CITY IN THE DISTRICT—HAS NOT HAD A REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATION IN THE GOVERNOR'S COUNCIL FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS. I APPEAL TO YOUR SENSE OF FAIR PLAY AND ASK FOR YOUR VOTE AND SUPPORT.

Miss Josephine Colarullo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Colarullo of Newtonville became the bride of Mr. Louis Iamele of Nonantum on Monday, the ceremony being performed at the Church of Our Lady at nine o'clock by Rev. Fr. Wall.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon with panels of ostrich feathers and lace with train of chiffon and white chamoisee also trimmed with ostrich feather and lace. She wore a crown of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Miss Genevieve Colarullo was maid of honor and wore pearl chiffon trimmed with ostrich feathers and rhinestones and she carried pink roses. The bridesmaids, the Misses Ernestine and Viola Colarullo of Newtonville, Jennie Forte of Brighton and Frances Salemme of Auburndale wore shades of pink, bouffant style and carried tea roses. Florence Di Rocco and Fostina Montorre of Brighton were the flower girls.

Mr. John Barba of Hingham was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. James Robecco and Antonio Centola of Brighton, Lawrence Tocci of Newton and Frank Capadanno of Auburndale.

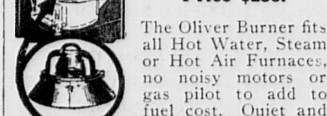

A reception was held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, from five to eleven o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Iamele being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Colarullo.

After a wedding trip which will include New York, Philadelphia and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Iamele will make their home in Newton Centre.

"ECHO"

Editor of the Newton Graphic:—
Confident that a sentiment of impartiality will allow the following to be read in the columns of your paper, I beg to anticipate my hearty thanks.

Absolutely free from any medieval sentiment of narrow villageism, I will not make this an occasion for a prejudicial race discrimination; deeply regretting that in the open field of the civilization of the 20th Century there shall yet exist a grotesque mentality such as that displayed by that certain Mrs. E. C. Stocks in the letter published in the Newton Graphic on August 22.

The language—if so it can be called—used by the aforementioned madam in her literary abortion, is unquestionably provoking; but contrary to what she tries to think—for evidently she has no power of thought—the Italians, they are, as a whole, too much of peace lovers and too proud of their origin, though modest hard working people to disturb themselves with a unanimous protest.

This writer feels that the madam is not worthy of a reply, but considers that in her narrow mentality she may think that among the "Dagos," "Guineas," and "Wops" of this district lacks one that could trace few lines in defense of common sense.

And now let us analyze some of the points mentioned by the scriber of the 22nd.

It is true that this area is "systematically covered" by respectable individuals—American citizens in majority—but it is also true that every individual, lawfully admitted into the United States and complying with the laws of the land, has perfect right to live here. It is also absolutely proper that youngsters may go to the Charles River to pass part of the hot days. It is admissible that these boys, grown in the congested sections, forced by social and economical conditions to live in the gutter, form the little "gangs" that at times are worthy of criticism.

But can the author of the article referred to deny that similar gangs—and indeed considerably more unbearable—are formed among communities that do not come from Italy? And what have the mothers and fathers and all the Italian race to do if some of the boys, leaving the house while the father goes to work and the mother attends the routine of the household, go out and even disturb the neighbors? And where is the quarrel that supplies stones to the youngsters, "three times the size of a brick," around Nevada Street? And if the impossible can for once be admitted, if even some boys sometimes did hurl stones "three times the size of a brick" at fruit trees, what have all the Italians of Nonantum to do with it?

But the scriber of the 22nd—ridiculously posing as an expert psychiatrist—had to give reasons for the "criminal instinct" of the Italian children and boasted that if she was to deal with the so-called Italian problem she would see that our children would get plenty of toys—it is perhaps from the latter that she learned sociology and she would see "THAT THERE IS NO NON-ENGLISH SPEAKING GRANDMOTHERS" in the household, which consists a prime disturbing element.

This paragraph alone should be sufficient for any person with an ounce of common sense to prove the irresponsibility of the madam in question. In the first place, I defy the madam to find a single Italian child who is a delinquent; for to our grandmothers, the pious and worn old mothers of ours that would not hurt the proverbial stone they walk on, teach our youngsters to do wrong. On the other hand, what would be the remedy of Mrs. Stocks in this case? Would she attempt a round-up of all our old mothers and dispose of them in the public arena—for instance, recalling the Caesarian spectacles of the Quo Vadis?

Those youngsters suffer from a state of mind, quotes Mrs. Stocks. I am inclined to believe that if anybody in the Nonantum District suffers from a state of mind, it is that particular Mrs. Stocks, and I trust that the competent authority will see that she is properly attended to; and that this incident may be closed here and the peaceful and respectable residents of the Nonantum District will no longer be insulted.

A. PESCOSOLIDO.

STILL ECHOING

Editor, Newton Graphic:—
Allow me to briefly answer the "Correspondence" of Mrs. Stocks of August 29.

The fact that Mrs. Stocks is allowed to prolong and confirm her insults to the Italians of Nonantum and the whole Italian race would induce me to attribute to the Newton Graphic part of the responsibility if I was not aware of the journalistic rules and the delicate task of journalism.

It is therefore permitted that scribers a la Mrs. Stocks continue to be allowed publicity to their literary mischiefs, leaving the dear old public the severe task of taking it all in. Fortunately for the latter, the hygienic epsom salt is abundantly obtainable at any street corner at a relatively low price, otherwise it would be good-bye with the digestive apparatus!

The scriber of Nevada street, grossly over-estimating her accomplishments with the letter of August 22, had the impudence of writing a second letter continuing her slanders and absurd statements. What does the scriber mean when she sarcastically states "the Italians are going to have an Italian Mayor and a Chief of Police," immediately following with a prophecy, "No, not for another ten years"? Does the scriber assume that there are not men among the Italians that they could cope with the requirements of such offices merely because some children—hurled stones at her fruit trees?

"I became interested in the Italians when I was informed that they could frighten one stiff," she states, and further on "it is one of the standing jokes among the Italians that they could get away with almost anything because Americans are afraid of them."

If I was not convinced of the state of mind of which Mrs. Stocks is affected I would proceed in the examination of the court records to inform myself of the number of criminals convicted for the crime of frightening Americans stiff. By the way, is Mrs. Stocks an American?

But I will not disturb myself—unless I will be compelled to further on—in discussing the merits of her race; satisfied to tell the scriber of Nevada street that the fantastic imagination in regard to the Italian race exists only in her dangerously prejudiced mind, and that, regardless of exceptions—deplorable among all races. The Italians have well distinguished themselves in efficiencies in all the intellectual fields long before and after America; was discovered to impose the appreciation of the people of all the world that did not and do not make toys the foundation of knowledge.

"E questo fia suggel ch' ogn' uomo scanni," sang that Dante of more than 600 years ago, who was also an Italian.

Did the scriber mention translation of Italian?

A. PESCOSOLIDO.

(In publishing the articles relative to the evils of trespassing on private property and the plundering of fruit trees, we did not intend to allow it to become a matter of racial consideration and hence have allowed Mr. Pescosolido to answer that part of the previous correspondence. We shall decline to publish further articles of this nature. Editor.)

NUMEROUS ACCIDENTS

An automobile owned and operated by James P. Connelly of 16 Clifton street, Roxbury, turned turtle on Boylston street, at the corner of Quinoboscua road, Sunday night. A rear wheel on the car was broken, but the driver escaped injury.

Automobiles owned and operated by Chester Marcel of 42 Clarence street, Newtonville, and Marcus G. Haley of 67 Parker street, Watertown, were in collision Saturday night at the corner of Elm and Washington streets, West Newton. Both cars were slightly damaged.

An automobile owned by Rufus S. Wilson of 15 Alden street, Newton Centre, and operated by Barbara F. Wilson of the same address, collided with a car owned and operated by Clarence D. Evans of 12 Willow road, Wellesley. The Wilson car was backing up on Centre street, opposite No. 330, and Evans was driving along Centre street. No one was injured but the cars were damaged.

While operating an automobile on the State road near Marlboro Monday night, Nicholas Mamacles of 762 Huntington avenue, Boston, was in collision with another car, the driver of which made his getaway without making himself known. With Damacles were Agrios and Anthony Vasilios of Boston, all three of whom were injured. Damacles' car was wrecked. Harold C. O'Connell of 78 Hillside road, Roxbury picked them up and brought them to Newton, where Damacles fainted from loss of blood. With the assistance of Motorcycle Officer Goddard, the three men were taken to the Newton Hospital. The accident is being investigated.

An automobile owned and operated by Fred A. Schender of 41 Sheffield street, Naugatuck, Conn., and one owned and operated by Frank Bateman of 317 Alston street, Boston, were in collision at the Boston College gate on Commonwealth avenue, Monday afternoon. Both cars were damaged, but the occupants escaped injury.

NORUMBEGA COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Miss Lullona Barker, Executive Secretary of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association, is attending this week a conference of Professional Religious Education Workers at Lake Geneva, Wis.

During the summer Miss Barker has acted as Associate Director of a daily vacation Bible school in Waltham, where the Church Federation cooperated with the District in the establishment of this vacation work, which lasted for four weeks. She has also served as instructor of Junior Department Methods in two Summer Schools, at Middletown, Connecticut, and Northfield, Mass. At the latter school two other members of the Norumbega Community School faculty were instructors, namely Dr. Herbert W. Gates and Professor James P. Berkeley, both of Newton Centre. Mr. Bryant Nichols of Auburndale was the registration at Northfield.

Mrs. H. W. Flitts of Newton, Primary Department instructor at the Community School for three years, was a member of the faculty of the summer school at Durham, New Hampshire.

The Norumbega District Community School will open for its Fall Session on Monday evening, October 13. Dr. Gates will again be the Director.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

October 21, 22, 23, the days when the State Sunday School Association will hold its great convention in Watertown will soon be here. For several months the church going people of the Norumbega District have been eagerly looking forward to the event, and have been completing plans for the entertainment and comfort of the many delegates and guests expected.

The State committee has arranged a program for the three days of unusual strength and interest, including some of the outstanding leaders in denominational and educational activities, such as Miss Margaret Slattery, Bishop Anderson, Dr. Crane, Mrs. Barney, Mrs. French, Dr. Gates, Prof. Berkeley, Dr. Athern, Prof. Warrington, Dr. Suter, Dr. McGill, Dr. Bonser, Dr. Hayward and Mr. and Mrs. Powell, with Rev. E. E. Harper in charge of the music.

God has a group of consecrated men and women can not fail to bring an awakened interest and a new vision to all who hear them.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, Sept. 3.—Few people are cognizant of the mighty forces that are now at work shaping a legislative program which will have a direct effect upon the present system of Government. It is said that behind the movement for control of Congress is the broad problem of a readjustment of constitutional balances settling all doubts as to the governing body of the Nation. Those watching the developments say that the Congress which convenes in 1925 will deal with the growth of executive power, the judiciary and the prerogatives of the Federal legislative assembly.

Accordingly it is argued that the personnel of the new Congress, which will be selected in November, becomes a vital matter in its relation to legislative tendencies. The extent to which the Government machinery would be remodeled can not yet be definitely settled. It is obvious, however, that regardless of the outcome of the election, there will be many debates in Congress dealing with this century-old controversy of constitutional limitation—"How powerful is the President and the Supreme Court?" Some of the political parties now seeking popular favor have directly and indirectly referred to this question. Whatever may be the solution of the problem, it is clear that the various agitators must first win the support of the public to their plans.

Stepping outside the controversial area, it will be found that many congressmen and Senators are resentful of the growth of the President's power during and since the war period. At present, it is almost impossible to actually define just where the President's powers begin and end. It is not as much a partisan matter as a struggle for supremacy between the executive and legislative branches of the Government. It seems that the principal complaint is founded on the belief that under present conditions the executive and the judicial branches have a neutralizing effect upon the legislative. And, many legislators are working with the idea in mind that the sovereign authority of Congress should be made clear.

It was the late Woodrow Wilson, in a special study of American politics undertaken several years prior to active participation in national affairs, who said that the balance of judiciary against legislature and executive could be considered as one of those ideal balances which are to be found in looks rather than in the rough realities of actual practice. It was his contention at that time that the national courts are for the most part in the power of Congress. He stated that even the Supreme Court is not beyond its legislative control "for it is the legislative privilege to increase, whenever the legislative will so pleases, the number of the judges upon the supreme bench."

Keeping in mind the fact that Mr. Wilson expressed these views as far back as the year 1883, when he was recognized as one of the Nation's foremost authorities on political science, it is significant to note that he believed that "All niceties of constitutional restriction and even many broad principles of constitutional limitation have been overridden and a thoroughly organized system of congressional control set up which gives very rude negative to some theories of balance and some schemes for distributed powers, but which suits well with convenience, and does violence to none of the principles of self-government contained in the Constitution."

Perhaps, his experiences as the Chief Magistrate may have brought a revelation. It is worthy of note that the war-time President had more power than any other man.

It is generally known that considerable legislation has failed of passage because Congress was very shy about conferring authority upon any Federal body not directly subject to its control. Those who favor the retention of the powers now possessed by the Chief Executive say that it is essential that this authority should be maintained in the interest of good government. There are some who will undoubtedly make political capital from this issue but in a broad sense it is not a party question. A multitude of remedies have been prescribed but none have been accepted. It is said that the inevitable tendency of every system of self-government is to exalt the representative body. It is the various interpretations of the Constitution that produce friction in government.

It is reported here that organizations throughout the country are taking an active interest in proposed tax legislation. Not satisfied with the provisions of the recent tax law there is a movement under way to make further revisions of the income taxes. The business interests feel that the maximum surtaxes should be reduced in order to induce men of wealth to put their funds in stocks of manufacturing corporations instead of in tax-exempt securities. It is noticeable in the majority of districts that candidates for re-election to Congress are avoiding the tax issue, claiming that the present law is easily enforceable and satisfactory.

President Coolidge is reported to have accepted recommendations of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to a revision along the lines of the Mellon plan which was rejected by Congress and the present law substituted.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that they have sold for William H. Newcombe his new brick Colonial house located at 552 Ward street, in the Newton Centre district. The house, which has just been completed by Mr. Newcombe is a brick Colonial of ten rooms and three baths, which, together with a two-car garage and 11,500 feet of land is valued at $35,000. Mr. Kenneth Brown purchases for a home and will occupy at once.

Burns & Sons also report that they have sold to H. F. McRae the new brick and stucco house located at 26 Acacia avenue, in the Chestnut Hill district. With the house there is a two-car garage and 9,000 feet of land. The total value of the property is $25,000. Agnes H. Burns was the grantor.

SMALL POX PREVALENT

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: Recent government reports show that smallpox is now present in 29 states.

This is a very significant fact because, smallpox being a disease which usually reaches its apex in the winter months, it is reasonable to expect an increase of the disease during the coming winter and health officers are preparing for it.

While not wishing to cause unnecessary alarm, the Newton Board of Health believes that every one should protect himself against the danger of possible infection, which can be easily and safely done by being vaccinated now.

Every one should know that he has had a recent successful vaccination or that he has shown an immunity reaction, which means that he is still protected by his last vaccination.

Vaccination, as now done, is a very simple procedure and it is not necessary to leave a large noticeable scar.

The site of the proposed vaccination is cleaned with soap and warm water and then with alcohol and allowed to dry.

The skin is then put on the stretch; the sharp edge of a chisel one-eighth of an inch broad is placed against the skin and, by a quick rotary motion, a small circular portion of the outer skin is removed, exposing the true skin, to which the vaccine is applied and rubbed in with a sterile toothpick. Care should be taken that the blood is not drawn and nothing but the colorless serum shows over the denuded area.

After the vaccine has been well rubbed in, the arm should be left uncovered for five to ten minutes to allow the vaccine to be absorbed and the site of the vaccination to dry, then a dry dressing may be applied as a protection. A shield should not be used.

If the patient is immune, i.e., if he is still protected by his last vaccination, a red blush will appear around the site of the vaccination in 24 hours and in 48 hours a small itching redness will appear which fades out by the fourth day, without producing a vesicle.

This is the so-called immunity reaction and, as has been said, means that the patient is still safe.

If the appearance of the papule is delayed until the 4th or 5th day and it then follows the above described course, without producing a vesicle, it is not an immunity reaction and the patient should be revaccinated.

In a patient who is susceptible, the site of the vaccination remains quiet until the third or fourth day when a papule appears which in 24 hours becomes a vesicle; 24-36 hours later a pustule appears which gradually dries, forming a scab. This scab falls off in ten days to two weeks leaving the typical pitted scar of a successful vaccination.

One of the three processes described must take place after a vaccination properly done with potent vaccine and, if neither occurs, there has been some error in technique or the vaccine was impotent, and the operation should be repeated, preferably with a new lot of vaccine.

Any one who has any doubt as to whether he is still protected is urged to visit his physician and be revaccinated.

This is especially true of children, as smallpox is a children's disease and very dangerous to unvaccinated persons under 15 years of age.

Vaccination properly done is harmless but it should be remembered that it is a surgical procedure and treated as any surgical operation is treated. Much of the feeling against vaccination is due to the fact that it has been looked upon as a trivial operation which needs no after care, with the result that the wound has become infected and a bad arm has followed.

This was not due to the vaccination per se, but to neglect. Another result of infection from lack of proper care is a large unsightly scar due, again, to infection and not to the vaccination. Furthermore, the scar is not a true vaccination scar and so does not necessarily protect against smallpox, although the bearer may consider that he is so protected.

A true vaccination scar is clean cut, shallow and pitted, in fact it resembles the pock mark seen in those who have recovered from smallpox. Many of the arguments used to combat the value of the protective power of true vaccination are based upon facts drawn from the above improper methods and are really arguments for the proper technique in performing a valuable procedure rather than against its use when properly done.

The following figures from a bulletin issued by the U. S. Public Health Service on the occurrence of smallpox during the past five years (1919-1924) in a state where vaccination is compulsory as compared with two others where it is not, are interesting as showing the protection given by proper vaccination.

Smallpox cases reported during five-year period.

DEATH OF MISS LEATHERBEE

Miss Maude Bradford Leatherbee died at her home 1243 Commonwealth avenue, Allston on September 1st, in the house in which she was born and had lived all her life. She was the daughter of the late William Bradford Leatherbee and of Cecelia Shorey Leatherbee. She was a lineal descendant of Gov. William Bradford of Plymouth Colony and of Wentworth Lord, who crossed the Delaware with Washington. She was a very successful kindergarten teacher, having taught in the Newton schools for over fifteen years. She attended Simmons college and afterwards graduated from Miss Symonds' Kindergarten Training School. Besides her mother, she leaves a brother, Mr. Frederic W. Leatherbee of Newton Centre, a sister, Mrs. J. W. F. Kennedy of Chestnut Hill and five nieces and one nephew. She was a devoted daughter, sister and aunt.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Hatcher Hughes's comedy drama, "Hell-Bent For Heaven," one of the most widely discussed plays in New York in many seasons is the current attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston.

The scenes are laid in the Southern mountains, and the story concerns a group of virile, keen-witted mountaineers. It is a gripping and exceptionally less retains its sense of humor throughout.

EVERY HOME-MAKER WANTS HARDWOOD FLOORS

Did you ever see a wife or mother who didn't want hardwood floors in her home?

We never have.

And the only reason so far as we know why every home is not equipped with them is that the owners THINK they are too expensive.

In almost every case where we have found that to be the reason and have had a chance to give figures and show flooring samples, we have proven that hardwood floors were not so expensive as they were thought to be and the floors have been put in.

If you have rooms that should have new floors, won't you let us give YOU facts and figures about them this week?

ELIZABETH SNOW

Gertrude Elizabeth Snow passed away at her home, 73 Lombard street, Newton, Thursday, August 28th, after an illness of three months. Although but 14 years of age, her lovable qualities had made her a social favorite among her host of friends in the Newtons. Elizabeth, as she was popularly known, graduated from the Pierce Grammar School, West Newton, last June. She was confirmed last Easter by the Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church of West Newton, where she regularly attended. She was a member of the choir for three years and entered into many of the church activities. In her school life she was equally popular with her classmates and was a member of the Dramatic Club. Besides her father and mother she leaves a sister, Eleanor, and a brother Clifford, who is a senior at the Newton High School. Funeral services were held at her home Saturday, the Rev. J. Edgar Park officiating. Selections were rendered by members of the Pilgrim Quartette of Boston. Burial was in the family lot, Newton Cemetery.

POLICE NOTES

Daniel J. Cleary has been appointed a patrolman for the usual probationary period of six months. Howard Hackett was arrested last Friday for operating an automobile under the influence of liquor. Hiram Twist of 668 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, charged with being drunk and with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was found guilty by Judge Weston, fined $10 for being drunk and given two months in the House of Correction for operating while under the influence. He appealed and was held in bonds of $400. Peter Antonelli of 66 West street, Newton, was arrested Sunday night at 7 o'clock for disturbance. He secured bail and at 11 o'clock was rearrested for being drunk and for operating an automobile under the influence of liquor. In Court yesterday morning the disturbance charge was continued another day. He was fined $5 for being drunk and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction for operating under the influence. He appealed and was held in bonds of $400.

—ST. JAMES THEATRE—To all who wear "civilian clothes": a comedy will open at the St. James Theatre on September 8th, called "Civilian Clothes." It is an appetizing piece, mixed after an irresistible recipe: dash of farce, touch of romance, a lot of truth. It was written while Thompson Buchanan, the author, was still in khaki, so that it is a real soldier's story. The Boston Stock Company as it is gathered together for the fourth season is an admirable group. In this play "Civilian Clothes" they and their talents will be well introduced.

DEATH ENTERS CITY HALL

Mr. Michael O'Connor dies after speaking at meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night

The proceedings at the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night took on a tragic tone, when Mr. Michael O'Connor, who had just spoken in favor of granting a victualer license for a Chinese restaurant at Newton Corner, was taken suddenly ill and died within a few minutes from heart trouble. President Hollis declared a recess, until the body had been removed to an adjoining room, where City Physician Fred M. Lowe, who was among the audience, made an examination.

Mr. O'Connor has been deeply interested in the plan to locate the restaurant in Bacon's Block and had told the board that some $30,000 would be invested in fitting up the place and that it would be first class in every respect. The petition was opposed by Mr. James P. Gallagher in behalf of 192 residents of Newton who declared that the objectionable features of such a restaurant could not be controlled and that attendance at such places was a starting point for something else, even more objectionable. Mr. John Flood was opposed and said that the young people of today hate to go home at night. Mr. William L. Graves said that Newton Corner had all the restaurants it needed and Mr. Joseph H. Gildea said that this was a business which thrived only in the bright lights. Numerous letters were read in opposition.

This hearing was but one of about thirty others, making one of the longest hearing dockets in the history of the board, and these hearings attracted one of the largest audiences seen at a regular aldermanic meeting.

President Hollis was in the chair and Alderman Tucker was the only member absent.

No one appeared at hearings on Edison conduits in Lowell avenue, Homer street and Commonwealth avenue, on petitions for change of property from General to Private Residence districts of Grove street, King and Crown streets, and on Wolcott street and Auburndale avenue, on petitions of the Saxony Worested Mills, A. J. Steffins Co. and Garden City Oil Co. for gasoline permits, of Richard Harte for private garage on Suffolk road, of Vincenzo Dangelo to enlarge garage on Hawthorn street, for sewer in Hibbard road, Ridge avenue and Owaissa road, for relocating Elliot street at Linden street, and relocating Chestnut street at Wyman street.

Mr. Gould for the Edison Company requested leave to withdraw on their petition for poles on Birch Hill road. On the Edison petition for poles on Lake avenue and Kenmore street, Mr.

Gould stated that this was necessary as their poles had been ordered off private property in that district. The petition was opposed by Mr. C. R. Lotz and H. P. Bradford. Ex-alderman Fred M. Blanchard spoke in favor of granting the petition of the Crystal Lake Ice Company to make alterations on its stable on Norwood avenue.

There was a lively hearing on petition of Mrs. Grace M. Pettee to change property in the Canterbury road district from Private to General residence district. Mrs. Pettee merely wanted to place some proposed houses a little nearer the street line than the zoning ordinance permitted and nearly all those opposed to the petition were in favor of allowing her to do so but did not wish the zoning ordinance changed merely for that purpose. Among those objecting were Messrs. Dan R. Weeden, Ernest Cobb, Arthur D. Colby, Winifred Patterson, E. W. Hunter, R. D. McLaughlin, William L. Fuller, E. O. Kenney, William Gill and L. H. Hilton. A show of hands on granting the petition found 21 in opposition, while on permitting Mrs. Pettee to place her houses nearer the street line, only 2 opposed.

Mrs. Harry B. Ross spoke in favor of the petition of John Recco to change property on Melrose street from the General residence to a business district. Mrs. Ross stated that she wished to build an office building on Commonwealth avenue for her own use and she was supported in her petition by Messrs. Eckhardt and Chamberlain. Harry Morey and Mary B. Hall entered objections.

Ex-Alderman Harry B. Ross spoke for nearly an hour in favor of the petition of Everett B. Horn for a permit to sell gasoline at 1742 Beacon street, Waban, and told a heart rendering tale of the business relations of Mr. Swanson, Mr. Scott, and the Texas Oil Company.

The American Oil Company asked for a filling station at 747 Beacon street and had Mr. L. A. Mayberry to represent it. Mr. Mayberry made a skillful plea for his client but he was opposed by Mr. J. Brissson and Mr. J. F. O'Connell.

The petition of Charles C. Prescott for a 4 car garage on Cross street was favored by Ernest F. Dow who said it meant replacing a dilapidated structure with a modern one.

A private garage asked by A. Guerenell on Beecher place brought out strong objections from John J. Hickey and other neighbors, as the petitioner wanted to put the garage within one or two feet of their line. In answer

LIGHT VOTE CAST AT STATE PRIMARY IN NEWTON

Only 40% of the voters go to the polls. Saltonstall, Hollis and Luitwieler win Representative nominations. Early defeated.

Notwithstanding the excellent weather on Tuesday, the day of the state primary, and notwithstanding the extraordinary effort which had been made to bring out a good vote, only 40 per cent of the enrolled voters took the trouble to go to the polls and register their opinion as to the party candidates for the coming national and state election. To be exact, 7564 voters went to the polls of whom 7159 were Republicans and 405 Democrats.

Newtonville cast the largest vote with Newton Centre a close second. Considerable trouble was caused by the inaccuracy of the Boston papers in stating that the polls in this city would be open to five o'clock, when, as a matter of fact, the time for closing was 4:30 P. M. Undoubtedly a few votes were lost in this manner.

On the Republican side, Jackson carried the city with a substantial vote of 4395 to 2662 for Fuller. Youngman was well supported here with a vote of 3608 and said to say Newton voters to the number of 891 cast their ballots for Fred J. Burrell, who ranked next to Mr. Youngman.

For United States senator, Gillett received more than the votes of his two opponents combined, his total being 3646. Dallinger second with 1724 and Collidge next with 1526.

Considerable interest was taken in the candidacy of Dr. Edward Mellus against Senator Abbott B. Rice, a candidate for a second time. Senator Rice almost buried his opponent with a total vote in Newton of 4107 to 2541 for Mellus, and in the district by a vote of 6700 to 3400.

The surprise of the day came in the nomination of three representatives as the senior member of the present delegation, Mr. Bernard Early, ran last in a field of four candidates. Representative Saltonstall was easily first with a total of 5545 votes, President Arthur W. Hollis of the board of aldermen was a good second with 4529, Mr. Clarence W. Luitwieler was third with 4031 and Mr. Early had but 3224. The failure of Mr. Early to have the words "candidate for re-nomination" placed after his name on the ballot evidently cost him many votes.

In the other contests, Cook for state auditor had more than his two opponents combined, with 3226 to 1811 for Burr and 1286 for Wilson. For Governor's Council, Charles S. Smith had 4459 to 861 for Bailey and 264 for Campbell. For County Commissioners, Newton voters showed they knew the difference between Andrew Wardwell and Walter Wardwell by giving the latter a vote of 3609 to 879 for Andrew Wardwell. Alfred L. Cutting, present chairman of the commission, had 4580 and William G. Andrew 1605. Charles N. Harris for Register of Probate had 3269, Coker having but 426 and Wood 1761.

The Democrats had but one party contest, that for Lieutenant Governor, Cummings receiving 142 votes, Boynton 98 and Ahearn 89.

The returns were slow in coming in, the last precinct reaching City Hall about one o'clock Wednesday morning. One of the surprises of the day was the stiffer campaign made by Mr. Strabe V. Claggett of Washington street, Auburndale, for the Democratic nomination for state auditor. Mr. Claggett received 24 votes in this city, 835 in Boston, and if he obtains a total of 1,000 throughout the state will become the party candidate for the office. He is a banker, a World War veteran and attends the Congregational Church.

The vote for Republican candidates for governor, U. S. senator, state senator and representatives will be found in detail elsewhere.

The vote for other candidates is as follows:

LUTZ-STEDMAN

A most unusual event in social circles, was the double wedding Tuesday evening at the Unitarian Church, West Newton, of two sisters to two brothers. The brides were the Misses Margaret Ruth and Eleanor Steadman, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Steadman of Austin street, West Newton, and the grooms were Messrs. Robert Elliot and Roger A. Lutz, the sons of Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lutz, of Sanford, Maine, and former residents of Newton, where Mr. Lutz was minister at Channing Church.

The church was decorated with palms and ferns and Mr. Herbert S. Wilder presided at the organ.

Each bride and groom had distinctive groups of attendants and made an unusually large bridal party.

Two clergymen took part in the ceremony, Rev. Mr. Lutz, father of the grooms and Rev. Paul S. Phalen, minister of the church.

Miss Margaret Steadman had a bridal gown of crepe satin trimmed with Duchesse lace and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Frances Fitts of Braintree, wore rose changeable taffeta and silver lace and the four bridesmaids, the Misses Elizabeth Thurgood of Newtonville, Dorothy Emery of Newton Highlands, Elizabeth Plimpton of Newton Centre, and Clara Nye Smith of Newton were in gowns of green with silver lace and all carried bouquets of roses.

Miss Eleanor Steadman was in satin crepe with lace trimmings, with a satin train, lace and net veil with orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Covel, of Newtonville, a cousin, was in green and silver changeable taffeta and lace with silver lace trimmings. She also had four bridesmaids, the Misses Dorothy McCaul of Newtonville, Ruth Robbins of Waban, Elizabeth Jack of West Newton and Frances Barnes of Winchester, who were in pink and yellow changeable taffeta with silver lace trimmings and all carried bouquets of roses.

Mr. Robert Lutz had Mr. Chester H. Whelden, Jr., of Watertown as his best man and his ushers were Messrs. William R. Chase of Brookline, Frederick Whitney of Watertown, John Schimik of Cambridge and Richard W. Janney of Germantown, Pa.

Mr. Roger Lutz was accompanied by Mr. Charles W. Pearson of Newton as best man and Messrs. Carlton G. Person and Francis Russell of Newton, Edwin Dewing of West Newton and Charles A. Cohoon of Needham were his ushers.

A largely attended reception followed in the church parlors the bridal party being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Steadman, and Rev. and Mrs. Lutz.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lutz will make a wedding trip to Naticus Lake and Range 39 in Maine and will then reside at 371 Austin street, West Newton, where they will be at home after September 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Lutz will enjoy their honeymoon at Ariel Isle in Meganticook Lake, Maine and will then reside at 11 Westbourne street, Roslindale where they will be at home after October 1st.

Mr. Robert Lutz was a graduate of Harvard University 1921 and received his Master's degree in 1922. His bride was a graduate of the Boston School of Physical Education.

Mr. Roger Lutz graduated from Harvard in 1923 and from the Babson Institute in 1924. Mrs. Lutz was a graduate of Miss Pierce's Secretarial School in 1923.

POST ROAD FARM

Your milk supply is important. You should demand that your milk is received from a herd of cows that are clean and healthy. That the stable in which these cows are kept is clean and sanitary. That the milking is done in a sanitary, careful way. That the milk is carefully bottled and delivered. That the tubercle test is applied to the herd of cattle supplying you with milk, and that you receive milk from a tubercle free herd. Unless you are getting milk handled under these conditions, you are not getting the best. It is important to study the source of your milk supply, which will easily determine its quality. We invite you to inspect our dairy. If you order from the Post Road Farm, you will get rich, clean milk of fine flavor. We deliver in Brookline and a large part of the Newtons.

ESTEY-BROWN

Miss Edna M. Brown, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Brown of Mill street, Newton Centre, became the bride of Mr. Roger S. Estey of Springfield, Mass., last Saturday evening, the ceremony taking place at the Hope Congregational Church in Springfield, and Rev. J. Burford Parry tying the nuptial knot.

The church edifice was charmingly decorated with palms, hydrangeas, and pink gladioli at the altar and in the church parlors where the reception was held after the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white satin panne trimmed with Chantilly lace, crystal beads and seed pearls, court train with beaded roses on train. She wore a tulle veil and an orange blossom wreath.

The bride's bouquet was of bride's roses, showered with silver ribbon and lilies of the valley and swansonia. The bride's sister, Miss Grace W. Brown was maid of honor and wore rose georgette crepe veiled with orchid georgette, silver maline train and carried a bouquet of cosmos and yellow roses with showers of blue, pink, and yellow gauze ribbons.

Mr. Earl H. Winkley of Springfield, Mass., was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Glenn Harris of Syracuse, N. Y., Milton Gay of New York, Emerson Carter of Suffolk, Mass., A. A. Palermo of Boston, and Mr. Munson, all college mates of the groom at Colgate University, and Mr. Herbert Brown, brother of the bride.

During the ceremony, Mrs. Case, the organist, played "O Promise Me" and the usual wedding marches.

At the reception which immediately followed the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Estey were assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Brown of Newton Centre, Mr. G. Fred Estey, father of the groom and Mrs. Earl H. Winkley, sister of the groom. Mrs. Brown wore a gown of beaded grey georgette over silver cloth and carried a bouquet of red roses. Twelve young women friends of the bride served the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Estey left that night for a motor trip through Canada and Nova Scotia and on their return will be at home after October 1st at Montpelier street, Springfield, until January when Mr. Estey will become an instructor at New York University.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENED

On Monday evening, at Boyd Park a squad of 35 lads answered the call for candidates for the Newton Pals team and were put through a very strenuous workout.

The regulars who reported were: McArdle, Campbell, Dargon, Arsenault, Herlihy and B. Lyman and around this fine array of veteran material Captain Arsenault expects to build a championship eleven.

Among the new recruits were: Doc Hughes, former star of Aquinas College, Howard and Chet Aucoin, J. Mahoney, Si DiLuca, Murphy and McLean, and from this group of new material much is expected.

George Wright, captain and stellar quarterback of last year's eleven was on hand to give the backfield a few points. Judging from the appearance and willingness of the squad who reported on Monday evening, Manager Flynn and Captain Arsenault are jubilant over the prospects of a fine team on the gridiron this fall.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Good Gracious, Annabelle" is on the play-bills at the St. James for the coming week. The play shows its author, Clare Kummer, at her frothiest. It is a mixture of whimsy and gentle satire, and light as thistle-down. It is the gayest group of characters ever brought together on the stage; artless, irresponsible, full of bright chatter, and quite human. Miss Hammond of the Boston Stock Company will be the charming Annabelle who spends her quarterly allowance of several thousands in a day, and then artlessly hires out as a cook, taking along her friends as gardener, chauffeur, and chambermaid, in situations of tremendous gravity. These delightful creatures still find jokes in stones, laughs in the running brooks. The play is "a pretty mocking of the life," and gently pricks the longfaced and gloomy.

THE SOONER STATE

The National Editorial Association Enjoys the Unbounded Hospitality of the State of Oklahoma

The second day in Oklahoma city was a busy one for the editors as well as for our hosts.

Our business sessions were held in the House of Representatives of the state capitol, located about two miles from the hotel. The building has a setting of lawns and flowers, which when completed, will add greatly to its appearance.

This was the building in which former Governor Jack Walton maintained a state of seige a few years ago and we were shown the place where the machine guns were so placed as to command approaches from all points of the compass.

The legislative hall is oblong in form and was once painted white but constant use has made its mark on the white paint which is far from clean. The desks of the members are about the size of a regulation typewriter desk and give a clumsy appearance to the room.

After the morning session, a cafeteria lunch was served in the building, but which my party did not attend as it was much provided. We returned to the city in a street car and so missed an afternoon ride about the residential part of the city. Instead, we learned that Oklahoma city knew nothing at all about coffee soda.

The big event of the day, however, took place in the evening with a gridiron banquet in the Masonic temple.

The hall was gaily decorated with bunting and the tables adorned with varied colored balloons and paper caps. Favors of noise making devices and sausage balloons added to the fun which began with the first course. During the dinner, familiar characters from the comic newspapers walked about the room and fooled with the diners, some of them who dared to smell a rose presented to them found it full of pepper and not of fragrance.

The big hit of the evening, however, was a burlesque of the recent investigation of the Tea Pot Dome scandal. A huge representation of a tea pot, some ten feet high, occupied the center of the stage, and the various witnesses found a seat at the top where they could look down on the investigators, headed by an imitation Senator Walsh. All of the important witnesses connected with the affair were called in turn, including William G. McArdoo, Harry Sinclair, Herbert Peck, W. J. Bryan, A. J. Volstead, Hiram Johnson, Roxie Stinson, and a lot of others, all impersonated with excellent effect by local business men. One of the best hits was the prohibition speech by Mr. Volstead who got so excited he poured out remarks that he lost his mustache amid uproarious applause. In the course of his vociferous remarks he said: "Illustrious molders of public opinion, thirsty and illiterate guardians of the proletariat who are invincible in peace and invisible in war, I challenge you to find here as much as three fingers of Four Roses" but just then a cork flew out from a suspicious looking bottle in his hip pocket and he retired from the stand in great confusion. As each witness concluded his testimony they were asked as a final question, "What do you know of the Tea Pot Dome Scandal?" and in every instance the answer was, "I know absolutely nothing about it."

During the progress of the trial telegraph messengers were continually bringing in telegrams from Washington concerning the investigation and news boys were shouting out their extra editions and pandemonium reigned generally. The whole thing was a scream from beginning to end.

Our third and last day at Oklahoma City, found the morning devoted to business of the Association, which included the election of Mr. Edgar S. Bronson of El Reno, Oklahoma, as president. Mr. Bronson was the one man responsible for our visit to Oklahoma and it was a matter of deep regret that he was so ill during our visit that he was not able, even to receive a call from his closest friends. It is the rule in the N. E. A. to promote the vice president to the higher office, but Mr. George W. Marble of Fort Scott, Kansas, to whom this honor would have come, insisted that Mr. Bronson should be chosen to the presidency. It was a most graceful act on the part of Mr. Marble and was highly appreciated by the Oklahoma editors. Mr. Bronson has since passed away and Mr. Marble is now the head of the Association.

We were guests at luncheon that day of the firm of Wilson & Co., the well known packers and those of the party who wished made the rounds of their splendidly arranged plant.

At two o'clock we took the train, with many expressions of appreciation of the hospitality of Oklahoma City, for El Reno, the home of the new president, Mr. Edgar S. Bronson.

A group of El Reno business men boarded the special train at Oklahoma City and mingled with the editors. Copies of a miniature paper called the El Reno Greeter were distributed, presenting considerable information regarding El Reno, Fort Reno and personal items of the visitors.

A caravan of 100 autos met us at the station and after a rapid tour of the city, took the delegation to Fort Reno, the United States cavalry remount station.

The entertainment at the government post was different from anything we had yet seen. Thoroughbred horses and colts were led by and their good points explained to the guests. The ladies' riding class gave an exhibition of the skill which had been acquired under the teaching of Fort Reno officers. A polo game concluded the program.

Then back to El Reno for a visit to the El Reno American office and the Wigwam, where we found two Indian squaws, in native costumes sitting in the window making bead work. Mrs. John Black, one of the best bead makers in the Cheyenne tribe on moccasins, and Miss Winona Turkey Legs, one of the best hand bag makers, demonstrated how the work was done. Inside were Chief Magpie, Chief Turkey Legs and Richard Goodbear, a touch of reality between the collection of Indian relics in the cases which lined the walls and the modern room itself.

Souvenirs for the visitors were tiny beaded moccasins for the women and beaded fobs for the men, with the words "El Reno" worked carefully into the design. Everyone received a box of Cheyenne wampum.

A dinner, served family style in the Masonic temple, with the work actually done by the members of the chamber of commerce and practically everything served having been grown or manufactured in Canadian country was the next treat in store for the visitors. The tables were decorated with roses and sweet peas furnished by local florists and arranged by members of the Business and Professional Women's club. Thirty other huge bunches of American Beauty roses were placed on the train by these women. A very pleasing program of speeches and music followed, after which adjournment was made to the Elks' Home, a commodious building of three stories which was aglow from basement to rooftop for the editors' welcome.

We were still somewhat skeptical as to the ability of the next place to furnish something by the way of entertainment that the other fellow had not thought of but we lost again for here was something entirely different awaiting us. These people had conceived the idea of putting on a real wild west gambling joint such as prevailed in the far west in frontier days and they succeeded very well in giving us a realistic picture of it. This feature of the program was staged in the basement and each one on entering was presented with a bunch of paper money, "Phoney" money, in an amount of $500 and told to go to it. There were all the usual kinds of gambling devices, roulette wheels, and the like and soon there was a gambling bout on such as the West has not seen for many a year. Later in the evening a raid was made on the place by officers of the law and the offenders dragged out of the place amid great excitement. Bridge and mah jong were played on the upper floors while the main floor was devoted to dancing for which most excellent music was furnished by a splendid orchestra. This affair provided a whirlwind finish for another day filled with interest and pleasure to all. It was past midnight before we returned to our train to dream of shooting up, Indians with scalp locks, dancing a merry war dance to a jazz orchestra while we sped on through the night to our next stop at Lawton where more and other novel entertainment awaited us.

BACK TO SCHOOL—AND LIBRARY

When the children go back to school, they go back also to the Library. Not only do they actually come into the Library Reading Rooms more often than during vacation, but they also come back to Library books in their rooms at school. This is because the Newton Free Library has for many years been sending collections of supplementary and recreational reading to the rooms of teachers who request such collections. Former teachers in Newton are well acquainted with the method of borrowing these books. New teachers can obtain full details by telephoning the Main Library, (N. N. 0031). Here, it is perhaps sufficient to state that books sent to a schoolroom may be kept for the entire school year, or for a shorter period. They may be used by the pupils in the classroom or taken to the home.

The kinds of books which are loaned in this way vary with the needs of the different grades in school. For the youngest children there are picture books, and for the first three grades there are readers, easy story-books and fairy tales. These are sent out in sets containing different titles so that the silent reading of the children may be varied. For the next three grades, there are geographical readers, stories of other lands, the method of books, and other books to stimulate the love of reading. For the older children history and civics books are provided as well as books of science, invention, biography and worth while stories. Lastly, books for the teacher's own use and study are sent out in this way to the classrooms.

Books are not, however, the only aids to teaching loaned by the Library. Mounted pictures and stereopticon slides may also be borrowed by teachers though they may not be kept for such a long period of time as the books. The Library also has some industrial exhibits showing the steps in the manufacture of different articles such as the watch, the pen, cocoa, cotton cloth and so forth. These are borrowed for use in oral exposition work.

Since the resources of the library are not unlimited it is perhaps worth while to suggest that teachers make their requests as soon as they know their needs. Those in charge of children's work in the Newton Free Library are ready to cooperate with the teachers at all times.

MR. HUTCHINSON DEAD

Hon. George Hutchinson, seventeenth mayor of the city of Newton died on Wednesday at his home on Highland street, West Newton. While Mr. Hutchinson has been in poor health for the past year, he voted the preceding day, and his death was unexpected.

Mr. Hutchinson was born in Worcester, Sept. 16, 1852, the son of Andrew and Harriet (Fales) Hutchinson. From the age of thirteen until he was seventeen he was with a drygoods concern, then became a travelling salesman for a shoe house, and until he was forty years of age was a salesman and buyer. For a time he was an executive for the firm of Clark-Hutchinson Company, which had headquarters in Boston and New York, and later acted in the same capacity for Winch Brothers' Company. Of recent years he was a member of the firm of McKelvin, Hutchinson, Winch at 590 Atlantic avenue, Boston.

He was an alderman of the city from 1900 to 1903 and served as mayor in 1908 and 1909.

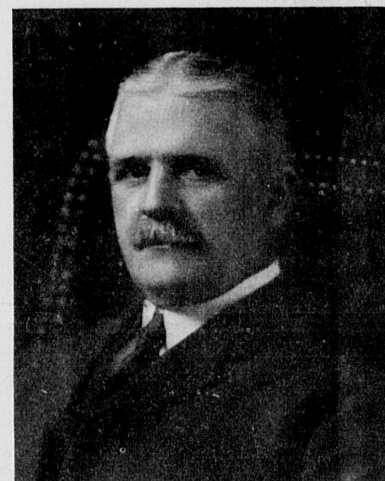

He has been active in religious, philanthropic and social circles during his whole life and was a vice-president of the American Unitarian Association, and a prominent member of the West Newton Unitarian Church. He was a vice-president of the Newton Hospital, president of the Newton Cemetery Corporation, a director of the Newton Trust Co., and a trustee of the Home Savings Bank of Boston.

Mr. Hutchinson was twice married, his first wife being Miss Eliza M. Clark and his second wife Mrs. Henrietta Ames, by whom he is survived, with one son by his first marriage, Mr. Maynard Hutchinson of West Newton.

DEATH OF MRS. FENNEBERG

Mrs. Nicolaena M. Fenneberg, wife of Peter H. Fenneberg, died suddenly on Friday evening last at her home on Upham street, West Newton. She was the daughter of Mrs. Elsa and the late George Jepsen. Mrs. Fenneberg is survived by her husband and two young daughters, also by her mother, six brothers and one sister.

The funeral services, which were held Monday afternoon at her late home, were conducted by Rev. Edgar

HON. GEORGE HUTCHINSON

J. Park of the Second Church, West Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nielsen of North Abington, who were very close friends of the deceased, sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Lead Kindly Light." The services were largely attended and there were many beautiful floral tributes. The pall bearers were her six brothers. Interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

DEATH OF MISS MORIARTY

Miss Mary F. Moriarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Leslie Moriarty of River street, West Newton, passed away last week Thursday at the Newton Hospital after a short illness.

The funeral was held from her late home on Monday morning with a requiem high mass at St. Bernard's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. William T. A. O'Brien being celebrant. The pall bearers were John Haverly, Peter Butler, John McGrath, John Quilty, William V. Kenney and Thomas B. Kenney. The services were largely attended and there were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets.

Burial was in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

HONOR MR. RANLETT

The Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library record with sorrow the death of their associate and Treasurer, Frederick J. Ranlett, who departed this life on Saturday, August 30, 1924.

Mr. Ranlett's appointment as Trustee was approved by the Board of Aldermen on November 10, 1919, and he attended his first meeting three days later. During his stewardship there were forty-five regular and special meetings of the Trustees and he was present at every one, a most commendable record.

At that first meeting he was elected Treasurer of the Library's trust funds. These he administered in a most painstaking way, devoting much time to searching the records in order to adjust the accounts according to the wishes of the donors.

Mr. Ranlett was a most lovable man and he has left us all the better for having come within the circle of his friendship and the spell of his delightful personality.

The city has lost one of its valued public officials, a man who brought without price all his legal attainments and a discriminating intelligence to the successful conduct of his duties. The Trustees and the Library have lost a most loyal and devoted friend.

We offer to his family this imperfect tribute to his memory together with the expression of our deepest sympathy.

For the Trustees,
FRANK H. HOWES,
President

NEW PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

The third parochial school in the city, St. Bernard's, a 12-room, granite building, of red brick, trimmed with stone, reflecting in a slight degree the Tudor style of architecture, opened Tuesday morning. It is located on Washington street, on the land adjoining St. Bernard's Church, and was erected under the direction of Rev. William J. Dwyer, pastor of the church.

With the exception of the Tudor influence seen in the doorway and halls, the building is of typical American school architecture. A feature of its construction is the lighting and seating arrangement which permits the light to enter from one side of each room through five windows and fall over the left shoulders of the pupils, doing away with the shadows found in so many of the older school structures. Model ventilating fans also been installed whereby the outside air is drawn into the building, cooled or warmed as is necessary to bring the temperature to an even 68 degrees and then pumped through the house. This provides clear, fresh air, ever changing and at a constant temperature with thermostatic control. By the use of iron staircases and granolithic steps and landings, inside fire escapes are provided.

There are 12 classrooms, an assembly hall, with a seating capacity of 400; a library, offices, and store-rooms. The first floor has six classrooms and a recreation room, the Mother Superior's office and a store room for books and school supplies. On the second floor are six classrooms and the library. The assembly hall is in the basement, with entrances from both ends of the building. The hall is for assembly purposes only. A centrally controlled signal system has been installed and the latest electrical equipment; engines, generators, etc., are in use in the boiler room.

The classrooms are 32 feet long by 23 feet in width and each has a seating capacity of 48 in the lower grades and 42 in the upper grades. On two panels, one on each side of the front outside wall of the building is inscribed the motto of the Catholic schools, "For God and For Country."

Maurice P. Mead was the architect.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Earl Eugene Leavitt, vice president of the W. P. Leavitt & Sons' Company, roofing contractors, was killed Monday afternoon by a fall from the roof of the William H. Rust, 900 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, while repairing the roof over a window.

Mr. Leavitt was working on the roof alone. He was found by passersby lying on the sidewalk and was taken to the Newton Hospital, where he died.

His brother, Edward P. Leavitt, president of the roofing firm, was killed a few months ago by a fall from the roof of the Baptist Church of Waltham.

Mr. Leavitt, who was 49 and single, lived at 29 Pearl street. He was a member of the Sheet Metal Workers' Association of Boston and of Newton Lodge of Elks. He is survived by a brother, John A. Leavitt, and four sisters, Mrs. Arthur Teulon, Mrs. Edith Gillies and Miss Sarah Leavitt, of this city, and Mrs. Berrie Robinson of Roxbury.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday evening and on Thursday afternoon. The service Wednesday evening was in charge of Newton Lodge of Elks under the direction of Exalted Ruler Willard L. Sampson.

Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, rector of Grace Church officiated on Thursday afternoon and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

SENATOR RICE GRATEFUL

To the voters of Newton: I want to thank the voters of Newton for their expression of confidence in me as manifested by the results of the recent primaries. It was unfortunate that statements were made by certain doctors reflecting on my record on matters relating to Public Health. These statements were not true. The doctors had been misinformed. The voters are alert and quick to resent an unjust attack made on any candidate who has had an honorable record. I shall strive to merit the confidence the people have placed in me by a hard and conscientious devotion to duty.

DEFENCE DAY

In observance of Defence Day a parade will be held this evening starting at Newtontown Square and marching to the Armory at West Newton. The line will form at 7.15 with Maj. C. Raymond Cabot as Chief Marshal. Headed by the Constabulary Band, Company C of the 101st Infantry under Capt. Thomas Hickey will have the right of line. It will be followed by the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, American Legion, Newton City Guard Veterans' Association, Company A of the State Guard, and the Newton Constabulary. These organizations will be followed by delegations from all the leading fraternal societies of the city and by members of the French-American and Italian-American clubs.

The exercises at the Armory will begin at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be made by Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Hon. George S. Smith. The Constabulary Band will render a program of patriotic airs and Company C will give a short demonstration. The Boy Scouts under the direction of Commissioner Carley will be in attendance. Members of the Board of Aldermen and of the clergy of Newton will occupy seats on the platform.

The committee in charge of the Defence Day observance is composed of Mayor E. O. Childs, Honorary Chairman; Lieut.-Col. Sinclair Weeks, Chairman; Maj. C. Raymond Cabot, Oswald J. McCourt, Levi Libby, Maj. J. C. DeMille, J. M. Carley, Maj. Thatcher Nelson, Capt. Thomas F. Hickey. This committee is receiving the co-operation of the following General Citizens' Committee: William A. Wetherbee, Charles Ward Post G. A. R.; James R. Chandler, Newton Constabulary; Henry W. Crowell, Company A. State Guard; George F. Brophy, Newton Catholic Club; Willard L. Sampson, Newton Lodge of Elks; William J. Gerity, Knights of Columbus; Albert Frechette, Council Marquette; George J. Broulette, Cercle Franco American; George M. Angier, American Red Cross; Mrs. Ellery Peabody, Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R.; Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, Sarah Hull Chapter D. R.; Thomas F. Frane, American Legion; F. Gasbarri, Gabriele D'Annunzio Club; Clifton C. Mowry, Chamber of Commerce; Charles G. Fewkes, Odd Fellows Association; E. W. Hildreth, Spanish War Veterans; Margaret F. Valley, Middlesex Court M. C. O. F.; A. L. Moriarty, City Guard Veterans; James C. Irwin, Boy Scouts; James H. Wentworth, Sons of Veterans; Caroline L. Freeman, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Susan Wetherbee, Daughters of Veterans; John A. Ahearn, Ancient Order of Hibernians; and Winton L. Buddington, Joseph B. Ross, J. H. Libber, Alfred N. Miner, Charles S. Ensign, G. Rushforth.

Parade starts from Newtontown Square at 7.15. Exercises in Armory at 8 P. M. All citizens are urged to co-operate in this observance, which has the endorsement and support of President Coolidge, Governor Cox, and leaders in civic and religious circles throughout the country. It is a patriotic movement as is attested by the hearty praise it has received from Hon. James M. Curley.

It is the duty of every patriotic citizen to join with those who are endeavoring to have Defence Day properly observed in Newton. Come to the Armory tonight, and take part in the parade if you are able to do so.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

The first all-Newton Community Welfare Conference will be held in Players' Hall, West Newton, on Thursday, October 16, 1924, according to plans announced by the Newton Central Council.

The Conference will include morning, afternoon, and evening sessions, with a "box lunch" at noon and a dinner served at six o'clock for those who wish to remain through the sessions which will deal with some of the outstanding welfare problems of Newton, and with the work of some of the score or more of public and private agencies which are coping with these problems. One of the most interesting features of the program will be the reports of the four committees which have been making studies during the past year in the fields of Recreation, Public Health, Family and Child Welfare, and Delinquency and Crime. In addition to those reports there will be addresses by some of the leaders in welfare work in this state and in the country at large.

An exhibit of the work of Newton's welfare agencies will be one of the most attractive features of the Conference. The exhibit will be held in the hall at Players' Hall, adjoining the larger auditorium where the conference sessions will be held. Both in the exhibit room and on the conference program space will be given for practical demonstrations of the work of various welfare agencies in such fields as folk dancing, music, scoutcraft, dramatics, etc.

On the day immediately preceding the Conference and Exhibit, a series of automobile "Come-and-See Tours" to various groups of Newton welfare organizations will be held. Arrangements will be made so that any one who is interested will have the opportunity to participate in one of these tours, thus getting a first-hand idea of the intensely interesting but little-known community service activities which are carried on in various parts of Newton.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer is the Chairman of the general committee on Arrangements which is working out the plans for the Conference. The other members of this committee are the chairmen of sub-committees, each of which is charged with the supervision of some special part of the work.

Mrs. Ernest Cobb of Newton Upper Falls is Chairman of the Program Committee which will select the speakers and make other arrangements regarding the sessions of the Conference. The other members of the committee, who are the chairmen of the four permanent divisions and of the special survey committees of the Central Council, are: Hon. Edwin O. Childs, Hon. Thomas Weston, Jr., Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Dr. Fred M. Lowe, Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, and Mrs. Louis H. Marshall.

The Meetings Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Samuel Braman of Newton Corner, will have charge of all the details relating to the physical arrangements for the Conference. The committee has already made a careful canvass of possible meeting places in Newton, and as a result of their investigations, Players' Hall has been selected as being the most available meeting place, and being easily accessible from practically all parts of the city. Mrs. Virginia M. Hutchinson of Newton Highlands is Vice-Chairman of this committee.

The Exhibit Committee, which is headed by Mrs. A. G. Hopkins of Newton Centre, will have charge of the apportionment of space and the general supervision of the exhibits to be made by the various organizations. The committee has already received twenty requests for space in the exhibit hall.

The Come-and-See Tours will be worked out under the direction of a committee of which Mrs. W. J. Bicknell and Miss Marian Morse, both of Newton Highlands, are Chairman and Vice-Chairman, respectively.

Mr. L. D. G. Bentley of Newton is the Chairman of the Press Committee, and he will be assisted by John F. Barry. Both Mr. Bentley and Mr. Barry are members of the staff of the Boston Globe.

EDITORIAL

We very much regret the unexpected defeat of Representative Bernard Early for re-nomination. We feel certain that the loss is far more serious for the city and the state than it is for Mr. Early personally. We shall miss his sound common sense and excellent judgment, as well as his wealth of experience in important legislation now pending, and with which he was most familiar. We repeat, the city and the state are the losers in the failure of Newton voters to recognize the worth of Representative Early as a legislator.

It is a positive shame that the voters of this city failed to register their opinions last Tuesday. Only 40 per cent of the registered list made their way to the polling places and in many cases, finally determined the officers who will govern us next year, as the November election, at which 90 per cent of the registration will vote, will be merely a ratification of what was accomplished last Tuesday. Government by minorities is not a fiction, it is a sad and unescapable fact.

Now that the primaries have been decided, let us all unite behind the chosen candidates and see to it that they are elected at the coming election in November. Let personal rancor be forgotten, personal prejudices cast aside, and a harmonious front presented to the opposing candidates, in order that the present excellent state government may be continued in office.

The city is very much poorer today on account of the death of ex-mayor George Hutchinson, who has been an influence for the betterment of the city in political, religious and social circles. He well merits the encomium of the Master, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

We are glad to note that Newton voters were alive to the issue presented by the candidacies of Andrew Wardwell and Walter Wardwell for the nomination as County Commissioner.

A new definition of the word "politician" is "one who knows what he is doing on election day." How many politicians were there in Newton last Monday?

Newton business men will miss the kindly, genial smile and the public spirited activities of the late Michael O'Connor.

Newton doctors are evidently better physicians than politicians.

Newton schools opened in full form last Monday.

DEATH OF MR. O'CONNOR

Mr. Michael O'Connor, a resident of this city for the past fifteen years, died suddenly at City Hall on Monday evening, where he was attending a hearing before the board of aldermen. Mr. O'Connor had just spoken on a matter in which he was interested and a few moments after resuming his seat collapsed and died almost immediately from heart trouble. The body was viewed by Medical Examiner West, and then removed to his home on Walnut Park, Newton.

Mr. O'Connor was born in Bellows Falls, Vt., and was sixty-seven years of age.

During his residence here he was engaged in the real estate business. He was a member of Boston Lodge of Elks. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, Katherine, Aileen and Honora O'Connor, all of Newton.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at the Church of Our Lady, where a requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Horgan, of New York, a nephew of Mr. O'Connor. The burial was at Holyoood Cemetery, Brookline.

SPRAGUE-KENYON

The wedding of Miss Margaret Kenyon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kenyon, and Mr. Harold Sprague of Boston, took place Sunday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls. The ceremony, which took place at half past seven o'clock, was performed by Rev. Charles O. Farrar, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Newton Highlands.

The bride, who wore white crepe de chine, was accompanied by Miss Ethel Proctor of Newton Upper Falls as maid of honor, and who was gownned in pale blue georgette crepe.

Mr. Frank Folger of Boston was the best man.

A reception followed the ceremony the house being beautifully decorated with roses, gladioli, ferns and baby breath.

After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Sprague will make their home in Boston.

For kindness extended in our recent bereavement, for floral tributes and spiritual bouquets, we express to our relatives, neighbors and friends our sincere appreciation, making special mention of the Ladies' Catholic Guild of Newton, Federation of State, City and Town Employees, N. E. Mica Works, Newton City Employees 955, Waltham City Employees 175, Newton Lodge of Elks, Veterans of the Newton City Guard, Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., Division 48.

POLICE COURT

In Court Thursday, Bernard McGee of 53 Tremont street, Cambridge, arrested two weeks ago in Nonantum square by patrolmen Ray Taffe and Frank Feeley, was sentenced to 15 days in the House of Correction for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and was fined $10 for being drunk. He appealed and was held in bonds of $300. The cases of John A. McLean of 448 Watertown street, Nonantum, charged with keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor for sale and making an illegal sale, and of Raymond Kinchla of 92 Hawthorn street, Newton, charged with an illegal sale, were continued by Judge Weston.

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS Camp Mary Day

"The Newton Girl Scouts came to camp for a few days, a few days. And oh, their eyes were wet and damp when they were going home."

The summer season came to a close when the last group of Girl Scouts left Camp Mary Day on Saturday, September 6th. This nine week period beginning July 5th, has been divided into three one week encampments and three two week encampments, making it possible for 120 Newton girls to enjoy and to benefit by the outdoor, healthy, happy life which the camp affords. The ages of the girls who have lived in "the tents on the hill top" have ranged from ten years old to eighteen. It has been the first camping experience to many of them and they have enjoyed it to the fullest extent and all have left camp hoping for longer visits next year.

From Reveille at seven in the morning until nine at night, when Taps was played the day was full of interest and enjoyment and it was hard to find time for everything that the girls wanted to do. Each day began with "Camp Capers" led by a Councillor on the camp ground. At 7.35 the bugle called the girls to "Colors." This service consisted of raising the flag, pledging allegiance to it and singing the National Anthem. The Girl Scout Promise and Laws started the day in the right spirit and when "Mess" was played at the close of this little ceremony there was a rush to breakfast. After breakfast "Fatigue duty" was in order. Twenty girls and ten leaders could be accommodated in camp at one time. Four girls in each of the five scout tents, making five patrols. The work was divided so that each patrol had its own work each day—the work changing each day so that it did not get tiresome. All the work, excepting the cooking, was done by the girls. During fatigue duty camp was a very busy place—and there was always a great hurrying and scurrying just before inspection which came at nine-thirty when every tent was sure to be in the finest order and each scout spruce and span so that tent inspection and personal inspection would count each tent the full number of points. Court of Honor followed, when the patrol leaders met with the camp Director to determine the distance the birds, emblems of the patrols, should fly. Each of the five birds had the glory of winning a race except the Oriole. The Phoebe flew the farthest during the first encampment. The Bluebird won the race at the second and fifth camps. The Robin won twice also at the third and fourth camps and the Tanager was ahead the last week of camp. Besides being marked on work, tent and personal inspection, camp spirit played a large part in helping the birds to fly on their way and there was always great interest and excitement at the assembly which followed the Court of Honor meeting when the patrol leaders moved their birds along the wall at the end of the living room—to see which bird was ahead. After a short period of free time swimming call was played and this was always greeted with delight. During the sixty-three days in camp there were only two days when the bugle could not sound this call. The camp as a whole has no bathing beach of its own and the girls had to go around the pond to a beach owned by Mr. Loker who has been most generous in letting the girls bathe there. The swimming period was divided in two parts—one for the girls who did not know how to swim and the other for the swimmers. The first group were given instruction in swimming and many of them won their green caps. The other group were taught life saving and quite a number of them passed the Swimming Merit Badge test which is identical with the Red Cross Junior Life Saving. Dinner followed swimming and then "rest hour," as soon as work was done. Rest hour was met with groans at first as it was a real treat with talking or reading allowed but soon the girls actually liked it and the two points extra given for all the girls in a patrol sleeping during the hour were won by most of the tents every day. After this period of quiet, scout work was in order and many were the tests passed off by the girls. Nature work was emphasized and every Scout who had not passed the flowers, trees, and birds in the second class test, the chance of doing so. The Pioneer Merit Badge test was passed by a number of girls, the Star Gazer and the Flower Finder. Practically all the second class work was given to the scouts who needed it and also quite a lot of the first class work. Officers as well as scouts were kept to pass the tests and at almost an hour of the day one could see signally going on—the height of the flag pole being taken—the width of the pond—maps being drawn, miniature lean-to built or artificial respiration being practised on some self-sacrificing victim. After scout work came a rehearsal of the play—then free time and supper. The evenings were spent in playing outdoor games—including baseball, sometimes a camp fire in the council ring dancing, stunts, a costume ball, tent movies, charades or a song contest. Each Saturday at the end of an encampment a short play was given in the little woodland theatre. Three of these plays were given and the parents and friends who saw them, enjoyed them very much. On the last evening of each encampment the girls and officers voted for the girl who had shown the best camp spirit during that encampment. The following six girls were chosen and were awarded the Camp Spirit Emblem.

First Camp, Constance Upham, West Newton; Second Camp, Eloise Barber, Newton; Third Camp, Venila Colson, West Newton; Fourth Camp, Ruth Lapham, Newtonville; Fifth Camp, Virginia Grey, Newton Centre; Sixth Camp, Lisbeth Leighton, West Newton.

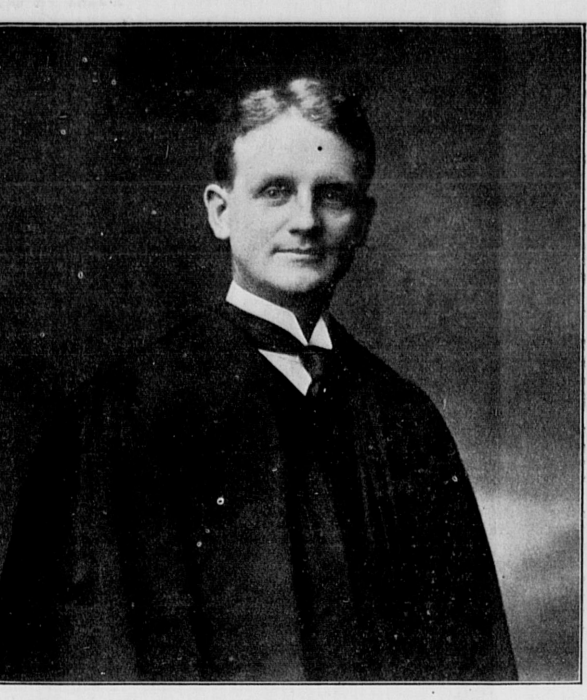

Four Scouts acted as camp buglers during the summer—all members of the Newton Bugle and Drum Corps. Ruth Ufford of Abundantale for four weeks; Betty Farnum, Newtonville, one week; Grace Thompson, Newton Highlands, two weeks and Elizabeth Plimpton of Newton Centre for the last week of camp.

The Councillors who did so much towards making the camp so successful were Miss Doris Lovell, Head Councillor and Director's assistant, from West Newton was at camp all summer; Miss Dorothy Colby, Newton Upper Falls, seven weeks; Miss Margaret Arnold, Brookline, seven weeks; Miss Eleanor Hall, West Newton, three weeks; Miss Edith Noy, Brookline, three weeks; Miss Marion Clapp, Brookline, three weeks; Miss Irma Bartholomew, West Newton, three weeks; Miss Elizabeth Carter, Newtonville, two weeks; Miss Inez Larcome, West Newton, two weeks; Miss Evelyn Fuller, Melrose, two weeks; Miss Eleanor Holmes, West Newton, two weeks; Miss Elsie Jennison, Wellesley, two weeks; Miss Miriam Blanchard, West Newton, two weeks; Miss Isabel Skipwith, West Newton, one week; Miss Dorothy Fairbrother, West Newton, one week.

The camp was very fortunate in having two girls from the Newton Vocational High School to do the cooking, Miss Elsie Holt who was at camp also last year and Miss Ruth Whitehouse.

Miss Freeman, the Director, feels that the summer has been a very successful one. There has been no illness in camp, no accidents or mishaps to mar the summer's pleasure and the spirit shown by the officers and scouts has been very splendid and worthy of the organization to which they belong.

PRESCOTT-DYER

Miss Edelweiss Waldron Dyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. French Dyer of Ward street, Newton Centre, became the bride of Mr. John Sherwin Prescott of Cleveland, Ohio, on Wednesday evening, the ceremony taking place at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, and being performed by Rev. Manley F. Albright, of the Quint Avenue Congregational Church of Allston.

The bride wore bridal satin trimmed with old Duchesse lace with court train and her veil was caught with orange blossoms and Duchesse lace. She had Mrs. Dorothy C. Sandler of Abundantale as matron of honor, and Miss Helen Miller of Brookline as maid of honor, each wearing orchid and crepe Elizabeth and carrying bouquets of yellow rose buds and blue larkspurs.

The Misses Dorothy Bartlett of Boston, Elizabeth Fenner of Plainfield, N. J., Grace Hay of Boston and Roselle Fuller of Boston were in blue crepe Elizabeth and carried pink rosebuds and blue larkspur.

Mr. Prescott had Mr. Henry Prescott, a brother, as his best man and the ushers, Messrs. John Hilton of New York, Charles Cutler of Boston, Edward Prescott of Cleveland, Ohio, a cousin, and Theodore D. Starr of Flushing, L. I., were all fraternity men at Williams College with the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony, the bride and groom being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Dyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Prescott, senior. Mrs. Dyer wore biege lace over crepe of same color and carried a bouquet of pink rose buds and maiden hair fern. Mrs. Prescott was in brown silk lace over yellow taffeta silk and carried yellow, rose buds and maiden hair fern.

After an automobile trip through the Adirondacks, Montreal and Quebec Mr. and Mrs. Prescott will make their home in Cleveland, Ohio, where the groom is connected with the Sherwin-Williams Co.

The Byfield case

Another step towards the settlement of the famous Byfield case was taken this week, when Mrs. Byfield was given a jury trial on the question of damages, and received a verdict of $11,500 with interest from the time of the taking, making a total of $12,234.31.

The case began Monday morning, and after the jury had been impanelled, it was taken to Newton and made a view of the premises.

Mrs. Byfield, Mr. Robblee, and Mr. McLean were witnesses for the plaintiff and the testimony of the two latter was thrown out on objection of City Solicitor Bartlett. The witnesses for the city were Mr. J. W. French and Mr. J. Edward Callanan, real estate experts, who stated that the property was valued about $8,000. Mr. Henry Baily and Mr. John W. Murphy of the Assessing Department also testified for the city. The jury rendered its verdict late Wednesday afternoon.

Another phase of the matter will come up to-day in the Court when a hearing will be held on the issuance of a writ of prohibition against the action taken by the city in removing Mrs. Byfield's property from the house.

Franklin's Glass Harmonica

One of the most curious musical instruments ever made was the glass harmonica invented by Benjamin Franklin. It was composed of glass disks of different sizes set on a spindle and made by a treadle to revolve in a trough of water.

CAMP FRANK A. DAY

The season at Camp Frank A. Day is now over. It was as usual very successful, many Newton boys receiving a great deal of benefit from the outdoor life, and their association with other boys and leaders.

At the banquet on August 19th, prizes were awarded for the various events during the year, and the results of the voting on popularity, etc., were read. The Efficiency cup was won by Richard Hunt of Newtonville, who was, in the opinion of the Camp Director and Leaders, the best all-around camper for the 1924 season.

Much interest was shown in the tennis finals. In the Junior tennis finals Richard Zoller won easily over Fred Schipper in two sets. The score was 6-3, 6-0. Fred Schipper was the runner-up last year also. Previously Zoller had beaten L. Woolston, Rice, and Dean by decisive scores.

Frank Spain, last year's Senior Tennis Champion, beat Hayward Woolston in five sets, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 9-7. This was the best match of the year. Hayward and Frank were evenly matched, as can be seen from the score. The finest sportsmanship possible was shown all the way through the match. Frank Spain had won over Bennett, Hawkes, Hunt, and Coombs before beating Woolston. Lincoln Edmonds and Roland Coombs were the other semi-finalists. This makes the second year as Senior Champion for Spain, while Woolston is still runner-up for the second year.

The Camp Minstrel Show given during the last week in camp was written by Messrs. Strieder and Edgar, Camp Leaders. The cast included Messrs. Strieder, Edgar, Ginn, Greenwood, Perry, and Hess, and campers Farrell, Robert Bell and Deffen, with many of the campers in the chorus.

THE WAR MEMORIAL

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Last Spring I sent out a questionnaire to the various women's organizations of the city relative to the war work done by them during the World War, as a basis for an article for the forthcoming War Memorial. May I through the columns of the Graphic thank all those who have so kindly and painstakingly filled out and returned them, knowing as I do, how difficult a request I had made?

There are a few from whom I have not heard, noticeably the women's church organizations. The value of any such attempt to bring together the women's war work of the whole city lies in its completeness, and this is impossible unless the information is furnished. Will not some one person in each of the women's associations in the churches take it upon herself to find out if her society has been reported, and if not, to do the task herself? If the society did no work, will she kindly so state?

It is possible that some have taken a few of the questions too literally. They were intended merely as a basis for uniformity of replies. I shall be glad to confer with any one who may wish any further information.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

Again have been demonstrated the absurd features of the direct primary system. Men whose names would never be considered at a gathering of reputable citizens, intent upon endorsing the best available man for public office, have gone before the voters as serious candidates and some have managed to get away with it. Of course "fooling the voters" has become a science, but it would never be such if the voters were not susceptible to showers of bunk. During the primary campaign, just closed, we heard of more petty deceptions which seemed to "go over big" than we have heard of in a long period. There is nothing new in dragging out an obscure individual with a surname the same as one of the candidates for reelection. But we did think it a novelty when we heard a candidate say, "I never have my picture printed on a card or in the newspaper for the audience to get a look at me. I would never vote for me." It was surprising to see what that same clever individual was able to do. Another man, in an ingenious attempt to get himself talked about, had his campaign cards so printed they appeared to contain an outrageous typographical error. It made more people in that particular district talk about the candidate in question than could any other happening. "I always do that, or something like it," he confided in us. "If I didn't my card would be no different from any of the others." We were not surprised to learn later on that this typographical trick went so big the candidate had to order 2,000 more cards printed. There was still another candidate who was fearful of charges of party disloyalty from the audience and to prevent any would-be accuser from making himself heard at a rally this candidate had men planted in the audience who would jump up and resent such charges. This took away all embarrassment from the platform and made it a row between two spectators. The candidate would say, "Gentlemen, I beg of you to let me answer the most serious question." Of course he never intended to answer it and never did. These and other happenings that came to our knowledge recently further convinced us that Barnum's saying, "There's one born every minute" was too conservative a declaration.

A contemporary informs us "there has been much agitation against 'Defence Day.'" That fact is of itself most interesting but we can look forward to no great amount of excitement in Newton at least since we find the agitation referred to "has been." Not that we would care to see our home city disrupted by friends and foes of military force in oratorical battle or even moved to personal encounter. It would mean that there had come true the old newspaper story of the cowardly poster who came back from a gathering of members of the peace society and told his city editor "there was no meeting as the whole thing broke up in a row." Not possessed of strong bellicose tendencies we are ready to give ear to people who would convince us that "Defence Day" is little short of barbaric. Still, we feel that the splendid story of the cowardly poster who came back from a gathering of members of the peace society and told his city editor "there was no meeting as the whole thing broke up in a row." POLICE COURT

Stiff jail sentences were imposed on the two men who beat up Patrolman Ed Foley last week Sunday night in Court last Friday morning. Frank A. DeSantis of 30 Jackson street, Newton Centre, was fined $15 for being drunk, and was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for assaulting the officer. Domenico Farino of 31 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands, was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for assaulting the officer and was fined $100 for rescuing the prisoner. According to the officer's testimony, he had placed DeSantis under arrest for being drunk when Farino kicked him and knocked him down. Both men jumped on the officer, who was almost unconscious from the kick, and severely beat him. Knowing both of them, he swore out warrants, and, with Sergeant Seaver, placed them both under arrest. They appealed the sentences.

John R. Hurley and William McRae of 97 Adams street, Waltham, were fined $20 apiece for trespassing, both fines being suspended until February. The two young men were arrested Thursday afternoon on the Avery estate at 316 Crafts street, Newtonville, by Patrolmen W. Kelly, Tibbets and Joe Kelly, on the complaint of the caretaker of the estate, who found locks on the windows had been tampered with and who saw the men lurking about the house. No evidence of breaking or entering or attempt to break and enter was found by the police that could be connected with the men and a charge of trespass was lodged against them.

James Green of 61 Carl street, Newton Highlands, was fined $25 in Court Monday morning by Judge Weston for assaulting John Driscoll of Winchester street, Newton Highlands.

Mary E. Luurtsema and George Wilson, both of Main street, Medford, were in court Monday morning after being arrested by Sergeant Leehan on a charge of illegal sales of intoxicating liquor. The trials were continued until Sept. 18, and both were ordered to furnish $300 bonds. It is alleged that they sold a barrel of cider to a Nonantum merchant, and, according to the police, it tested well over the sanctioned one-half of 1 per cent. Incidentally, this was the 21st consecutive day that Sergeant Thomas Leehan of the liquor squad has appeared in court as a complainant and witness in liquor charges.

Luciano Tempesta of 13 Winship street, Brighton, was fined $25 for tampering with a car.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Sept. 10.—Lately, it has been noted that political leaders are more disposed to take heed of ordinary economic factors in the conduct of their campaigns for the Presidency and legislative offices. Recognition is given to the fact that votes depend largely upon the temper of the public and the welfare of the country as a whole becomes more important to the campaigners. Reports received here, while obviously at variance, depending on their source, indicate that plausible promises of legislative relief must be supported by ironclad guarantees of the respective parties. The days when voters had implicit faith in the ability of their party to perform properly have gradually disappeared until legislators must deliver the goods or fall in the elections. It has been observed here that the era of hand-shaking, "baby-kissing" and glib talk has passed for the extension of communication through newspapers and radio has brought the constituents in close contact with their representatives at the national capital and the state legislatures.

Seasoned campaigners say that straw votes conducted in various localities do not signify as to how the wind blows for the candidates. It is argued that the real, conscientious voters, whose decision counts in the end, prefer to express their feelings at the ballot box exclusively.

It seems that the controversy as to what are the issues of the present hectic struggle for political supremacy among the air are alighting against the public. There is no secret made of the concern manifested over the apparent failure of the publicity campaigns. It was expected that in resorting to the radio, as the latest and most popular medium of communication, that the public would be attentive for experimental reasons if not from choice. The radio fans displayed disconcerting indifference. Inquiry revealed that the actual campaigns lacked the sensational features of the nominating conventions which had held a nation enthralled for a month. That the millions of radio users had been entertained to a point of satiety as to men and issues during the preliminaries never occurred to those in charge. It is said that in many localities political messages from the air are almost in the class with bedtime stories—the same old stuff.

Another source of trouble for the candidates and their press agents is the attitude of the newspapers. Once upon a time, it was customary for the papers, principally for partisan reasons, to print all the balderdash uttered by the candidates. Nowadays, the public is protesting against the refusal of editors who, it is said, are more independent in their political ideas, to allot unlimited space to candidates' pronouncements. It is easy to distribute propaganda but another matter to have it printed. Study of the position taken by the average editor, as reported to campaign headquarters, indicates that the principal objection is to repetition of candidates' speeches under different titles. In other words, the editors say that they want election news as news matter and not a re-hash of the speaker's former addresses. New ideas and not repetition is the guide to space.

It is always difficult to measure the influence of prosperity and hard times upon the electorate. Yet, the politicians here, judging from their statements, could easily explain their interest in the words of Carlyle "the purse is the master-organ, soul's seat and the pineal gland of the body social." Everywhere an attempt is made to keep the question of relative prosperity in the limelight of discussion—for political effect. Poverty often has a cramping effect upon the mind and it is equally true that prosperity and plenty carries with it a certain languor which makes men more indifferent to current affairs. There is little if any consistency in the struggle for high places in government.

Recently, effort has been made to trace the migration from farm to cities and estimate its influence on party government. According to figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture approximately 1,200,000 persons left the rural districts for the city, owing to agricultural depressions. Undoubtedly, some of these men and women drifted back for the statistics were tabulated in 1922. The story given out that this movement is not as significant as it appears at first glance for a large number of the changes are noted in the South where the rural vote seldom switches from one party. To much importance is attached to natural changes in residence for citizenship is not easily lost with a new mail address.

With "Defense Day" at hand, the discussion as to its usefulness continues to grow more increasing bitterness. Some favor more international conferences for the assurance of peace while others insist that it is essential to preparedness.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

We are decidedly opposed to the erection of any building on land in front of the present Technical High School. We favor a location on the knoll at the south of the present building.

ABBOTT BASSETT.

It would seem that there is plenty of room for a high school building in that lot of land farther to the south, so that it would not obliterate one of Newton's finest bits of scenery, with the beautiful Tech Building in the vista.

THE MISSES ALLEN.

I feel that it is not good judgment to place the new school building on Walnut street, when there is ample opportunity to place it back, and make Clafin Park on Walnut street, a beautiful entrance for both the new building and the Technical high school.

CLOSING SCHOOL

Editor of Newton Graphic:

I would like to protest against the closing of the schools on a day like last Wednesday.

It seems to me like poor training for children to have their education interrupted just because it rains—a warm, quiet rain like that couldn't hurt anyone.

They would naturally think school need not be taken very seriously. If they are spared a little discomfort getting there.

Places of business or of amusement do not close on account of the weather, why should schools? Very few children stay in the house all day if it does rain. Give them proper clothing, and the rain gives them rosy cheeks instead of hurting them.

But if school has to close every time it rains, then let us have a signal we can hear, and not make the children go there for nothing.

THIS IS WONDERFUL WEATHER FOR MAKING ROOF REPAIRS

But you know it won't last long. September and October are busy months and pass very quickly—then it's winter and cold.

There are some jobs you can postpone until after cold weather sets in, but roof jobs should be done this month.

It won't take long to size up your buildings and see what condition the roofs are in, and we can tell you quickly the cost of the best and most economical materials for the work. There may be leaks that should be fixed at once, especially in your granary or crib.

TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

MAGUE'S PIGGERY

A hearing was held Monday at the State House by the State Public Health Council on complaints against a piggery conducted on Ox Bow road, Wayland, by William H. Mague of West Newton, who has the contract for collecting the garbage of the city of Newton. The complainants contended that the piggery was conducted in a manner "detrimental to public health, comfort and convenience" of Wayland citizens. Many earnest speakers were heard on both sides.

F. Winchester Denio of Wayland, a lawyer, termed Mr. Mague's business a "noisome trade." He said that the stench of Newton's decaying garbage stored on Mr. Mague's land woke up six of his family last night. Other objections named by Mr. Denio of less importance than the stench, however, were that the piggery was a breeding place for flies and the rendezvous of hundreds and hundreds of crows, and the cause of rats swarming into neighboring barns and cellars.

"We do not see how any one living within smelling distance of this piggery can fail to be bothered," said attorney Denio.

Dr. James P. Bill of the Wayland Board of Health, confirmed what attorney Denio said, and added on his own account that he thought the chief cause of the trouble was that Mr. Mague did not have sufficient help to keep the place clean.

Mr. Mague's attorney, Thomas W. Proctor, placed on the stand E. S. Chase of West Newton. Mr. Chase, who is a sanitary engineer, said that, on his half dozen visits to the piggery no offensive odor was detected from any direction at a distance of from 1000 to 1200 feet from the piggery, with the exception of one place where he "detected it faintly."

Walter L. Lawrence of Wayland, chairman of the Board of Health for the last 10 years, said that Mr. Mague's was a well kept piggery. He added further that this attack upon Mr. Mague was engendered by spite. "Some people can smell the odors from others' pigs, but not their own pigs," he concluded.

John J. Scullion of Woburn, dealer in pigs, asked by attorney Proctor how Mr. Mague's piggery compared with others, said that it was the "nicest-kept piggery."

Clarence Lavalie, foreman in the piggery, testified that his was a "well-kept piggery of 1700 pigs for the moment." He said that the garbage was fed to the pigs every day and that there was none left over to be got rid of the next day.

The last witness, Mr. Mague himself, contended that "no just man can find offense with the odor at a distance of 200 feet." He said he never had any old garbage left over because Mr. Lavalie, his foreman, "was always asking for more for his pigs."

The matter was taken under advisement by the council. Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, Commissioner of Public Health and chairman of the council, gave the opposing attorneys an opportunity to file closing arguments in the form of briefs.

BOY SCOUTS

The Executive Committee met at the residence of Mr. James C. Irwin at Newtonville Tuesday evening. Reports were received from the Treasurer and Commissioner and an appropriation passed for Bugle and Drum Corps instruction.

A meeting of Scoutmasters and assistants will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening the 19th, preceded by a supper at 6.30 P. M. At eight P. M. all troops who would meet that evening and other scouts interested will meet in the main hall for the first "inter-troop" meeting of the year. Scouts of seventeen years of age have been invited to the supper.

Several of the troops begin their meetings this week, others will start next week in accordance with announcements to be made at the Friday night meeting. Scouts not receiving notices of meetings should inquire of their officers as some troops will not send out a formal notice. Let's start the year with a full attendance, and better yet, everyone on time.

BURR TENNIS

The finals of two events in the fall tournament of the Burr Tennis Association were played last Saturday. In the Women's Singles, Miss Avis Trowbridge retained her position as the ranking woman player by defeating Miss Grace Sutcliffe. In the Spring tournament Miss Trowbridge won a leg on the challenge cup presented by the Newton Community Club.

Miss Trowbridge and her brother Lawrence Trowbridge repeated their performance of the Spring in winning the mixed doubles. Their opponents in the final match were Miss Grace Sutcliffe and Harry Sylvester; score, 6-2, 6-4.

Almost every evening some match in the tournament is being played. The courts are in constant demand, and present an interesting and lively appearance.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

The club held its last luncheon for the season at Norumbega restaurant on Monday, and beginning next week will meet on Mondays at the Newton Club, Newtonville.

On Monday, Mayor Edwin O. Childs gave an interesting and inspiring talk on good citizenship and the need of overcoming the growing habit of indifference in fulfilling the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

DEFENCE DAY A SUCCESS

Newton Observes the Day with a Parade of over 500 and Patriotic Program at the State Armory, West Newton

Defense Day last Friday was splendidly celebrated in Newton with a fine parade and an enthusiastic and representative audience at the formal exercises held afterwards in the State Armory, West Newton.

The parade was formed at Newtonville square with Mayor Childs as chief marshal and Major C. Raymond Cabot as adjutant, and proceeded under the following order and to music of the Newton Constabulary band thru Washington street to the State Armory in West Newton:

Detail of Police under command of Chief Burke; Detail of Firemen under command of Chief Ranlett; Newton Constabulary band; Company "C" 101st Infantry, M. N. G.; Reserve Officers, U. S. A.; C. M. T. C. Contingent; Chas. Ward Post No. 62, G. A. R.; Thos. W. Burnett Camp, U. S. V. V.; Newton Post 48, A. L. Company "A" State Guard; Newton Constabulary; Fraternal Organizations including the Elks, K. of C., Newton Catholic Club, Middlesex Court, 60, M. C. O. F., Masonic bodies, French American Societies, Gabriele D'Annunzio Club.

The different organizations in line carried placards stating who they were and torch bearers furnished the needed illumination so they could be read.

The armory was elaborately decorated with broad streamers of different colors draped from the center of the roof to the sides, and the national colors were lavishly displayed on the walls on each side.

Lieutenant Colonel Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the committee in charge, was in the chair, and the program included prayer by Rev. Paul S. Phalen of the West Newton Unitarian Church, with brief addresses by Col. Weeks, Mayor Childs and Wilfred A. Wetherbee, senior vice commander of the national Grand Army of the Republic.

Hon. George S. Smith of Newton Centre made the principal address, and said in part:

"It is not our intent to indulge in bombastic thought or speech tonight, but rather to bring to a subject, calm and sane contemplation because of misconception of what is meant by Defense Day. It could just as well be called Inspection Day or Observation Day."

Let us go to the Act of 1920 to get a calmer view of what our Defense Act is. In that year the regular army was designated at 280,000 men including the Philippine Scouts, of whom there were a few thousands. In 1924 that Act was amended, cutting the regular army to 125,000 men excluding the Philippine Scouts.

I ask at the outset, "Is this an evidence of militarism, when in four years we have cut our regular army one-half?"

That Act provided for a State Guard or a National Guard, allowing for 200 men for each Senator and Representative in each State. That number could be raised subsequently to 800 men for each Senator and Representative. This organization, as you know, is purely voluntary, men enlist for physical training, merely training from the standpoint of service to their country on an extreme emergency call. Is that a suggestion of militarism, I ask?

Then we have the Reserve Corps, made up for the most part of officers trained in colleges and State institutions with other officers who have previously served, who would only be called into service in extremity of need.

I maintain that to read that Act of 66 closely written pages would satisfy an intelligent pacifist that instead of tending toward the military spirit in our country, that we were fast getting away from any suggestion of it.

A special point I would like to indicate is the aviation question. We developed the airplane and yet today, all other nations, recognizing that bombs and gasses dropped from airplanes will be the major forces of attack, are developing that service many, many times faster than we, until today with our meagre and inadequate force we could not begin to withstand and hold off invading forces. In that regard, I would even suggest just a little bit of military pride, at least in developing that most important service.

Then we have the Citizens' Training Camps, where 30,000 boys get physical and moral training for a month each Summer. I have spoken at some of these camps and have been at once impressed with the immediate signs of improvement through discipline upon these young men. I think universally that the officers are men of high ideals and have only the physical and moral well being of these boys at heart. If by any stretch of imagination, it can be said that these boys take on a wee bit of military pride, I would much prefer that they took that on than the greater pride in dissipation and worthlessness of lives because of physical and moral deterioration. Incidentally, I may add that the Government's appropriation for all our army service is $4.54 per capita, not a startling sum I submit.

Lord Haldane in 1909 in the British Parliament in an impassioned speech, which I personally heard, pleaded for a territorial force of 300,000 young men to be trained as our National Guard is being trained, to meet at least Germany's possible invasion in the future. He was laughed out of court. If that territorial force had been instituted in 1909, and with the army strength under our present act approved in 1914, it is very probable that Germany would not have precipitated war.

Roosevelt in 1911 was laughed out of court when asked by Lord Bryce, against whom he was fortifying the Panama Canal, replied, "Against a possible war with Japan and against Germany, who after subduing England, has designs upon us." He would be laughed out of court today, who maintained it is still possible to have trouble with Japan, and that Germany and Russia, who have designs in the Far East, might ally with China and Japan to menace world peace.

Sir George Trevelyan, the English historian, came to this country to deliver five lectures. Having the pleasure of introducing him at one of these lectures and spending the afternoon with him, I can recall his great apprehension over the Balkan situation and the closing words of his lecture were, "There can be no permanent peace in Europe until the Balkan question is settled and that will be fifty years." He spoke in the capacity of the International Secretary of the Serbian Relief.

So long as armaments prevail and the present fires of hate burn, there is always danger of war and our skeleton of defence is necessary against an evil day. Insist on disarmament in Europe before you dispense with our modest basis of military defense.

Classifying the Pacifists

In classifying those who are opposing any basis of national defense, I will confine myself to five classes.

First, the largest class are the aliens, not native born, in the employ of evil, sinister forces to keep us weak. For this class I have unspeakable disgust.

Second, the next largest class are those like Henry Villard, who see nothing good in our country. According to them, we must draw in while perfection reigns in all other countries and particularly, the pagan countries of the world from whom, according to the m.w.e. must draw inspiration and pattern. If one reads American history and takes notice of the condemnations of men by the leaders of men in past generations and compares conditions then, with the conditions of today, and the tolerances of men today with the intolerances of men of far away yesterdays, such men cannot agree with the Villards and their ilk.

The third class are the idle rich, who inherited their wealth, never worked and are always disgruntled and inveighing against organized society, demanding private rights and privileges that they may lead their selfish, worthless lives alone. For this class I speak contempt.

The fourth class, I term the intellectuals, whose feet never touch earth and whose ideal of men is, those without force, initiative and ambition. Bless their saintly souls! For them I have profound respect but I cannot fall in with their impractical ideals.

The fifth class is the class of Church people who abhor war but forget that they abhor disease and

2600 MEMBERS

The membership of the Newton Chamber of Commerce passed the 2600 mark during the past week and numbered 2604 at the close of business on Saturday, Sept. 13. Newton Centre continues to lead the village groups and is the only village having a representation of more than 500 members, the aggregate of 465 civic members and 53 business memberships, giving a present total of 518.

Newton has displaced Newtonville for second honors although the present margin is small and the Newtonville membership committee makes no secret of the fact that it is not going to be satisfied with third position. The present Newton membership includes 341 civic members and 38 of the business group, a total of 429. Newtonville exceeds in civic members with 365 but has only 59 business memberships, giving a total of 424, five less than the adjoining village.

West Newton has made a substantial gain during the past few months, and is now credited with a total of 317, which is divided between the civic and business divisions with 267 of the former classification and 50 of the latter. Newton Highlands is next in line with 214 civic members and 29 of the business group, giving a new total of 243, while Waban—which was one of the first villages to respond to the Chamber movement and led the list for several months before being passed by the larger villages—still indicates its interest to the extent of 231 members, including 224 civic members and seven of the business variety.

Auburndale has improved its position slightly with a new total of 214, which includes 192 civic members and 22 of business affiliations. The entire membership of the Chestnut Hill section, now numbering 146, is of the civic group. Nonantum has shown a slight gain, with a present civic membership of ten and a business membership of 24, while the outlying villages, Newton Upper Falls and Newton Lower Falls have a total list of 19 and 13 members respectively, of which the former has 16 civic and three business members, and the latter six civic members and seven of the business classification.

There are 16 non-resident members, including five who have business interests in Newton, with eleven civic members who are living out of the city temporarily or whose interest in Newton is such that they desire to be identified with the Chamber. The total of all civic memberships is now 2257, which, with the balance of 347 business memberships, makes up the present grand total of 2604. This strengthens

Y. M. C. A.

The regular program of physical activities, including the gymnasium class schedule will get under way at the local Y. M. C. A. Monday, Sept. 29th.

The physical directors, G. E. Morris and R. Van Buskirk feel that a well balanced and complete program has been outlined for all groups, and are looking forward to a busy season.

Following is the schedule in detail: Boys Classes: Junior A—Tuesday and Thursday, 2.30 P. M. to 3.30 P. M.; and Saturday, 9.30 A. M. to 10.30 A. M.; Junior B—Tuesday and Thursday, 4.00 to 5.00 and Saturday, 10.30 to 11.30 A. M.; High School—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 3.00 to 4.00; a twenty minute swim follows each gymnasium class.

Men's classes: Business men—Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5.15 P. M.; Seniors—Tuesday and Thursday at 8.06 P. M.

In addition to the above formal classwork it is planned to form leagues and tournaments in the various activities such as: basket ball, volleyball, and hand ball.

Representative teams will be organized if the interest is strong enough in basket ball, volleyball, track, hand ball, and aquatics. The local Association holds the State Y. M. C. A. title in swimming, and it is expected that a team can be sent out this season that will repeat last season's victory and maintain the Newton Y. M. C. A. reputation as the leader in aquatics.

The Physical Department Staff will also give special instruction to individuals who do not wish to take part in the class or organized work in swimming, diving, gymnastics, athletics, boxing, bag punching, tumbling, etc.

Physical examination will be given by appointment. This will be compulsory for boys and at this time a personal interview with the boys with an aim to advice, counsel, prescription of exercise.

Organization of leaders' clubs will be attempted. In these groups an effort is made to tie up those members who through their ability and efforts wish to actively assist the directors in carrying out the program. In recruiting these boys and men as leaders and giving them a vision of the association movement and its objective.

WHY MAKE A WILL?

Why should I make a Will? Does not the law make proper provision for the distribution of my Estate?

You should make a will because it is the ONLY way in which you can provide for the distribution of your property, much or little, in the manner best suited to the requirements of your individual case, and for the best interests of your heirs.

Your property will be distributed at your death either (1) according to your wishes, expressed in a legal will; or, (2) according to the terms of the inheritance laws of the State which may not suit your case at all. The inheritance laws were framed to cover conditions broadly and when applied to your individual case may work hardships or inequalities which can be forestalled only by means of a legal will.

VISUAL EDUCATION

The Newton Free Library has a large and growing collection of mounted pictures, which are borrowed and found useful by teachers of both Grade and High Schools. These pictures illustrate a great variety of subjects, only a few of which can be mentioned here. Classical pictures and reproductions of paintings showing the schools of art in different countries comprise not quite half the collection, and are of most use in the High Schools. The larger part of the collection consists of what may be termed pictures of a more popular appeal. These are particularly helpful in the teaching of history, literature, geography, science, and industrial life.

A teacher of literature, for instance, can find in this collection pictures of authors and their homes, pictures of the characters in books, and often illustrations from the entire book. "The Odyssey," "Idylls of the King" and "Evangeline" are a few of the books thus represented in the picture collection.

History teachers will find all periods of American history represented and an especially complete set depicting the life in England from the eleventh to the fifteenth century. A few of the titles from the pictures in this set will suggest their varied uses:

A street in the reign of Henry II
Entrance to an Anglo-Saxon walled town
Fifteenth century ships
Norman castle
Costumes of the reign of Edward III and Richard III

A fourteenth century kitchen
Scenes from the history of other countries are in the picture collection, and more will be added as the need for them presents itself.

Pictures of places are in great demand, and there are many of them ready to meet the demand. The National Geographic Pictures of Geography, for instance, give excellent ideas of the different countries, peoples, and customs. Some of these sets owned by the Library are the following:

Indian in America
Negro in Africa
Eskimo life
Sahara life

For use in the study of science there are many pictures of birds and their nests, of flowers, and of animals, both domestic and wild—besides many of the prehistoric animals. A large group of pictures shows the stars and planets, while another group shows the land and water forms.

For the study of industries there are pictures depicting the steps in the manufacture of articles such as silk, cotton cloth, and rubber goods. Different processes of farming, mining, and lumbering are also illustrated.

For the teachers who have a lantern, the slides owned by the Library will help in the teaching of geography, history and industries.

Any of the pictures in this collection may be borrowed for two weeks and renewed if the borrower needs them for two more weeks. Further information regarding the pictures themselves and the method of borrowing them may be obtained by telephoning the Main Library, (N. N. 0031.)

THAYER-SPEARE

One of the principal events of the fall season in this city was the wedding last Saturday afternoon of Miss Virginia Speare, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ray Speare of Montvale road, Newton Centre, and Mr. Lucius Ellsworth Thayer of Newton Centre. The ceremony took place at the Newton Centre Methodist Church at four o'clock, and was performed by Bishop Laurens J. Birney, resident bishop of China, assisted by Rev. Dr. Lucius H. Thayer, father of the groom. The church edifice was gay with a profusion of gladioli in the chancel flanked against palms and cedars and with the walls covered with smilax.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of ivory satin with rare old lace on dress and veil, embroidered in silver and pearls. She wore a Juliet head-dress of pearls and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and roses.

Her sister, Miss Dorothy Speare, was maid of honor and was in tea rose yellow chiffon over changeable pink and yellow taffeta, with brown velvet hat, and carried an arm bouquet of pink and yellow gladioli.

The bridesmaids, and matrons were the Misses Margaret Goldthwaite, Charlotte Smith, Wilma Calder, Marion I. Robinson and Mrs. Jenneth L. Hays, Mrs. Paul M. Goddard, Mrs. Davis N. Ripley and Mrs. Albert R. Speare. They were flowered chiffon over changeable yellow and pink taffeta in gladioli colors, brown hats, and carried arm bouquets of gladioli and larkspur.

Mr. James M. Nicely, of Washington, D. C., was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Gardner Jackson, Leeds A. Wheeler, Frederick J. DeVaux, Albert R. Speare, Charles F. Weeden of Newton Centre, Sherman R. Thayer of Portsmouth, N. H., Mercer B. Tate, Jr., of Philadelphia, and James Bracken of New York.

A largely attended reception followed the ceremony at the Charles River Country Club, Mr. and Mrs. Thayer being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ray Speare, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Lucius H. Thayer and the bride party.

After an extended wedding trip through the mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Thayer will reside at 24 Agassiz street, Cambridge.

The bride is a graduate of Smith, 1921, and the groom is a graduate of Amherst, 1918, and the Harvard Law School, 1923.

A pleasing feature of the wedding took place after the reception when the bride tossed her bouquet to her bridesmaids, attached to the flowers was found a card announcing the engagement of the maid of honor and sister of the bride, Miss Dorothy Speare, to Mr. Franklin B. Christmas of Princeton, N. J. Mr. Christmas is a graduate of Exeter, 1915, Princeton, 1919, a member of Ivy Club and Crew at Princeton.

Miss Speare is a successful writer and singer, having already published two books and many short stories since graduating from Smith, and she has had a thorough musical education in this country and abroad. For the last two years she has studied singing with Jean de Reszke in Nice, France.

Mr. Christmas is also a musician of ability, and after a late fall wedding the young couple will go to the Italian Lakes for the honeymoon, and then continue their musical studies in Italy.

BUT LITTLE INTEREST

Only a few persons attended the hearing last Friday afternoon in the State House called by the division of metropolitan planning to consider the desirability, location and cost of a parkway and boulevard from the West Roxbury parkway to the Galen street bridge in Watertown. The boulevard if constructed would pass through the West Roxbury district, Brookline and Newton via the Brookline park reservation and Edmond's park.

City Engineer William P. Morse and Street Commissioner George E. Stuart of Newton endorsed a plan suggested by E. H. Rogers of the planning division. Ex-Gov. John L. Bates reviewed legislation since 1908 on the subject, and said he was strongly in favor of a plan which would handle the heavy traffic going to the north and south of Boston without passing through congested parts of the city. He also endorsed the plan proposed by Engineer Rogers, suggesting one or two minor changes.

that it is just as necessary to prevent war as it is to prevent disease and, therefore, as one who is in contact with army officers at large, I can safely state that no army officer has any other intent than to have that skeleton of defense that will at least prevent war by deterring nations from preying upon us, who certainly would, if we were entirely undefended. For this class I have the profoundest respect and sympathy and regard.

I wonder, in closing, whether we do not look too far afield in our thoughts and have national aspirations before our community aspirations are well defined and taking form and action. It seems to me that even on the question of militarism and pacifism that it is possible for communities like ours to exchange in public meeting, debate from time to time or preferably in neighborhood contact, our own honest and sincere views on all questions like this and on all other questions that influence a community spirit, pride, conscience and will, that we can the more effectively develop the like national virtues.

At the conclusion of Mr. Smith's address there was an exhibition drill by Co. C, 101st Infantry, under the direction of Capt. Thomas F. Hickey and Lieutenants George Henriks and Frank Wilcox.

During the evening several selections were rendered by the Newton Constabulary band.

Rev. Fr. Timothy A. Curtin, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, pronounced the benediction.

The committee in charge included Mayor Childs, honorary chairman; Lieut. Col. Sinclair Weeks, son of Secretary of War Weeks, chairman; Maj. Raymond C. Cabot, Oswald J. McCourt, Capt. Thomas F. Hickey, Levi Libby, Maj. J. C. DeMille, J. M. Carley, Maj. Thatcher Nelson. The citizens' committee included Wilfred A. Wetherbee, National vice-commander of the G. A. EDITORIAL

Now that the schools have resumed their sessions, teachers and parents should co-operate in an effort to prevent, if possible, or to discourage as much as possible, the constantly growing habit of pupils on their way to and from school, of asking automobilists for a ride. It is an annoying habit for the motorist, particularly if no attention is paid to the hail, to have uncomplimentary remarks yelled after the car by the children. In passing thru the village of Waban this week, little girls from 8 to 10 years of age were standing by the roadside, soliciting a ride in passing cars. Parents should give this matter the most serious consideration for not every man driving a motor car is a fit person from whom your little son or daughter should request favors.

We hope the publicity given to New England the present week will open our eyes to the possibilities which are lying round us here in this favored community. In our trips about the country with the National Editorial Association we have been much impressed with the intense loyalty given in other localities to the state in which we happened to visit. A loyalty which we fear does not exist in this part of our great country. New England has much to be proud of in history, scenery, diversified climate, as well as in its leadership in all kinds of industrial enterprises. Let us "Know New England" better and then let the rest of the country know that we know it.

That Newton is alive to the importance of providing an adequate defense to this country of ours, was clearly manifested last Friday evening when over 500 men, representing various organizations, paraded in honor of Defense Day.

This evidence added to the splendid work of the Newton Constabulary during the war, when over 800 men from all classes of our citizenship gathered together for military training, indicates where Newton residents stand when the honor of the nation is involved.

At the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club this week, Mayor Childs struck a key note when, in commenting on the indifference of the average citizen to his political duties, he said in effect that if we expect a man to be loyal and true in his home, just so he should be loyal and true to his duties and responsibilities as a citizen.

Newton's garbage is very much in evidence of late with the neighbors of the garbage station on Lexington street appealing to the courts and the residents of Wayland asking the state board of health to abate the nuisance of the Magpie piggery. It's about time some steps were taken towards a satisfactory solution of the problem.

MANY CANDIDATES

One hundred and thirty boys are trying for the Newton High football teams. The varsity squad numbers about 40. A junior varsity and an intermediate team for boys under 135 pounds are being developed.

Under Coach Dickinson and his staff of assistants the varsity team is developing rapidly and will be ready to show some old-time Newton football in Saturday's game with Quincy High at Clafin Field. In addition to the Suburban League Teams the strong Providence Technical and New Bedford High School teams will come to Newton. The Waltham game will be played on Clafin Field this year. Season tickets will be sold which will reserve for the holder the same seat on the stand throughout the season.

The full schedule is as follows: Sept. 20, Quincy High at Newton. Sept. 27, Providence Tech. at Newton. Oct. 4, New Bedford High at Newton. Oct. 11, Everett High at Everett. Oct. 18, Cambridge High at Cambridge. Oct. 25, Waltham High at Newton. Nov. 1, Somerville High at Newton. Nov. 8, Medford High at Medford. Nov. 15, Rindge Tech at Newton. Nov. 22, Brookline High at Newton. League games. September games at 3 P. M. October and November games at 2:30 P. M. Thanksgiving Day game at 10 A. M.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop X, the Newton Highlands Troop, held its first meeting of the season on Monday of this week, in the vestry of the Congregational Church. Captain Collins greeted a large and enthusiastic group of girls, all anxious to begin their scout work, and all eager to make this year a most successful and worthwhile one.

After a brief interval of quiet, Camp Mary Day welcomed back to its hill-top the Councilors, who had been at camp during the summer for a Councilors' week end last Saturday and Sunday. Ten of the fifteen Officers who did so much towards adding to the camp's splendid spirit were able to be at this reunion. It was a fitting close to the summer's "long-time" camp, and will be remembered with much pleasure by those who were fortunate enough to be able to be present.

BROWN-BACON

A very pretty wedding took place at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sadler of Maple View, when their niece, Miss Gertrude Bacon, became the bride of Mr. Aldridge Brown, both of Newton Highlands. The bride, looking lovely in a dainty gown of beige canton crepe, and carrying a shower bouquet of sweet peas and maiden hair fern, entered the drawing room on the arm of her uncle, Mr. M. E. Flanders, to the strains of the Bridal Chorus, played by Mrs. W. Sadler, and was attended by Mrs. A. H. Baird, who wore a handsome gown of beaded chiffon velvet. The groom was supported by Mr. A. H. Baird, son of the late Senator Baird of Andover, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. E. Strothard in the presence of about fifty guests, the double ring service being used. During the signing of the register, Mr. Henderson sang, "Until." The house was prettily decorated with gladioli and sweet peas.

The out of town guests were Mrs. George T. Baird, wife of the late Senator Baird of Andover; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Baird, Andover; Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Marsten, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. MacFarlane, Mr. and Mrs. George Ridgewell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henderson, Mr. Norman Sisson, Mrs. Norman Wright, Miss Hazel Ridgewell, Mr. Perley Ridgewell, Plaster Rock, and Mrs. Geo. Watson of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left by motor for the upper Canadian cities, Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, and will return by way of Niagara and Buffalo to their new home at Weymouth, Mass.

DEATH OF MR. ALMY

Mr. Edward Almy, for more than a half century in the Boston dry goods trade, died Tuesday at his home, 18 Woodbine street, Auburndale. Mr. Almy was a native of Fall River, the son of the late Charles Almy, an old-time merchant and United States official of that city, where he was born in 1844. In early business life he was associated with his father, later removing to Boston, where for a number of years he engaged in the leather business.

Wiped out by the great fire of '72, he interested himself in the dry goods trade, in which he continued up to the time of his death. Of late years, under the firm name of Almy & Co., he had been located in Chaucery St., and the last few months because of building removals, at 11A Kingston street, not far from where he had first gone into business more than fifty years ago.

M. Almy had resided in Auburndale for about forty years. He is survived by his two sons, Charles E. Almy of Auburndale, and George O. Almy of Atlantic.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Edward P. Drew officiated, and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN L. McKEON

Mr. John L. McKeon, a resident of this city for the past 25 years, died quite suddenly last Friday at his home on Lowell avenue, Newtonville. Mr. McKeon had been to business that morning in Boston, but not feeling well, had returned early in the afternoon, and expired a few minutes after reaching his home.

Mr. McKeon was 47 years of age, and was engaged in the real estate business in Boston. He was active in the affairs of the Albemarle Golf Club. He is survived by his widow, one son, Mr. John L. McKeon, Jr., and three daughters, the Misses Marion, Helen and Florence McKeon, all of Newtonville.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Our Lady on Monday morning, when a high requiem mass was celebrated. The burial was at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

THE BYFIELD CASE

Judge Carroll in the Supreme Court on Tuesday dismissed the petition of Mrs. Cecelia Byfield for a writ of prohibition to prevent the city of Newton from evicting her from her house at 15 Eldredge street, Newton, taken by right of eminent domain by the city for school-house purposes. The action of Judge Carroll was taken by consent of the interested parties. It is understood that Mrs. Byfield is to be given a week or more in which to remove her household effects. During that time a hearing will be had before the city officials on her application for leave to move the house to another lot.

WEST NEWTON NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE

The date for the opening of the Nursery School has been set for Oct. 13. Miss Agnes Paul of Newtonville, and Miss Copperthorn of Natick, are to be the teachers. Both come from Miss Wheelock's School, Boston.

During the summer months, 19 new babies have been registered in the Baby Clinic, and the attendance has been large. Dr. Godfrey is the physician in charge during September. The colored people are meeting at the Neighborhood House Thursday evenings for singing. It is hoped that a Singing Club will be formed which will take up the study of standard choruses and Negro folk music.

Sacred Stones Pressed by Millions of Lips

During the holiday season many tourists in Ireland visit Blarney castle and its famous kissing stone.

Of the stones variously asserted to be the original one, able to bestow the gift of persuasive eloquence upon whoever touches it with his lips, the one the kissing of which is a difficult feat, on account of its position, has received numerous kisses from daring visitors, as well as the one which is easy of access.

The Blarney stone is not unique in having received an immense number of chaste salutes. St. Peter's statue, in the nave of St. Peter's church, in Rome, can claim a like honor. In fact, the toe of this bronze figure's foot has been worn away by kisses.

Perhaps, however, the Mohammedans possess the most-kissed object in the world, namely, the celebrated Black stone at Mecca.

No true Moslem, after having made a pilgrimage to the Prophet's birthplace, would think of leaving it without first kissing this sacred stone.

Said to have been white originally, the Black stone is stated by those to whom it is an object of veneration to have been turned to its present color either through the sins of men or by the tremendous number of kisses bestowed upon it.

Early Jewish Cemetery Now Business District

On New Bowers, near Oliver street, New York city, is a little Jewish cemetery, said to be the oldest Jewish burial ground in North America, says the Detroit News. It once occupied what is now Chatham square. The grant for the graveyard was issued by Gov. Peter Stuyvesant in 1656. The first Jews in America are supposed to have arrived September 12, 1654, on the bark Catimira, which brought 27 refugees from Cape St. Anthony, Brazil.

The spot selected for the cemetery was out among the sandhills, outside of the city. There was a range of hills, at the foot of which was the present site of Chatham square, and on the crest of one of these hills, facing east, the cemetery was started. The location was ideal, overlooking the meadows below the city to the south, with the East river in the distance. When the War of the Revolution came battles were planned in the body of the cemetery and on its hills. In 1856, 200 years after the opening of the final sleeping place among the hills, New Bowers was cut through, and all that was left of the cemetery was a 57-foot front on that thoroughfare.

London Rests on Clay

The crumbling and decay of many famous London (Eng.) structures is partly due to the clay subsoil upon which London rests. This is compact enough to transmit to foundations the full destructive effects of traffic vibration, and slippery enough to allow subsequent movement. London got its clay in Eocene times long before any of the present topography took shape. The floods of the Ice age overlaid this with wide areas of gravel, upon which earlier London arose and over which it extended, as the gravel afforded an easy water supply. Those parts where clay forms the immediate subsoil were uninhabitable until the invention of the steam pump and iron water pipes; largely they were overgrown with forests. It is, however, an ideal medium through which to drive London's tubes.

Why "Jerkwater" Towns

For many years, villages and out-of-the-way hamlets throughout the country have been called "jerkwater" towns, but few persons know where the term originated.

A version is given in the Indiana Magazine of History. In the early days of the railroad train, it was not an uncommon occurrence to stop the engine at a wayside stream to replenish the water supply. The water was carried in leather buckets.

First-class roads soon eliminated this necessity, but smaller ones, touching only villages, continued their "jerkwater" engines. Railroad men are credited with having jokingly referred to the smaller towns as "jerkwater" places, and the name has stuck.

Despotic Tribunal

The Star chamber was a tribunal in England consisting of a committee of the king's privy council, instituted, or revived by Henry VII in 1486. It had extensive powers and held itself unfettered by rules of law, dealt with civil and criminal cases by bill and indictment, without the intervention of a jury, and could inflict any form of punishment short of death. It was abolished by act of parliament in 1641, in the reign of Charles I. The court is said to have derived its name, either from the gilt stars that adorned the ceiling of the chamber in the old palace at Westminster, where it held its sessions; or as is more probable, from the Jewish bonds (stars), deposited there by permission of William I.

First Democrat

Kleisthenes, an Athenian scholar and statesman, was the first Democrat really to raise his voice in the interest of the common people. This occurred in about 510 B. C. About eighty years before a spirit of revolt made itself felt in Attica, owing to heavy taxes and the arrogance of the nobles. Solon, another eminent statesman and lawmaker, was authorized at that time to take some steps to remedy a situation that was already feared by those in power.

"Fairy Music" May Not Be Mere Imagination

Stories of fairy music in the forest, of haunted waterfalls, and mermaids singing near the seashore, long thought mere figments of the imagination, may have a sound basis in fact. In an issue of Science, Dr. Alexander Forbes of the Harvard medical school reports numerous cases in which trees seem to have separated discordant shouts and noises and given back echoes in musical tones.

"In every case," he says, "the source of the sound—waves on a beach, roar of a river, exhaust of motor boat or discordant human voices—was one in which many pitches were present. Something in the surroundings, usually trees, must have separated the sounds according to pitch, placing those of one pitch in one place and those of another pitch elsewhere. In this respect the phenomenon appears analogous to that of white light being broken up into pure spectral colors by a prism."

This reflection of absorption of sound waves of different pitches, Doctor Forbes explains, is only rarely observed. Sometimes the phenomenon is distinct and clear in one spot, yet a few paces backward or forward only the ordinary noises are heard.

The frequent association of trees with these musical echoes is thought to be due to the lack of uniformity they present as a reflecting surface for the sounds. Each tree apparently sends back part of the sound, and this reflection is broken up into innumerable parts on account of the varying element of distance.

Boy Was Right There After Job He Wanted

He was a clean-cut, wide-awake young chap and he wanted a job. "I have nothing at present," said the corporation manager, "but leave your name and if anything turns up you will be notified."

"May I ask if you have made the same promise to many others," said the applicant.

"Yes, quite a few," was the reply. The boy grinned and remarking that it was no monopoly he went out.

A few days later a young man was needed in a hurry and seven telegrams were dispatched to seven waiting applicants. Hardly had these left the secretary's office when in walked Johnny on the Spot, holding his telegram.

"How in the world did you get it?" gasped the executive.

"Well, sir," he answered, "the other day as I was going out I stopped and got a job as errand boy. I thought it would be a good plan to be where I could get the news quicker than the others."

"You'll do!" said the manager.—Boston Transcript.

Observant Japanese Lady

A Japanese woman has given to a newspaper her reasons for always applying the feminine gender to ships, motors, trains, etc.: "Yes, they call 'she' for many reasons: They wear jackets with yokes, pins, hangers, straps, shields, stays. They have aprons, also cap. They have not only shoes but have pumps. Also hose and drag train behind; behind time all time. They attract men with puffs and mufflers. Some time they foam—refuse to work when at such time they should be switched. They need guiding—it always requires man manager. They require man to feed them. When abuse are given they quickly make scrap. They are staidier when coupled up, but my cousin say they h—l of expense."

Franklin Set Style

When Eighteenth-century Paris was still wearing the picturesque three-cornered hat Benjamin Franklin came to represent the new republic of the United States, wearing on his head a queer thing derived from the steeple crowns of the Puritan Pilgrim fathers. Paris copied it and turned it into the cylinder which Christendom has worn ever since, says the Detroit News.

In the Eighteenth century when partitions of France and of Russia were fighting it out in Sweden the French faction wore hats, the Russians caps. The Middle ages, as a familiar ballad reminds us, knew a Pilgrim by his "cockle hat."

Lamb's Merry Jest

One of Lamb's jobs on the Morning Post was to supply half a dozen jokes a day, for which Dan Stuart paid him 6 pence each, and held him well paid. Six fresh-baked jests a day is a tall order. The fashion of flesh-colored stockings for the women proved a tolerable help in time of trouble, and Lamb boasts justifiably of his masterpiece, inspired by pink stockings. He wrote that "Modesty, taking her final leave of mortals, her last blush was visible in her ascent to the heavens by the tract of the glowing instep."—Manchester Guardian.

"Little Rock"

The principal city of Arkansas derived its name (originally "Le Petit Rocher" and "The Little Rock") from the rocky peninsula in the Arkansas, distinguished from the "Big Rock," the site of the army post, Fort Logan H. Roots, one mile west of the city. The big rock is said to have been first discovered and named "Le Rocher Français" in 1822 by Sieur Bernard de la Harpe, who was in search of an emerald mountain; the little rock is now used as an abutment for a railway bridge.

Major's Man Knew How to Deal With Scorpion

The major acquired a body servant named Garvino while we were soaking up malaria in the hills back of Santiago. One day the major was stung by a large scorpion—stung through his leather legging at that. Major Latimer was probably one of the world's greatest technicians in the art of profanity. He tore loose with his entire vocabulary when the virus of the scorpion made itself felt. Then he concluded he was going to die, as many other scorpion stings had.

Garvino dug around till he found another scorpion. He broke the critter in two, tore off the major's legging, rolled up his pants and drawers and applied the raw end of half the broken scorpion to the spot on the major's leg where the sting had entered, writes Leo P. Cook in Adventure Magazine. The pain ceased immediately and the major felt no further discomfort. Thereafter we knew how to treat a scorpion sting. This may be old stuff.

Another little trick of Garvino was to catch a scorpion, hold it by the head from beneath with thumb and finger, and with his other hand tear out the muscle that actuated the scorpion's sting. You know the scorpion must flip his tail up over his head to strike. After Garvino had performed this operation the scorpion was helpless to sting, though his locomotion was not interfered with.

Writing on Pinhead No Longer Novelty

Wandering about town one might get the idea that America had developed a new industry—that of engraving the Lord's prayer on pinheads. The impression is strengthened if one takes to visiting the regions in which sideshows flourish, near town or along the rustic routes of the traveling shows.

Considering that the man who engraved the prayer on a pin a few years ago was reported to have gone blind and insane as a result of his three years of application, one might almost pause to ask if all this pin engraving were not dangerous. There is no fear, however; the engraved pin business has been placed on a safe and sane basis, remarks the New York Times.

The original pin was all that has been said for it. On a disk forty-seven one-thousandths of an inch in diameter there were engraved 65 words with 254 letters, and nearly 2,000 lines had to be cut in doing it. The original might conceivably have got lost in a sewing basket and gone the way of all pins. But a die was made of it—no inconsiderable job in itself—and the market is now supplied from the die.

Legend of Pontius Pilate

Among the Swiss Alps is a mountain named after Pontius Pilate. Country people say that it is haunted by Pilate's ghost. According to legendary lore it appears that after the Crucifixion Pontius Pilate fell from imperial favor and killed himself in prison, whereupon his body was cast into the Tiber, which immediately rose and almost burst its banks. The body was taken to a lonely pool at the top of the mountain which now bears its name near Lucerne. According to another version Pilate retired there during his lifetime and was thrown into the pool by the wandering Jew. In any case his presence caused terrible trouble, avalanches and floods devastating the district amid a thunderous noise in the recesses of the mountains. In the Sixteenth century the ghost was finally laid, and a procession went up every year, headed by the vicar of Lucerne, to cast stones into the pool.

Gehenna Place of Horror

The word Gehenna is translated "hell" in the Bible. Gehenna, strictly speaking, was the valley of Hinnom, a deep narrow gully south of Jerusalem, where, after Abaz introduced the worship of fire gods, the Sun, Baal and Moloch, the Jews, under Manasseh, made their children pass through the fire and offered them as burnt offerings. "So Josiah defiled the valley making it a receptacle of carcasses and criminals' corpses, in which worms were continually gnawing." A perpetual fire was kept burning to consume this putrefying matter; hence it became the image of that awful place where all that are unfit for the holy city are supposed to be cast out.

Hidden Love Messages

There have always been parents and guardians to hinder and thwart the hapless lover, and many girls have been obliged to resort to methods of deception.

The simplest means ever employed was to write the love messages with fresh milk instead of ink. On the receipt of a blank sheet of paper, all the recipient needed to do was to sprinkle it with soot or charcoal. The gift stuck to the lines traced by the pen.—Exchange.

Study Woods Again

When iron ships came into use the study of woods began to decline and the decline was steady until recently when the United States Department of Agriculture placed wood upon a footing of a "principal product." Galileo, upon his visit to the arsenal in Venice, which visit had much to do with his law upon the resistance of solid bodies, was one of the first eminent students of woods. Leonardo da Vinci was another.

Early New Englanders

Fond of Their Beans

In the absence of positive information on the subject of the origin of Boston baked beans and their place on New England breakfast menus this conjecture is offered: In the early days of the Plymouth colony people did their baking in brick ovens. These ovens were heated on Saturday and enough baking for the week was done at that time. As the oven cooled off the temperature was just right for beans, which need long, slow cooking, so they were ready to be eaten on Saturday night and were probably put back into the oven to keep hot and these were eaten for breakfast on Sunday morning. Many New England people reheated them and eat them for breakfast each morning until they are gone, and some people who bake them on Wednesday continue to serve them for breakfast until the Saturday beans are baked. In northern New England beans have been baked from time immemorial in a hole in the ground, the hole having first been lined with stones and the stones made very hot with a fire built in the hole. In lumber camps the beans are usually put in to bake the night before they are to be served for breakfast.

Truth Prevailed

The criminal lawyer believed in being absolutely frank with his clients, and accordingly when a man came to him charged with stealing a pig he said: "Now, I will be perfectly open with you. If I take your case you must in the first place tell me honestly: Did you or did you not steal this pig?" "Well, yes, sir, I did," the man admitted; "but I have a big family and no money, and I was in need of meat for them." "That's all right," replied the lawyer. "You bring me half that pig and I'll take on your case." When the case came into the court the lawyer addressed the jury thus: "This man did not get any more of the pig than I did." The verdict was "Not guilty."

Machiavelli

Machiavelli was an Italian statesman, historian and man of letters (1469-1527). It is said the object of his book, "The Prince," is to show that all is fair in diplomacy. The term "Machiavellism" has come to mean political cunning and duplicity, the art of tricking and overreaching by diplomacy.

IT IS A FACT

That in a race it is not always the fastest one that wins, but the one that knows how to conserve his strength for the final spurt.

FINANCIAL STATISTICS

Washington, D. C., September 15, 1924.—The Department of Commerce announces that the total payments for expenses, interest, and outlays for the city government of Newton, Mass., for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1923, amounted to $3,932,940, or $81.42 per capita. Of this total $2,707,312 represents the expenses of operating the general departments of the city government; $115,053, expenses of operating the public service enterprises, such as water works, markets, and similar enterprises; $287,883, interest on debt; and $822,692, outlays for permanent improvements, including those for public service enterprises. In 1922 the total payments for the city were $3,495,682, and in 1917, $2,034,220, a per capita of $73.34 and $45.77, respectively. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues. The total revenue receipts of Newton for 1923 were $3,444,622, or $71.31 per capita. This was $334,374 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $488,318 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. These payments in excess of revenue receipts were met from the proceeds of debt obligations. Property taxes represented 71.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1923, 69.8 per cent for 1922, 58.5 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property taxes collected was $4.0 per cent from 1922 to 1923 and $1.1 per cent from 1917 to 1923. The per capita property taxes were $50.82 in 1923, $47.65 in 1922, and $27.78 in 1917. Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 6.5 per cent of the total revenue for 1923, 6.7 per cent for 1922, and 8.1 per cent for 1917. The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of Newton on December 31, 1923, was $3,060,662, or $63.36 per capita. In 1922 the per capita debt was $61.20, and in 1917, $51.42. For 1923 the assessed valuation of property in Newton subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation was $102,089,000. The levy for all purposes for 1923 was $2.715,567, of which $2,469,483, or 89.7 per cent, was levied for the city corporation; $189,480, or 7.0 per cent, for the state; and $116,604, or 4.3 per cent, for the county. The per capita tax levy for city, state, and county was $56.22.

MR. HUTCHINSON BURIED

Funeral services for Hon. George Hutchinson were held Friday afternoon at the chapel of the Newton Cemetery, Rev. Louis C. Cornish, D. D., secretary of the American Unitarian Association, officiating. The honorary pallbearers were Rev. Paul S. Phalen, Hon. George H. Ellis, E. L. Prescott, Frank L. Richardson, Hon. Seward W. Jones, J. F. McElwain and Stanley King. Burial was in the family lot at Newton Cemetery.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

To the Editor: "Eyes have ears, but they see not; they have ears, but they hear not." News item No. 1: Boston Herald, from an account of the proceedings of the Boston School Committee: "It was voted that a two platoon system be adopted for the Jamaica Plain high school for the year ending August 31, 1925." News item No. 2: "The double session plan has been adopted in the Malden High School this year." News item No. 3: During the storm of last Wednesday the brook which passes through Clafin Park overflowed its banks, completely covering the site approved by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen for the new high school and flooding Walnut St. as well. Why install a swimming pool when one will be so easily provided in the cellar of this proposed building? It is not my purpose to make any comparisons between educational standards of public high schools, but in case anyone wishes to imply that Newton standards would be impaired by the double session, Boston refutes the implication. One of her high schools has for years had the highest percentage of pupils passing college examinations out of those who tried, and its graduates have stood higher in scholarship at Harvard than those of any other school, public or private. I have yet to hear one good, sound reason for breaking faith with those people of Newton who gave Clafin Park to the city to be kept always as a park, and for overriding the rights of the taxpayers by spending the money to flood Walnut street during every heavy rainstorm. We live and learn. NEWTON TAXPAYER.

MAN ELECTROCUTED

Benjamin McVey of Brookline was electrocuted last Friday afternoon, when he came in contact with a live electric wire while working on the estate of Mr. M. L. Madden on Centre street, Newton. McVey, with four others, was working on the trees on the Madden estate when a branch which had been sawed off, fell in such a fashion as to break the wire, and McVey in attempting to separate the two, grasped the live wire. He was attended by Dr. Gallagher and taken to the Newton hospital, where he died.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

A smoker is announced for Friday evening, Sept. 26th, and an enjoyable program is being arranged. During the summer Stanley hall has been entirely redecorated, floors refinished, bowling alleys resurfaced, and new lighting fixtures installed, and the Club is now ready for a prosperous season. Bowling will start in about two weeks.

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB

ERNST-PUFFER

On Saturday, September 20th, in the Central Congregational Church at Newtonville Miss Dorothy Haynes Puffer is to become the bride of Mr. Clayton Holt Ernst. Miss Puffer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis Puffer of Mount Vernon street, West Newton. Mr. Ernst is the son of Mrs. Harriet Holt Ernst of Newtonville, and the late Frederick W. Ernst. He is a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1910, and is editor of The Open Road magazine, which is published in Boston. The bride will have as her only attendants two little flower girls, her niece Jean Puffer of Sterling and the groom's niece, Leila Ernst of Wellesley Hills. They will wear pink dresses and will carry baskets of roses. The bride's dress will be of georgette with a veil caught with orange blossoms and a court train of satin. She will carry a shower bouquet of roses, swansonia and lilies of the valley. Mr. Ernst's best man will be his brother, Frederick S. Ernst of Wellesley Hills, Harvard 1912. His group of ushers includes the following: William C. Blackett of Wellesley Farms, Harvard 1912; Robert H. Holt of Lexington, Harvard 1911; Philip W. Carter of West Newton, Harvard 1910; Charles W. Hubbard, Jr., of Weston, Harvard 1912; Norman B. Cole of Baltimore, Harvard 1909; Philip Horton Smith of Salem, Harvard 1911; Harmon K. Wright of Swarthmore, Pa., Michigan 1914; David W. Tibbott of Newton Centre, Princeton 1917. After the ceremony, which will take place at four o'clock in the afternoon there will be a reception in the church rooms, to which the relatives and intimate friends have been invited. The church and reception rooms will be decorated with autumn flowers. The officiating clergymen are Dr. D. Brewer Eddy and Dr. William E. Strong, both of this city.

REAL ESTATE

Richard R. MacMillan reports sale of 2-family house at 478 Albemarle road, West Newton, valued at $12,000, to Mrs. Ellen Fitzpatrick, who buys for a home and investment. Also a block of 4 stores and tenements in West Newton for James W. French to Anna Feldsburg, valued at $20,000. In Newtonville the 2-family house situated at 164 Austin street, for Harry Nelson to J. J. Doherty, who buys for home and investment, value $22,000. He also reports the sale of lot of land on California street for Lizzie N. Crocker, valued at $2000 and adjoining lot for Julia E. Murphy Heirs, valued at $2000 to Della Marshall, who plans to erect a home.

CLAFIN PARK

Editor of Newton Graphic: Letters published in the GRAPHIC show in a most gratifying way the interest of Newton citizens in the anticipated encroachment on "Clafin Park," by the erection of a new school building in front of the Technical School. Two weeks ago a glance at the lake caused by rain overflowing the brook was enough to prevent even a suggestion of erecting any building on this Park. Large areas, including vegetable gardens, were flooded, even though a long distance from the brook. No masonry covering over this brook would be safe from destruction, on account of the enormous pressure of water liable to occur at any time. The writer understands that a portion of the inside of the present High School Building has been changed, and several additional class rooms provided for by doing away with the Assembly Hall. Why? Evidently a smoke-screen was developed so that somebody could demand a new building in order to have an Assembly Hall. This is simply "playing politics." If additional class rooms had been provided for in the rear of the present High School Building, the Assembly Hall could have been retained and enlarged, and ample room secured to provide for additional seats, if required. There is still room in the rear of the High School for a large one-story Assembly Hall, with entrances at street level. If the intention of the School Committee is to provide a new building with an Assembly Hall, swimming tank, shower baths, and other athletic accessories, carrying an expenditure of not less than half a million dollars, it seems to me it's about time to call a halt, as a swimming pool is already installed in the Y. M. C. A. at Newton, and further, the Newton Playground Commission already provides everything except the tank. I agree with some of the contributors to the GRAPHIC that at some time in the future a building may be necessary, and that the proper location would be south of the Technical School Building and not east. Recent letters in your paper stated that inside of two years the City would no doubt be called upon to furnish a new High School for the south side of the City. Why not let the money go into that construction at once instead of a swimming tank? The cost to the city for transportation of pupils attending school in Newtonville would be sufficient to pay the interest on any amount necessary to cover cost of land and construction. Why spend the money of the taxpayers for a new High School Building when it is not required, and property owners are looking anxiously for lower taxation? No doubt the question of heating is a subject for serious consideration, if it is anticipated to furnish heat from one main plant for all the buildings. To do this means the unnecessary outlay of a large amount of money. The cost of oil for heating purposes in school buildings, office buildings, and large apartment houses all over the country has come to stay, because its use is cheaper than coal, taking everything into consideration, and more efficient. With present scientific devices, it practically operates itself and is absolutely safe. One efficient man can attend to several installations. Any new building could have its own installation, and not be dependent on heat from a main heating plant. The time has come in the City of Newton when tax-payers should be taken more into confidence. When appropriations exceeding $100,000 are being considered for any department, outside of Police, Fire, Streets, Water, Treasury, and Public Buildings, the taxpayers should be allowed to express their views through a referendum. The City of Newton is a corporation with a mayor as President. The Board of Aldermen in a sense are the directors, and the tax-payers to all intents and purposes are stockholders. It might be argued that the Board of Aldermen represent the stockholders, or residents which is true, but at least 85 per cent of the residents of Newton never had the pleasure of meeting members of the Board or other Officials of the City. Today efficiency is demanded in corporations and should be effective in all departments of the City of Newton. The article in the Boston "Transcript" of September 15th referring to financial statistics of the City of Newton, compiled by "Dept. of Commerce" shows increase over previous years. Why should the standards of education in Newton have apparently deteriorated so rapidly in a period of a few years as found in the records of the State House? This is also true when comparison is made with other States outside of Massachusetts. There is only one answer—lack of efficiency. When a pupil is expected to grasp an intricate subject in a limited time and fails, it is not for lack of brains; it is because the pupil is expected to devote unnecessary time to subjects foreign to education. Many who were graduated from the Newton High School some twenty years ago, and who now have children attending school have admitted to me that they were then better prepared, in point of education, to face a business life, than their children are at the present time. Answer—lack of efficiency in the system or methods now in use. Why allow great volumes of black smoke to belch from chimneys of schoolhouses and damage the property of citizens, all from improper combustion? The answer is—lack of efficiency. The statutes of Massachusetts allow School Committees a great amount of power and when exercised for selfish ends this power has a tendency to lead to extravagance and create unnecessary burdens for the tax-payers. One of the Original Contributors to Secure Clafin Park.

POSSIBLE CHAMPIONS

Newton and Newton Golf Clubs will be well represented at the national golf championship tournament, to begin at Merion, Penn., tomorrow. Among the entries are Francis Quimmet, Jesse P. Guilford, Karl E. Mosser, Parker Schofield, Edwin S. Childs, Jr., Clark Hodder and Frederick J. Wright.

LASELL SEMINARY

Lassell Seminary opened on Tuesday, September 16, with a very large enrollment. Among the new instructors who have joined the faculty are Miss Constance Blackstock, B. A., a graduate of Lassell and Goucher College, who will teach in the English Department, and Miss Agnes Rupp, L.B. of Acadia University, Radcliffe, and Boston University, who will be an instructor in Economics and Law. The Home Economics Department will have three new teachers. Miss Doris E. Boothby, B.S., of Columbia University and a graduate of Framingham Normal. Katherine H. Lester, B.S., of Russell Sage College and Simmons. Mrs. Anna Palmer of Auburndale will assist in the Art Department, and Miss Margaret Dale, a graduate of the Boston School of Physical Culture, will direct the Physical Training Department. Wednesday night, September 17, occurred the opening dinner when the old girls greeted the new. The first vespers service on Sunday evening will be conducted by Dr. J. Edgar Park of West Newton. Woodland Park School, the junior department of Lassell, also opened on Tuesday with a good enrollment of both boarding and day pupils. Three new teachers have been added to the faculty of this school: Miss Esther Nichols, a graduate of Boston University, Lucile Norris and Frances Badger, both graduates of Lassell Seminary. Mabel Ashleigh Burns, a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music will be an instructor in the Music Department of Lassell, and Marion Harlowe Watson, also a graduate of the Conservatory will instruct in Harp. F. A. Day Junior High School

The school is very happy to welcome six new teachers: Miss Katherine Bacon, Miss Inez Larcom, Miss Marion Lee Newman, Miss Janet L. Spencer, Miss Ernestine B. Wright, and Mr. Carol F. Holleran. A large seventh grade class, new to our school, has already been initiated into the F. A. Day Junior High School life. Our principal, Mr. Carr, in an informal talk at assembly reminded the newcomers of the responsibility which accompanies membership in a school democracy such as ours. The class includes an unusually large number of very young pupils who are "trying out." Their status, as well as that of all pupils, will be according to the standards which they carry out. With college requirements as they stand, the classical curriculum necessarily demands the superior pupil. Justice to the individual will mean their readjustment wherever trials prove unsuccessful. Club work was launched with individual voting for first and second choices. With seventeen phases of club activities to choose from, the pupils' judgment as well as interests are called into play for his final choice. A sample of club accomplishment last year is already in evidence and in good use at this time of the school year. The English Club under Miss Pierce's direction prepared a very comprehensive directory of the activities in our school with information required for knowing the school building itself. The directory is in booklet form with the school song on its cover representing the F. A. Day Junior High School spirit. The school received greetings from Miss Tracy in Sweden. Miss Tracy has been traveling in France and Sweden previous to her study in England at Oxford University. Mason School

In the Mason School three new teachers fill the places of those resigned. Miss Jenkin and Miss Hodgkins have two of the fifth grades, Mrs. Gill takes one of the seventh grades, and Mrs. Anderson one of the sixth grades. The average number for each room is about 40. The Automatic Bank attracts the large people of the third grade particularly, and many pennies and nickels are thereby saved. The boys of the Mason reported for their first football practice on the Newton Centre playground, Tuesday afternoon. About 35 boys reported, and the time was spent in preliminary drill, looking toward the selection of a regular team. Jo Leahy helped as coach with Mr. Person as director. Newton Centre

—Mr. J. E. Jobling and family are moving this week to their new house, 3 Daniel street. —Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fuller of Ripley street are being congratulated on the birth of a son. —Rev. and Mrs. George Lawrence Parker returned this week on the Winifred from a summer abroad. —Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Cordingly and family of Lake avenue have returned from a summer at Chatham, Mass. —The Unitarian church will resume its regular sessions next Sunday with church school at 10 A. M. and sermon at 11 A. M. —Mr. Edward F. Sealey has purchased for occupancy and investment the property owned by Nathan Stiles at 103 Glen avenue. —The Newton Centre Unitarian Church, George Lawrence Parker, minister, will resume its active work on next Sunday, Sept. 21. The Church School will hold its session at 10 A. M. Public worship with sermon at 11 A. M. Mr. Parker will have as title of his sermon, "Religious Reflections on Visiting Great Britain This Summer." The relationship between America and Britain is the hinge on which hangs the future of civilization. At bottom this is a religious matter and may fittingly be brought before serious-minded people gathered in churches to worship God. Mr. Parker travelled through England and Scotland this summer and gathered impressions from all classes of people. At this service and all services the Newton Centre Unitarian Church cordially welcomes all who have no other church connections.

DEAFNESS

To the Editor: All over the country attention is being drawn to the hard of hearing child. The large cities like Washington, D. C., Chicago, Rochester, N. Y., and quite recently, Boston, have realized that it was cruel to send children out of the schools crippled with progressive deafness. They have learned that the children are hindered materially in their school work and have found that they become a burden to the State later in life. The totally deaf child has been provided for and may be educated at fine institutions, but the hard of hearing child has to struggle along as best he may. He forms habits of inattention, of carelessness, and the teacher does not know what to do with him. As soon as a child shows any sign of deafness he should receive careful attention. Preventive work may be useful if adopted early, but a study of the lips taken carefully and systematically will be an added accomplishment if his hearing is restored and will be invaluable to him if the deafness increases. How many times, as a child I have stood watching my father, trying to guess what he wanted me to do! Willing, anxious to do what he wanted, afraid not to do, and fearing that awful stamp of his foot when I did not obey! I was like a little faithful dog who wanted to jump for you but does not understand. No one thought for a moment that I was deaf and parents and teachers often are kind but unknowing, and also often are cruel, too often. An effort is being made to place a special teacher in the public schools of Newton. There is a real need, and no one with a kind heart could object to this. Teachers would be trained in teaching lip-reading, would visit the children in their homes, and advise as to treatment, etc. She would work with the teachers and would form classes for the adult deaf as needed. The expense would be partly carried by the State I believe, and the results would be incalculable. One deaf child saved to his family, to his work in life and to himself is well worth while and there are many in our city, more than one would ever suppose. One little girl who had started in lip reading told her teacher, "Now I can understand everything my teacher says." Another one said, "I got my spelling lesson today and it was the first time I ever got it." This was in Washington, and it might easily be duplicated here. One young man, who has been obliged to study at an expensive private school in Boston, has had the same experience, and is able to bring his work up wonderfully since taking lip-reading. Another who went through our schools with a brave struggle, was obliged to stop and take a course in lip reading after finishing High School and did not go to college. If he had taken the lip reading early in life he would have been saved so much! Children take up lip reading very easily much as they do a foreign language and are always delighted with it; it adds so much to their happiness and to their usefulness. BELLE H. TURNER.

The First Telephone and Some of Its Successors

New England and the Telephone

THE telephone was born in Boston, was sponsored by New England brains and New England capital, and from this corner of the United States started out on its world-wide career.

As an agency of distribution, our service ranks with that of the railroads. Every business man is concerned quite as deeply with the problem of distribution as he is with the problem of manufacturing.

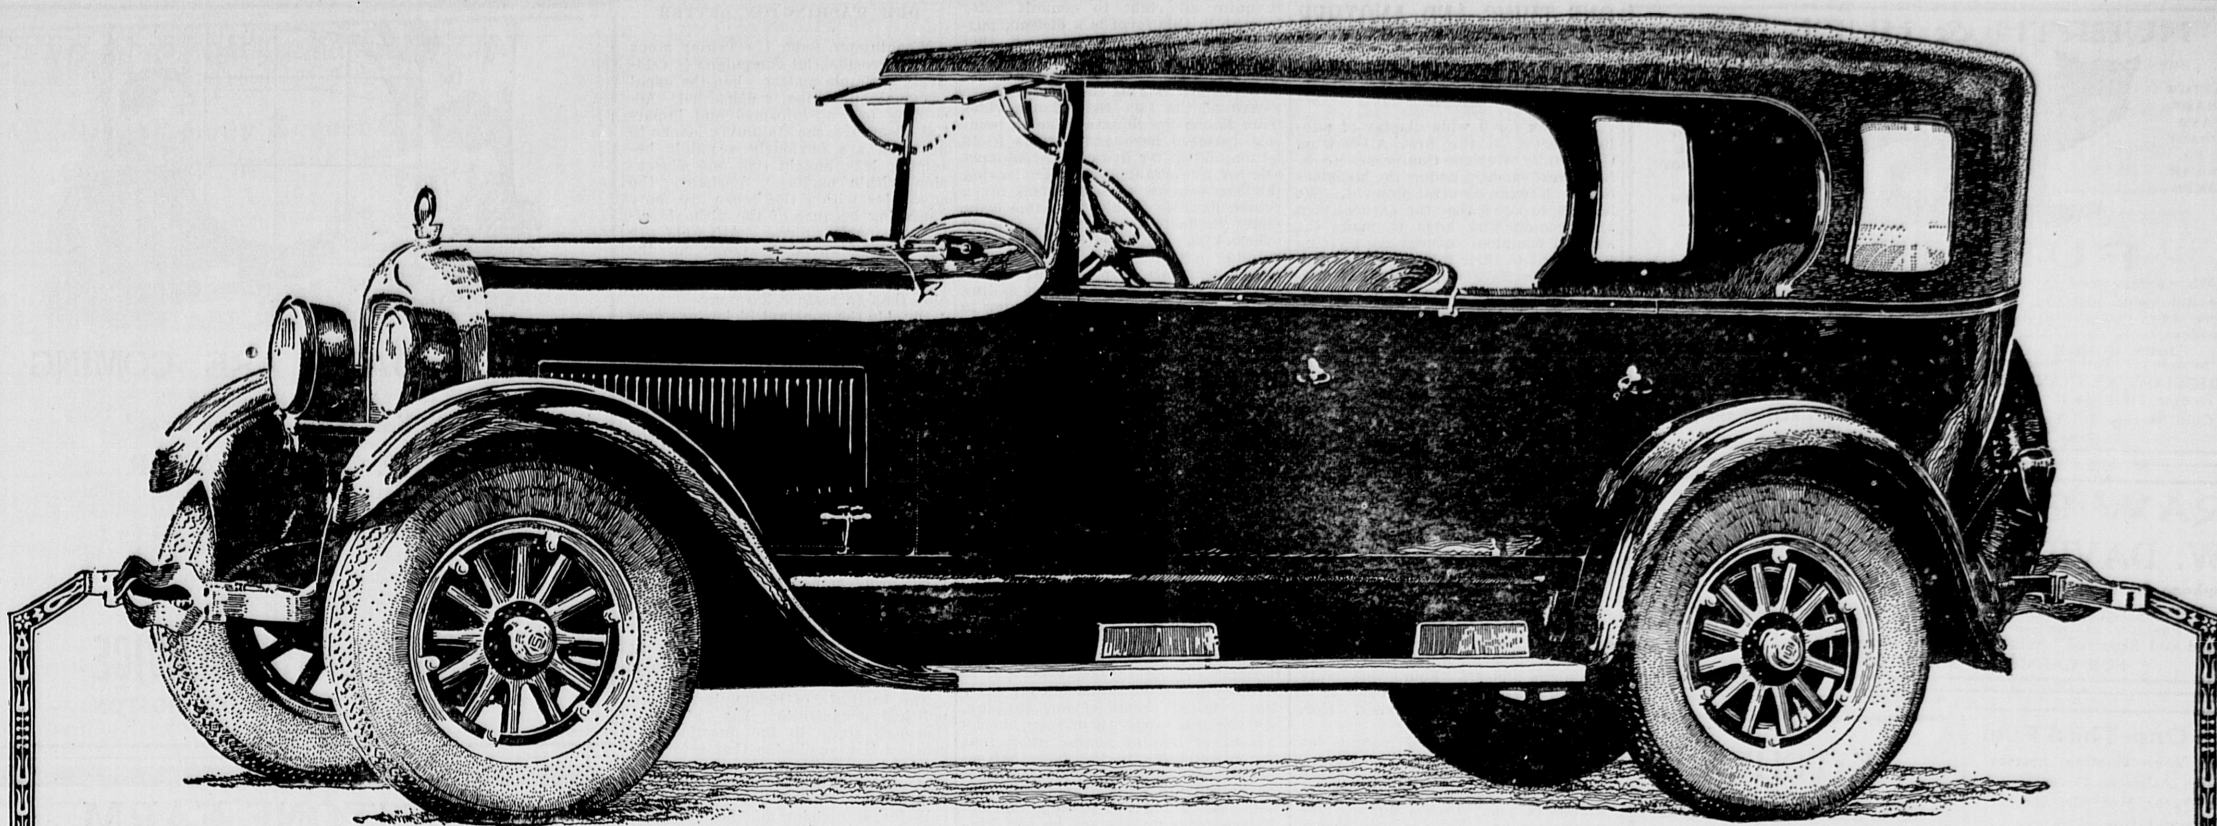

We believe we are of service in helping to bring to New England the raw material necessary to its factories, and in helping to distribute the finished products not only throughout New England, but to all quarters of the world.

Telephone service means to us the completion of 5,000,000 calls per day right here in New England. It is our desire to handle this immense volume of business expeditiously and correctly. To do this requires not merely adequate equipment maintained to a high standard of perfection, but also individual team play of the highest order by 25,000 employees.

We are preparing to play a larger part in the advancement of New England and the development of its enterprises.

Today Studebaker has made Automobile History and established standards of value and quality more fully and obviously than ever before.

TODAY Studebaker proves that beautiful, distinctive, stylish body lines can be originated by American body designers without following precedent or imitating or adapting what has been done before.

Today Studebaker proves that a practical and beautiful type of car can be made to combine the pleasure and performance of the open car and the comfort and protection of the closed car—and this without excessive price or compromised quality—a car "duplex" in open-car smartness and convenience and closed-car elegance and comfort—and at a price no higher than that of an open car!

Today Studebaker proves, in its new Standard Six Duplex model, that a six-cylinder car of fine quality, great power, plenty of room and impressive appearance can be made and marketed at a price of $1145.

Today Studebaker proves in its new Special Six and its Big Six Duplex models that the ultimate in all the essential features of quality in five- and seven-passenger cars can be made and marketed at a price of $1495 and $1875 respectively.

And this is possible only because Studebaker cars are made in one of the most comprehensive industrial plants in this country, 70 per cent of which is new within the last six years.

Every modern method of manufacture and long experienced management are available for the production of Studebaker automobiles.

Today Studebaker proves that the highest grade closed car bodies—framed in selected hard woods, cushioned with the best cushion work, upholstered in fine mohair fabrics and fitted with expensive appointments—can be made and marketed on superlatively good chassis at moderate prices.

This is made possible by the new $10,000,000 Studebaker closed body plants. Studebaker designs and builds all of its closed bodies in one of the best equipped and most modern body plants in the industry.

The Three New Chassis

THE STUDEBAKER STANDARD SIX—113 in. wheelbase, 5-passenger. Engine, $3\frac{3}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$, 50 b.h.p.—with 6 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Duplex-Roadster, Coupe-Roadster, Coupe, Sedan, and Berline.

THE STUDEBAKER SPECIAL SIX—120 in. wheelbase, 5-passenger. Engine, $3\frac{1}{2} \times 5$, 65 b.h.p.—with 5 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Duplex-Roadster, Victoria, Sedan, and Berline.

THE STUDEBAKER BIG SIX—127 in. wheelbase, 7-passenger. Engine, $3\frac{1}{2} \times 5$, 75 b.h.p.—with 4 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Coupe, Sedan, and Berline.

The Ten New Closed Bodies

COMPLETELY NEW BODIES—each car a masterly expression of modern style, yet distinctly

Three completely new chassis!... 15 completely new bodies!

Completely new lines!... Marvelous new performance

Completely new open-closed car!

Completely new radiators, new fenders, new lamps, new seating comfort, new finish, new colors in lacquer finish, three improved engines original in beautiful lines—individual, conservative, impressively elegant, but crisp enough in its departure from imitation to be entirely distinctive.

Real balloon tires, not low-pressure cords. Sizes—21"x 5.25" to 20"x 7.30".

New Studebaker automatic hydraulic 4-wheel brakes—optional.

New values, never before equaled—even by Studebaker!

The Five New Duplex Bodies

(A new type of car originated by Studebaker to take the place of the open car)

SO ENTIRELY NEW and so different from any other body ever made before that a new name had to be created—the DUPLEX.

The upper structure is shaped in pressed steel and covered with the finest water-proof fabric. The steel construction permits the use of another radical Studebaker creation, the new roller enclosing curtains. There is the permanent beauty and durability of the steel top plus the instant convenience of the roller curtains.

Thus Studebaker engineers have solved the open-closed car problem.

The buyer who wants the airiness and practical convenience of the open car and who also wants the comfort, protection and beauty of the closed car can now get both in one car and at the price of an open car.

One moment the new Studebaker Duplex is a beautiful open car—a touch of the hand to the over-lapping roller curtains and it is a snug weather-tight closed car.

Balloon Tires

Genuine and full size balloon tires on all models. Every part that functions with the tires has been specially designed for balloon tire equipment—steering gear, steering knuckles, spindles and springs, even the fenders.

New Lacquer Finish

The Standard Six closed bodies are beautifully finished in semi-glaze, satin lacquer. The hood and lower panels are in light gray, the upper panels in darker gray. Hairline parallel striping in oriental red. Burnished nickel radiators, jet black fenders, light golden finished, natural wood wheels and big balloon tires are contrasting touches.

The Standard Duplex Models are finished in glossy jet enamel—lasting, lustrous and wear-resisting.

The Special Six and the Big Six Duplex models are in soft satin lacquer with dark blue hoods and bodies striped in light blue and ivory. Here, too, the sparkle is added with burnished nickel radiators and light, natural wood wheels in contrast with jet black fenders and big, black balloon tires.

More Power

The universally famous Studebaker engine is more than ever a peer among power plants. The crankshaft is heavier. All surfaces are perfectly machined to exact dimensions and balance. The bearings are larger.

The engine is in unit with the clutch and transmission. There is a force feed lubrication system with clean, strained oil always in reserve. There are many changes and improvements which result in MORE POWER, MORE QUIETNESS and SMOOTHNESS and STILL BETTER PERFORMANCE in every way.

New Brakes

Larger, more powerful, simpler and much easier operated two-wheel brakes. An entirely new emergency brake is operated from the instrument board, instantly convenient to the driver's hand where it simplifies the control and frees the floor board from the old style lever. It acts on the propeller shaft. There is uniform pressure at each wheel—equalized through the rear axle.

The regular two-wheel Studebaker brakes with their simplicity, safety and great braking power are entirely adequate.

But Studebaker 4-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes (with disc wheels) can be furnished as optional equipment on all models at extra charge if desired.

Studebaker 4-Wheel Brakes have three exclusive features not found on any other system in this country.

1. Braking pressure is furnished by hydraulic power automatically developed. A light touch to the braking pedal controls its great force like a touch to the throttle controls the power of the engine. This feature will appeal instantly to women.

2. The front wheels cannot lock.

3. There are only two adjustments required—one at each rear wheel. The front brakes are permanently adjusted at the factory. The oil in the transmission is used to generate the hydraulic power; the action of the gears and the pump keep it in circulation: it cannot congeal or freeze. Braking power is always instantly ready—in winter as well as in summer!

New Ease of Operation

New Ease of Gear Shifting—New power in braking, a touch to the pedal exerts a giant's strength at the rear wheels—New clutch action, soft as velvet—A new steering gear and steering knuckles designed for balloon tires—A new grouping on the dash, including ALL the usual instruments plus a gasoline gauge that always works accurately.

Lighting Control Switches—all on the steering wheel—instantly handy.

Automatic Spark Control—No manual attention required, so the lever is eliminated. Automatically governed to all speeds with the precision of machinery.

And the Details

The new cars are longer and lower to the ground. The line from the radiator to the rear is nearly straight. The wheelbase of all models is increased. The fenders are much wider and deeper crowned to cover the width of the tires. They fit more closely over the wheels. The rear fenders are long and gracefully curved into the running boards.

The radiators are high and set low in the frames and convex curved just below the filler cap. The design is strikingly original and beautifully distinctive.

Entirely new head lamps and cowl parking lamps designed by Studebaker—artistically appropriate and in perfect keeping with the originality of the body and fender design.

Deeper, stiffer frames, more cross members; shorter, flatter springs for balloon tires. All bodies lower, all roomier, better and more comfortably cushioned. Seats are lower, backs and sides are higher.

Look Forward Into Next Year

The new Studebaker is here today! And no matter how sweeping your ideas of what a new model should be this car will satisfy you. It will thrill you with the very newness and originality of its beautiful lines!

You may not be in the market now, or even this year. But to see the new Studebaker is to look forward into next year—and the year after! SEE IT TODAY!

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

We look for a wide display of public interest in the first All-Newton Community Welfare Conference to be held next month under the auspices of the Newton Central Council. We happen to know that the earnest men and women who hope to make the affair a complete success are striving to present to their fellow citizens features of welfare work and other activities of Newton's civic and social agencies that should be known to all residents of the city. Not only will there be addresses by eminent speakers, whose utterances are always worthy of the closest attention, but there will be demonstrations at the conference and also in connection with "Come-and-See" tours. In all we are confident the program will be such that much worth-while information will be gained by Newton citizens. It is our sincere hope that our readers will give close attention to the announcements as they are published, and make a point to join in the general indorsement of this highly important project.

A communication addressed, "Editor, One Thing and Another," has been received by this department, under date of Sept. 4, 1924, from one who signs himself, "Yours very truly, Richard Swiveller." We offer it to our readers without comment. Here it is:

"One day during the recent hot spell as we passed along Centre street we noticed a woe-begone looking cat sprawled on the sidewalk, and we thought of you. Please do not misunderstand us. Not for one second would we insinuate that there is the slightest resemblance between a woe-begone looking cat and you. We have never perceived anything feline in your appearance. But we have long known of your attitude for dumb animals, your kindness towards them, and your denouncement in 'One Thing and Another' of those persons who go on summer long vacations and leave their cats to starve.

"Our first impulse was to notify the Animal Rescue League to come and take this exhausted looking cat and have it put out of misery. But then we reasoned that perhaps this cat was probably overcome by the heat, and that it should be permitted to continue its earthly existence, even though it did not seem prosperous. For cats apparently get considerable satisfaction out of their nine lives, and as we do not share the belief of King Tut and his kin that they are immortal, we decided to wait a day or two to observe whether or not this cat declined or improved. The day proved, so we did not notify the Animal Rescue League. Though still appearing to be on a very limited diet, it has a trifle more energy, and as the vacation season is about over, we hope whoever owns it will soon return and give it sufficient grub to enable it to regain its strength.

"We are not enthusiastic over cats, yet they have some qualities that appeal to us. They are the Doctor Jekylls and Mr. Hydes of the animal world. When we have stroked a cat to hear it purr contentedly, and then for some reason unknown to us, but seemingly justifiable from the cat's point of view, it has unexpectedly scratched us, we have uttered phrases that were pointed if not pious, and consigned all cats to a region where there are fewer fleas, than were seen by our intrepid aviators on their late voyage between Iceland and Greenland.

"Persons do not relish this treachery on the part of cats, but some claim it is not treachery. Those who have studied feline psychology assert when cats act in such a manner, that they are merely resenting some fancied affront and are displaying their independence. They also show their independence by taking leave of their owners whenever the fancy seizes them and returning sometimes days later, sometimes weeks later and sometimes never. No person can accuse cats of being so servile as dogs. Some cats repay the hospitalities extended to them by keeping wherever they may be domesticated from mice. Some cats even banish rats from the premises where they reside. Some act simply as sociable companions, and more merely hang around the house during the day and join the family circle at mealtimes.

"There are those who condemn cats because their social affairs are conducted exclusively at night, and the amenities and amenities of the Toms and Marias are usually quite audible. Many humans have a distinct aversion to the vocal peculiarities of cats. It is true that frequently the ballads and war cries of the Fells domestica disturb the slumber of many, but there are those who derive a certain enjoyment from the sound of cats engaged in warbling sonnets or humming imprecations. They have such weird and eerie tones in their meowing and yowling. Possibly those who enjoy such tones may be considered weird. But some of our ultra modern music seems to be adapted from cat harmonies or disharmonies.

"But we have digressed at considerable length. What we started to say is—that the sight of the underfed, weak looking cat recalled to us the efforts which have been made for many years in our Legislature by persons who (either through a genuine affection for cats, or humaneness towards animals, or a desire to save the rapidly diminishing bird population) wants all cats in this state to be licensed. And every year the attempt to pass a law compelling this licensing of cats has been defeated by pseudo lovers of cats who rather than pay a dollar or two a year prefer to have thousands of cats wandering about half or wholly starved, preying upon and decimating our birds, thus allowing insect pests to increase to exterminate our trees and ruin farm crops."

It is always disappointing to learn some people will stoop so low as to actually steal a ride (or five cents worth of passenger service) from the Boston Elevated. Just what viewpoint they possess and why they think it quite all right to commit petty larceny in this form is a distinct puzzle to us. We find, however, that there have been fresh evidences of small-time grafting right in our city. Most all patrons of the Elevated are aware of the fact that if one rides from Nonantum Square to some point east between here and Braves Field he may do so for five cents. He must ask for a warrant, and when leaving the car receive a check good for a return passage within the same area. Some conductors have been politely overlooking the first warrant and handing out the second ticket when the 10-cent fare is paid, thus saving the passenger the necessity of calling for it. The conductors were trying to accommodate the riders. Instead of showing their appreciation, some of these riders have kept the second ticket, which is good for a ride without further exchange, and have travelled all the way to Park-street station. In other words they weren't playing fair with the obliging conductor or the Elevated. So frequent has this happened that the conductors have been ordered to give out the first warrant, notwithstanding the fact they may be convinced the passenger will not abuse the privilege. Some of our readers may say, "Well, who are you going to do about it?" To that our answer is, "Keep referring to it until these people are shamed into common honesty."

We found much interest in "A Tax Payer's" protest in last week's Graphic against closing schools on rainy days. "Give them proper clothing, and the rain gives them rosy cheeks instead of hurting them," says that writer, referring to the fact that no sessions are held out of consideration for the children's welfare and comfort. We would not presume to upset the teaching system in our kindergartens but how would something like this go:

A is for Arctic in Winter you'll need, B for the Blustering wind you'll not heed;
C for the Colds you must surely avoid, D for the Doses thus made null and void;
E is for Elements, subject of scorn, F is for Flannels by very few worn;
G is for Gutter where kids like to play, H is for Home where seldom they stay;
I is for Impish behavior in school, J is for Jumping o'er each murky pool;
K is for Knickers the kids never spare, L is for Leather the kind all should wear;
M is for Mother who must sew and mend, N is for Nickels she gives them to spend;
O is for Oilskins to keep out the rain, P for Protection that may be in vain;
Q is for Question when "no school" should ring, S for the Slush that the Winter will bring;
T is for Teacher, most patient withal, U—uncomplaining, Spring, Winter and Fall;
V for the Varied opinions folks write, W for Weather these lines we indite, Y is for Yous—the views you may hold, Z is for Zoro—that we get when all's told.

We are about to observe the first anniversary of this column, so to speak. It was started October 5, 1923. To those who may think it has gone too far already we will gladly give place Friday, October 3, 1924, providing they have their copy in our hands by Sept. 27.

Call it Fall or Autumn as you will, it is pretty nice this time of year.

CITY HALL NOTES

Street Commissioner Stuart, City Engineer Morse, and City Solicitor, Joseph W. Bartlett, attended a hearing given by the Metropolitan Planning Board at the State House last Friday, on the proposed construction of a parkway from Chestnut Hill in Newton, thru land owned by the State to Beacon Street, along Beacon Street to Hobart Road, across a Commonwealth Avenue to Cedar Street to Mill Street, across Edmonds Park, owned by the City of Newton, to Cabot Street to Eastside Parkway, along Eastside Parkway and Lewis Terrace to Washington Street, and on Jackson Road to the Watertown line.

All the officials agreed that it was necessary to construct the boulevard as laid out. Mr. Stuart very much objected to any betterment assessments being levied on the owners of property adjoining the proposed roadway by the State or City. The City Solicitor, Mr. Bartlett, was opposed to the City of Newton paying any of the cost of this boulevard.

On Wednesday, September 17th, Mr. George E. Stuart, the Street Commissioner, attended a public inspection of a new vacuum motor sweeper now in use by the City of New York. The machine is built by the Butler Manufacturing Company of Cleveland, Ohio. City officials from Worcester and Springfield also inspected the machine.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Newton Annual Arch Chapter held its 55th annual convocation on Tuesday evening, and elected officers for the ensuing year, and they were immediately installed by Ex. Com. Charles E. A. Ross, assisted by Ex. Com. A. J. Buchanan, as captain of the Host.

The new officers are John D. Rockefeller, Ex. High Priest; Chas. H. Florence, King; C. Haviland Morse, Scribe; Joseph B. Ross, Treasurer; Chas. E. A. Ross, Secretary; Rev. H. H. Sander, Chaplain; Wm. E. Farwell, Chaplain Emeritus; Clifford B. Whitney, Captain; Harrison Hyslop, Prin. Sojourner; Arthur W. Little, Royal Arch Captain; J. Walter Allen, 2nd Veil; Edgar S. Stanley, 2nd Veil; Winthrop B. Sargent, 1st Veil; Elbert C. Kelley, Senior Steward; Raymond E. Thornton, Junior Steward; Harry W. Twigg, Tyler; Louis V. Haffner, Organist; Burton E. Moore, Electrician.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, Sept. 17—Taking stock of the Presidential campaigns is relatively a simple matter when the usual seasonal buncombe is discarded. According to well-informed and impartial observers, the stumbling blocks to progress are obviously a public becoming less imaginative and dissension within parties. Perhaps, the squabbles within the house are more damaging because of the ultimate effect on party spirit. Attempts are made everywhere to cover up the signs of friction but it is admitted that men find it easier to sow dissension than to restore harmony.

Outside the constant bickerings over legislative parties, the most conspicuous example of internal warfare is afforded by the United States Tariff Commission. The dispute has reached a stage wherein the Commission is helpless to proceed. The feeling prevails here that the solution of the problem will rest entirely with the Congress. It is conceded that the organization is too important to allow its abolition by legislative whim. Comment upon this subject is soft-pedaled at this time in a studied effort to keep the issue out of political debates. The tariff problem had almost faded from the political arena into the realm of economics. The widely divergent views of a few men, comprising the Commission, may have the effect of pulling tariff matters to the forefront again.

The Institute of Economics, a non-political organization, has given a thorough study to the question and reached the conclusion that reform is needed to cure the fundamental errors that cause criticism of every new law. Suggestions offered by the Institute call for a revision of the work required by the tariff body. It is said that sentiment has developed for legislation at the next session of Congress to deprive the Commission of some of the powers relating to the flexible provisions of the new law. It will all depend upon the majority mustered in the House and Senate by the Administration. Argument has been advanced by Thomas Walker Page, former chairman of the Commission and now a delivator of the non-governmental Institute that the Commission should furnish Congress with facts needed to judge whether proposed duties should be enacted into law. He assumes that the duties would not be controversial or partisan but solely statistical, offering a base upon which either a protective or revenue tariff can be built. The Tariff Commission and its fate is among the first of the issues which the present and outgoing Congress must meet.

Precinct captains and the "lesser fry" of the campaigners are complaining of the changing attitude of the voters. Some raise the cry that the imagination of the individual, once a strong partisan, is giving way. Too much thinking makes it difficult for voters to deliver their districts. Maybe, these district captains believe that some men have just imagination enough to spoil their judgment. Appeals to the imagination formerly made drastic changes in the votes, for the imagination is more sensitive than the heart. There is much speculation as to the outcome of the election, but nobody in Washington is prepared to place heavy bets. They realize that the public is fickle and local leaders' promises are reeds too wobbly for comfortable assurances.

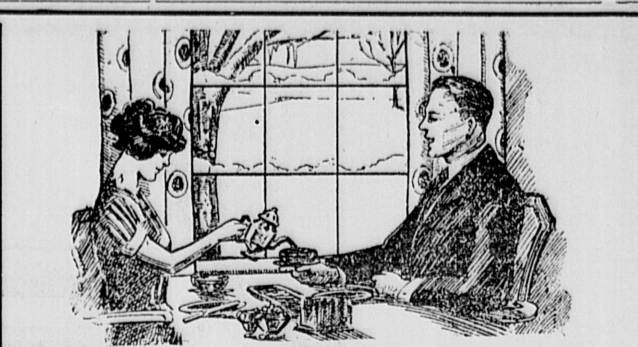

Considerable unemployment is noted by the U. S. Employment Service in its report issued this week. Harvesting and threshing has brought an increased demand for farm labor and absorbed some of the surplus labor released by the closing down of factories. An encouraging sign is noted in the gradual resumption of operations in industrial centers, particularly the steel trade. Increased activity in several branches of the textile industry is taken for a hopeful sign of better times.

That the slough of depression is not as deep as first suspected is revealed in the survey of domestic business conducted by the Department of Commerce. Sales of the leading material-order houses increased materially during August, steel production was above the total for the preceding month, and trade picked up in many lines. It is stated by government experts that the western farmer will profit greatly by the increased importation of food products by European nations. The increased purchasing power of the farmer is estimated at a billion dollars. Naturally, this prosperity will be reflected throughout the country as the money will be used to replenish stocks, to support new enterprise and to make improvements and extensions. Much significance is attached to the evidences of stabilized conditions in the western states and the importance of the European economic recovery. With the citizens prosperous, the troubles of the government diminish accordingly. All these factors are considered by those holding important posts in the Federal Service and others seeking popular favor at the polls.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON AMENDMENT TO BOARD OF HEALTH RULES

The Newton Board of Health will give a hearing at City Hall, West Newton, on Monday, October 6, 1924, at 4:00 o'clock P. M. to all persons interested in the following amendment to Chapter III, of the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Health: "No person shall, in the City of Newton, sell, exchange or deliver or have in his possession to sell, exchange or deliver any milk unless the cows from which such milk was produced, have been tested within six months prior to such sale, by the tuberculin test as established under the laws of Massachusetts and have been certified not to react to such test. This regulation shall not apply to pasteurized milk."

By order of the Board of Health.
ALFRED M. RUSSELL, Secretary.

VACCINATION FACTS

Sir:—

Many persons ask why the Massachusetts Statute requires the vaccination of children and not of adults, while others assert that it is cruel to compel innocent children to be vaccinated, saying that they should be allowed to wait until they grow up and then decide whether or not they wish to have it done.

The answer to these is that smallpox is a disease of childhood and when it appears in an unvaccinated community, the majority of cases occur among children. This, of course, is natural for when smallpox is present, unprotected persons who are exposed, come down with it and either die or recover with an immunity which protects them against future attacks, and it follows that the adults in any unvaccinated community are survivors from previous outbreaks and are immune, but the children, who have been born since the last outbreak are susceptible, and acquire the disease.

On the other hand in a vaccinated community, the majority of cases occur in adult life; again a perfectly natural occurrence, because the majority of persons have been vaccinated at least once which protected them in early life and, as this protection grows less and less as the distance from the vaccination increases, they grow more and more susceptible and finally may take the disease if exposed. Even if they do take it the effect of the single vaccination is still noticeable in the modification of the disease which takes place; a modification by which its virulence is lessened so that they usually recover.

The experience of California illustrates these points very clearly. When vaccination of children was required the majority of cases occurred at 22 years of age, showing that the younger ages were still protected, but 19 years after the vaccination of children was made voluntary, the majority of cases occurred at 11 years of age, making it clear that many persons had neglected to have their children vaccinated.

It seems that if any cruelty is shown to innocent children it is manifested by those who wish to expose them to a loathsome and dangerous disease and not by the Massachusetts Statute which strives to protect them at the most dangerous period.

The fact is that the Massachusetts vaccination law is an illustration of the care taken by the Commonwealth to protect its citizens from disease. It is also an economic measure for, granting the truth of the statements of those who claim that smallpox is not a dangerous disease—a claim disproved by statistics all over the world—there can be no question that an outbreak of smallpox causes a great monetary waste to the community in which it appears, to say nothing of the disturbance of the ordinary current of life, all of which can be prevented by the simple and harmless procedure of vaccination.

FRANCIS GEO. CURTIS, M. D.,

PAROCHIAL HIGH SCHOOL

The new High School of the Church of Our Lady, Help of Christians, the last building in the church group, and one not excelled in architectural beauty in the arch-diocese of Boston, was opened Monday morning. The schoolhouse, located on Washington street, next to the church and parish house, set well back from the highway, with broad green lawns before it, is ideally situated. The architectural style of the buildings is a modern adaptation of gothic ecclesiastical church architecture, and is surmounted by a slender copper-covered fleche of gothic type. The church group is now complete with the Church of High School and parochial residence on Washington street, and the grammar school and convent on Adams street. Ample playground space has been provided in the rear of the schools.

The exterior of the new High School is of water-struck brick, trimmed with white stone. Seven gothic arches adorn the main entrance, which is approached by broad stone steps. Beyond the arches is a long cloister, and the windows looking out on to the cloister are of gothic type. The building is much larger than it appears from the street, as it is built in the shape of the letter T, with a large assembly hall in the rear with a seating capacity of 1500 people. The copper-covered fleche, with a small gold cross, is not only an ornamental spire, but is also the center of the unit system of ventilation. The fresh outside air is drawn into the building and pumped by means of motors in the various ventilators through the classrooms and hall.

One of the interesting features of the building is the group of stone reliefs in the spandrels, or between the spans of the arches at the entrance. The Catholic school has for its aim the training of the mind, body and soul. It teaches faith, patriotism and religion. To the right of the central arch is a cross and on the left the flag. There are three reliefs on the right, depicting phases in a boy's life as a result of education. A boy is seen with a book, running with a football and holding in his hand a diploma. To the left are three figures showing a girl with a stylus and tablet, a tennis racket and a book. Over the main arch in stone is the coat of arms of His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston.

The building contains 13 classrooms, chemical and physical laboratories and a domestic science room and lecture room. Unilateral and bilateral lighting systems are used. The corner rooms are lighted by windows on two sides, the side rooms by windows on one side. The heating plant is located under the stage in the rear of the building, and the old heating plant has been done away with. All of the buildings in the group will be heated from this central plant. The hall is 100 feet long and 74 feet wide. The stage, one of the largest in the city, is 74 feet wide, 30 feet deep and 40 feet high. There is a large gallery in the hall, bringing the seating capacity to 1500. In the gallery is a motion picture booth with a motion picture and stereopticon machine. In the basement beneath the hall is a room the same size as the hall, which will be used as a gymnasium, banquet room, etc. The second floor contains offices for the teachers and superior.

Arrangements have been made with the other Catholic parishes of Newton whereby boys and girls who may wish to be vaccinated at a small fee, take advantage of the classical and commercial courses in this High School.

The Fall season is opened with the mass of the Holy Ghost, celebrated at 8 o'clock. The Sisters of Charity will teach in the new school. The building was erected under the direction of the pastor of the church, Rev. Lawrence W. Slattery.

CLOSING SCHOOL

Editor of Newton Graphic:

I would like to protest against the closing of the schools on a day like last Wednesday.

It seems to me like poor training for children to have their education interrupted just because it rains—a warm, quiet rain like that couldn't hurt anyone.

They would naturally think school need not be taken very seriously, if they are spared a little discomfort getting there.

Places of business or of amusement do not close on account of the weather; why should schools? Very few children stay in the house all day if it does rain. Give them proper clothing, and the rain gives them rosy cheeks instead of hurting them.

But if school has to close every time it rains, then let us have a signal we can hear, and not make the children go there for nothing.

Significant Words on First American Coin

After the American colonies had achieved independence, the provision of a coinage became their own sovereign right. The devices for the first coin struck by authority of congress were prescribed by a committee of that body in the following terms: "On one side of which piece . . . thirteen circles linked together, a small circle in the middle, with the words 'United States of America' around it; and in the center 'We Are One.' On the other side of the same piece the following device, viz. a dial with the hours expressed on the face of it; a meridian sun above, on one side of which is to be the word 'Euzio,' and on the other the year '1787'; below the dial, the words, 'Mind Your Own Business.'" The types of this piece are very similar to those of the dollar pattern of the proposed continental currency, which bears date of 1776, and which were probably designed by an artist, who on the earlier piece placed the signature E. G. Feit. The types are interesting as a commentary on the state of mind of the times. The political hope, for it could be only a hope still at that time, of an inseparable union, expressed in the obverse type, was probably not less prevalent than the caution so graphically set forth by the other that "Time is Flying," so "Mind Your Business" affairs. This type expression of practical sense, because so much in the spirit of Poor Richard, has won for the coin the name of "Franklin cent," but Franklin probably had nothing to do with the designing of it.

Real Happiness

Inventor Unknown

The history of the monkey-wrench is obscure. Even the origin of the term "monkey" in the name is unknown. It is commonly believed, however, that a London blacksmith named Moncke (pronounced "Mun-ke") made some of the first wrenches with movable jaws adjustable by a screw. Such wrenches were called Moncke wrenches. Owing to ignorance of the origin and spelling of the name it was easily corrupted into "monkey." But this story is not supported by any definite information. The United States patent office says it can find no record of a patent having been granted by the British government to Moncke for such a wrench.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Works of Art in Copper

Copper ornaments that were made between 6,500 and 9,000 years ago are dug up near Ur, city of ancient Babylonia. Made thousands of years before King Tut was born, these copper ornaments are among the earliest works of art. They express the infancy of the creative spirit. The Babylonian copper objects represent men and oxen. In addition to being art, they were intended as a history of accomplishment—main motive of which is vanity.—Farm and Fireside.

Honey Once Main Sweet

It is only within the last few centuries that sugar has become known, and within the last generation or so that refined sugars have become so low in price that they may be commonly used in the poorest families. Formerly honey was the principal sweet, and it was one of the items sent as a propitiatory offering by Jacob to his unrecognized son, the chief ruler of Egypt 3,000 years before the first sugar refinery was built.

Origin of Cambridge

The origin of Cambridge university is obscure. It probably grew out of a local educational movement during the Twelfth century. The first of the colleges was founded by Hugo Bishop of Ely in 1257. At present seventeen colleges compose the university.

ORDER OF DE MOLAY

Newton Chapter Organized To Interest Boys And Young Men In Fraternal Work

One of the most recent organizations in this city is the Newton Chapter, Order of De Molay, which received its letters temporary on Saturday evening, June 14 at the Masonic Temple, Newtonville.

The order is a great national boys' fraternity, which was first organized in March, 1919, and now numbers 1265 chapters with about 200,000 members. While the order of De Molay is not a Masonic organization, any recognized Masonic body of either the York or Scottish Rite can sponsor a chapter, giving it moral and financial support and supervise its operations thru an advisory committee. The Newton Royal Arch Chapter is sponsor for the Newton Chapter and the advisory council has Hon. Edwin O. Childs as its chairman, with Rt. Wor. Henry P. Smith of Wellesley, Rt. Wor. Fred M. Blanchard of Newtonville, Rt. Wor. George H. Dale of Watertown, Wor. Bro. Dana S. Sylvester of Newton Highlands, Wor. Bro. Robert B. Johnson of Waltham, and Joseph B. Ross of Wellesley, Arthur S. Hamilton of Needham, Allan V. Mosher of Waltham, Leonard C. Nickerson of Wellesley and Elmer J. Keene of Newtonville as members.

The fraternity teaches Love of Parent, Reverence, Patriotism, Purity, Courtesy, Comradeship and Fidelity. Its membership is limited to sons of Masons and their chums between 16 and 21 years of age. Its purpose is to make better boys, better men and better citizens, its ritualistic work is divided in two degrees, the Initiatory and the De Molay. The first inculcating the cardinal virtues of the order through a symbolic journey splendidly portrayed. The latter degree is historical and spectacular and embellished with tableaux and effects calculated to make a permanent impression.

At the meeting held June 14th the officers were installed by Bro. H. Lowell Hutchings of the Boston Chapter and a national flag was presented to the Chapter by Mr. William T. Rich.

This was followed on Saturday, June 21st with a joint meeting of Newton, Middlesex and Boston chapters, at which both degrees were presented. The officers of the Chapter are as follows:

Master Councilor, Robert M. Clark, West Newton; Senior Councilor, Ralph S. Brennan, Newtonville; Junior Councilor, Walter K. Ryall, Newton Centre; Senior Deacon, David Clark; Junior Deacon, Norman W. Rogers, Newtonville; Senior Steward, E. Prescott Hills, Newtonville; Junior Steward, Orrin W. Duff, Newtonville; Scribe, Carleton McCullough, Newton Centre; Treasurer, Ralph S. Richardson, West Newton; Sentinel, Leo E. Bova, Jr., Newtonville; Chaplain, Paul R. Knight, Jr., Newtonville; Marshal, Lester E. Keene, Newtonville; Standard Bearer, Joseph B. Saunders, Newtonville; Almoner, Ralph W. Paterson, Newtonville; Preceptors (7), Howard S. Stoney,

BUILDING CODE REVISION

Substantial progress has been made during the past few weeks by the committee from the Newton Chamber of Commerce that has been working on the proposed modification of the Newton Building Code. The sub-committee appointed to consider proposed changes in that part of the code applying to construction has completed its work and following consideration by the directorate of the Chamber will probably make its recommendations and suggested changes known to the Board of Aldermen in a communication to reach that body at its next meeting on Monday, October 6.

The sub-committee appointed to consider and recommend changes and modifications in the plumbing ordinances is also nearing the end of its work and will report at a later date. To simplify the problem and facilitate its consideration, it has been decided to treat the building and plumbing ordinances separately, in accordance with the general custom.

The purpose of the Chamber of Commerce is to improve the building code.

Watertown, Willard B. Mosher, Waltham, Henry N. Wood, Newtonville, Elbert B. Hewett, Needham, Geo. W. Hitchcock, Waltham, John W. Black, Newtonville, Stuart B. Cornell, Wellesley.

The Chapter held its first fall meeting on Saturday evening with a large attendance.

NEWTON MAN HONORED

Governor Cox has appointed Mr. Thomas W. White of Newton Upper Falls chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance to succeed Mr. Homer Loring, who has just resigned. Mr. White, who has been since 1922 a member of the commission in charge of personnel and standardization will now have charge of the budget.

Mr. White was born in Newton January 19, 1876. He was graduated from the public schools of this city and from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and established himself as a druggist at Upper Falls.

At 24 he entered politics, serving for four years on the Newton Ward Committee and for six years as Alderman. He served next for six years in the House of Representatives and in 1915 was appointed Supervisor of Administration.

AT HUNTINGTON SCHOOL

The following boys from this city are enrolled this year at Huntington School: Auburndale, Frederick Botsford; Coulston, Newton, Floyd G. Cormack; George F. Costello, Robert L. Smith; Newton Centre, Otis R. Heath, Ellis Spear, 3d; Newton Highlands, Edward W. Skelton; West Newton, Henry S. Newhall, Roger W. Newhall, Parker W. Pillsbury; Newton Upper Falls, Marshall W. Locke; Waban, Palmer Congdon.

BYFIELD PETITION REFUSED

A special meeting of the aldermen was held Monday evening to consider a new proposition to settle the now celebrated Byfield case.

The matter came up under three petitions, one from T. J. Waldron & Co., to move the Byfield house from its present location on Eldredge street to a new location on the Hibbard estate on Washington street, nearly opposite Hunnewell avenue, to authorize the Mayor to sell the Byfield house (it being nominally the property of the city) to T. J. Waldron & Co., or to Mrs. Byfield for the sum of one dollar, and the application of Mrs. Byfield for a waiver of the zoning requirements (regarding the set back) for the proposed new location of the building on Washington street.

The board considered these petitions behind closed doors in the committee of the whole, and unanimously refused to grant all three petitions when in regular session.

The following jurors were drawn: For Criminal service, October 6th, Charles S. Cowdry, Owatonna street, John J. Miskella, Bridge street.

For Civil service, October 6th, Henry M. Wheelright, Dudley road, James A. Nelson, Bacon place, Daniel C. Buckley, Old Colony road, Henry J. Linn, Parker street, Joseph C. Rand, Parker street, Herbert H. Longfellow, Grove street.

Mayor Childs sent in a veto of the order for $750 for revision of the Building Code on the ground that the appropriation to which it was charged would be overdrawn. The veto was sustained and a new order for the same purpose passed charging the expense to the Excess and Deficiency account.

An order was adopted for $2500 for paying the additional expense in the recent judgment in the Byfield case.

The application of James C. Irwin and others for incorporation as Norumbega Council Inc. Boy Scouts of America was approved.

The select committee on Street Railway service submitted a long report on the matter of substituting busses for the present street cars. The report will be found in full in another part of this issue.

The board adjourned at 10 P. M.

N. H. S.

Newton High's eleven started the season Saturday with a 6 to 0 victory over Quincy High on Claffin Field, Newtonville. The local boys did not allow the visitors to get within scoring distance of their goal.

A short forward pass from T. Gilligan to Lane brought the ball to Quincy's five-yard line. Wright went through center on the next play for the only touchdown. Gilligan kicked and missed the try for a point.

FAVORS BUS SERVICE

Aldermanic Committee Recommends Payment Of $10,000 Annually To Street Railway Company For Better Service.

To the Board of Aldermen:

On January 21, 1924, a communication (No. 54355) was received by this Board signed by over 600 property owners whose properties are located on certain lines of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, protesting against the nuisance of the excessive noise and vibration caused by the trolley cars in operating along our streets, and asking that relief be given them by this Board from this nuisance.

As a result of the receipt of this communication and several years of agitation on the subject, the President of the Board appointed this special committee to investigate and report back to the Board with recommendations.

On February 8, 1924, a hearing was held at which appeared a large number of citizens, and also officials of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company. The hearing showed that the damage to property is real and considerable, and that the noise was a great nuisance, so much so that the attitude of the citizens in stating that they intended to do everything within their power to have the nuisance eliminated seemed to your committee to be fully justified.

At this hearing, with the concurrence of the street railway officials and your committee, a special committee was formed from the citizens, and this committee was invited to attend all conferences to be held between the street railway officials and your committee so that they could be fully informed as to all the facts and as to the reasons for any recommendations which this committee might make. This citizens' committee attended all our meetings as well as all conferences held with the street railway officials.

It was practically acknowledged by all, including the street railway officials, that the nuisance was a real one and that the citizens were justified in demanding relief. The problem then was one of finding out whether or not there was any practical way of eliminating the nuisance.

It appeared to your committee that there were three possible remedies.

1st. To require the street railway to put in new rails and pavements on the lines where the rails are practically worn out, and the purchase of some new cars.

2nd. To abandon transportation on these lines and

3rd. To substitute busses on these lines for the street railway lines. The first remedy, in any event, would not be complete relief, for even with new rails and cars there would still be some noise, and while this lesser amount of noise was one necessary to be borne when there was no other kind of transportation to be had, yet your committee felt that the citizens were justified in asking that the kind of transportation be furnished which was the least nuisance, provided it were practical to substitute such a kind of transportation and still give equally good service. Since the advent of the motor bus, a kind of transportation so that they could be fully

POST ROAD FARM

Your milk supply is important. You should demand that your milk is received from a herd of cows that are clean and healthy; That the milk in which these cows are kept is clean and sanitary; That the milking is done in a sanitary, careful way; That the milk is carefully bottled and delivered; That the tuberculin test be applied to the herd of cattle supplying you with milk, and that you receive milk from a tuberculin free herd. Unless you are getting milk handled under these conditions, you are not getting the best. It is important to study the source of your milk supply, which will easily determine its quality. We invite you to inspect our dairy. If you order from the Post Road Farm, you will get rich, clean milk of fine flavor. We deliver in Brookline and a large part of the Newtons.

SCHOOL NOTES

F. A. Day Junior High School

The Junior High School teachers have received invitations from the Garden City Grange which is giving its annual reception to the teachers of Newton, Friday evening, September 26, in Dennison Hall.

The ninth grade was in charge of the Assembly program Wednesday morning. The following pupils showed their contribution to our school life in well delivered numbers:

James Brown, Introduction of Welcome; Dorothy Merrill, "School Spirit"; Caroline Drew, "Qualifications of a Good Leader"; Warren Berry, "Qualities of a Follower"; Patty Wright, Song; Barbara Rogers, "Our Everyday Manners"; Donald Ross, "Habits of Study"; Robert Ahern, "The Albanian Oath." Mr. Carr led the school in its school prize songs.

George Couston has been elected captain of the boys' football team. Coach Simmons is picking the final squad to be announced soon.

A travelogue, "Social Life and Customs in India," by N. K. Dhalwal of Bombay is announced for Tuesday, October 7 at 2:30 in the Junior High School Auditorium.

The girls in the sewing classes are hemming the napkins and table cloths for the cooking room. They are also making carpenter aprons for the boys in the shop classes.

Field hockey practice for girls has started.

Lasell

The Senior Class of Lasell Seminary has elected the following officers for the present year:

President, Jessie Matteson, The Sovereign, 6200 Kenmore Avenue, Chicago, Ill.; Vice-President, Katherine Lalley, 168 Beechwood Avenue, Bridgeport, Conn.; Secretary, Virginia Brunner, 231 West Avenue, Mt. Carmel, Pa.; Treasurer, Barbara Cushing, Groveton, N. H.; Song Leader, Helene Berkson, 26 Prospect Avenue, Larchmont, N. Y.; Cheer Leader, Helen McIntyre, 91 Pinckney Street, Boston, Mass.

On Friday afternoon, Miss L. R. Potter, Preceptress, will give a talk on "Morals and Manners."

On Saturday evening the old girls will give a party to the new girls in the Gym at Bragdon Hall.

Sunday evening Vesper Service will be conducted by Reverend Dr. Butters of Newton.

The pupils of Woodland Park School will take a trip to Lexington and Concord on Saturday.

Wednesday morning at Chapel Mr. Walter R. Amesbury, Treasurer of Lasell Seminary and Director of the Secretarial Department, gave a talk before the students in regard to banking. This year an arrangement has been made with the Newton Trust Company to establish a branch at the Seminary whereby all the students may enjoy the privilege of banking accounts. This branch will be under the direct supervision of the Treasurer's office and the work will be done by the students from the Secretarial Department.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

As one of the oldest residents of Newtonville, I strongly oppose the erection of the new High School building on the corner of Elm road and Walnut street.

R. C. BRIGHAM.

As one of the original subscribers to the fund for Clafin Park I protest against this land being used for any other purpose than that intended, and promised the contributors at the time some years ago when the money was raised, namely, that it should be kept open as a public park. The new high school building should certainly be built on the south side of the Tech buildings and save the park for its original purpose. Any other course would be a breach of faith with Mr. Frank Day and others who joined heartily with him to preserve this open space in Newtonville.

Newton women were well represented at the Middlesex County Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held in Somerville, Tuesday, September 23rd.

Plans were given out for "The March of Allegiance to the Constitution," which will be held in Boston, Saturday afternoon, October 25th, at 2 o'clock.

All women who are registered to vote, and who wish to vote, Yes on Referendum No. 3 for the State Volstead Act on election day, are eligible to march.

portation has been found which is much less noisy than trolley cars, and is apparently equally as efficient, at least where the riding is light as on the single track lines in our city, and is probably cheaper to operate. In any event, the financial condition of the street railway company is such that it would be impossible for them to carry out the first remedy.

In reference to the second remedy, in the opinion of your committee, transportation cannot be abandoned.

The third remedy, therefore, seemed to your committee to be the only feasible remedy,—that is the substitution of busses on the single track lines in this city.

However there was one difficulty which arose, and that was that the street railway officials stated that they had not the capital with which to buy these busses and could not borrow the money to buy them unless it could be shown that the operation of the busses was a business like proposition,—that is one on which they would not lose money. It was proposed to first equip the Newton Highlands to Lake Street Line, the Newtonville to the Newton Centre Line, the Watertown to Needham Line, and as soon as practical thereafter the Cross-town Line. In substituting busses on the three first named lines, it would require 6 busses, but in order to handle the pupils going to our high school, it would require 8 additional or extra busses for the use of our school children. These 8 extra busses would cost more to operate per bus than the regular busses, but where the street railway company would get a 10c-fare on the regular bus, it would receive only a 5c-fare on the extra school busses. The street railway officials stated the operation of these extra school busses would show a heavy loss, and unless the city agreed to reimburse them to the extent of this loss they could not raise the money to purchase the busses.

Your committee agreed to recognize the principle, in so far as it was concerned, that the city should not ask the street railway company to transport its school children at a loss unless the operation of the company as a whole in our city was such that they could stand this localized loss and still obtain a fair return on their investment. A careful study of the finances of the street railway company show that they are getting no return on their original investment, although paying interest on the additional capital put into the company a few years ago to save it from bankruptcy. Under these circumstances your committee does not feel the city should ask the street railway company to haul its school children at a loss.

The railway company stated the loss would be approximately $20,000 a year, and asked your committee to recommend the city paying $18,000 per year.

After investigation, your committee felt that the loss from the operation of the school busses would be about $12,500 a year, and that it was fair to allow $2,500, for the benefit to the street railway company of the lesser cost of operation of the regular busses as compared to street cars, and for the city to pay not to exceed $10,000 a year to the Street Railway Company. The Street Railway Company agreed to this in their proposal of August 22, 1924.

Your committee therefore recommends that the city solicitor be instructed to enter into negotiations with the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company and to draw up a contract along the lines outlined in the proposal of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company of August 22nd, 1924, attached hereto, for a term of five years; the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company to be reimbursed for the loss due to the operation of 8 special school busses in a sum not to exceed $10,000, a year until such time during the life of the contract as the operation of the lines of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company shall make a fair return on their investment including the operation of the school busses.

It should be pointed out that if this contract is entered into that the city will derive the following benefits:

1st. The nuisance which is complained of by the over 600 property owners on the street railway lines mentioned in this report will be eliminated.

2nd. Property values will immediately materially increase along these lines, and the city will thereby receive increased revenue.

3rd. With the removing of the tracks on Watertown, Crafts, Walnut and Centre streets, it will amount to the widening of these main thoroughfares and will greatly delay the day when the city will have to expend large sums of money in widening particularly Walnut and Centre Streets.

The report is signed by Roy V. Collins, Chairman; Henry W. Bail, Norman F. Pratt; and approved by the following members of the Citizens' Committee: William B. Arnold, Edward P. Hendrick, Wm. M. L. McAdams, Alfred M. Zeigler, William H. Rice.

The Company's proposition, briefly stated, is this:

We are ready to abandon our Street Railway Franchise, and substitute motor busses, provided we can get an exclusive franchise to continue indefinitely to operate the busses. We are ready to undertake the carrying of the school children at a loss, provided we can get an exclusive right to establish motor bus lines in Newton, wherever and whenever public convenience and necessity and good business judgment warrant such operation. If the general proposition is accepted by the City, it will be necessary to draft a contract in considerable detail, the terms of which we feel sure can be mutually agreed upon. In reference to the payment by the city, we feel that that should continue for a reasonable number of years, to be later determined.

CITY HALL NOTES

By a recent ruling of the Board of Appeal cement concrete blocks may hereafter be used in this city for building material.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The headquarters for the Massachusetts Sunday School Convention will be the First Baptist Church of Watertown, October 21-23. The other churches are cooperating to house meals and special conferences. Many homes in both Watertown and Newton will be opened to properly entertain the out-of-town delegates.

Evening sessions of general interest with speakers of national reputation will be held, the afternoons being largely devoted to special conferences on all phases of Sunday School work and weekday religious education. Denominational rallies, a Northfield Reunion Dinner, and exhibits of supplies, books and handwork, will be attractive features of the Convention.

It is expected that many Newton speakers will participate, among them being Rev. E. E. Harper, convention chorister, Dr. H. W. Gates of Newton Centre, Mr. Bryant Nichols of Auburndale in charge of the Northfield Reunion, Miss Priscilla H. Fowle in charge of pageantry, Professor H. C. May in charge of the conferences for leaders of young people, and Dr. E. M. Fergusson of Newtonville in charge of the Presbyterian Rally. Dr. Henry H. Crane, formerly of Newton, will be in charge of devotional periods.

The special guest of the convention will be Dr. Hugh S. Magill, general secretary of the International Council of Religious Education, formerly known as the International Sunday School Association. Dr. Magill brings a message of a nation-wide program, or the Protestant Churches of America.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—"Polly of the Circus" is upon the boards again in Boston. The Boston Stock Company will play it next week as their fourth production. Because its appeal is to the heart rather than to the sense of humor it will turn light upon the company from a different angle.

Miss Kay Hammond will play Polly with all the pathos with which the little circus-girl was created. Mr. Heyes will have a strong role as the Rev. John Douglass. Each supporting character has individuality, and will call out the best that is in the company.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Notice of Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Newton Hospital will be held at the Nurses' home on the Hospital grounds at Newton Lower Falls on Monday, September 29, 1924, at 8 P. M. for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, and of transacting such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending Sept. 20.—Patients in hospital, 108; those paying as much or more than cost of care, 47; those paying less than cost of care, 30; free patients (including babies) 31; patients treated by out patient department, 55; accident cases, 9; babies born, 5 boys, 4 girls; social service calls at hospital, 10; at homes, 6; patients transferred by social service car, 13.

During the month of August the hospital admitted 317 patients and discharged 296, the largest number in the hospital during any twenty-four hours was 120 and the smallest number 81, the out patient department treated 194 cases and the x-ray department 76, accident cases numbered 44, 52 babies were born, 33 boys and 19 girls, the social service car transported 43 cases.

Next Monday evening at 8 at the Nurses' Home on the Hospital grounds the Hospital Corporation holds its annual meeting for the election of officers, and the consideration of several matters of unusual importance.

The Know More Kokki Klub, made up of Newton doctors who meet to discuss cases and their diagnosis, started in the year with a meeting at the hospital Monday evening.

Miss Helen Cary of Seattle, Wash., has been appointed Social and Physical Director in the Nurses' Home. Miss Cary is well prepared for her position, as she has worked among young people for the past few years.

The tennis courts are in splendid condition and in constant use by the Nurses' Friends at the hospital sent to the nurses four season tickets for the recent tennis tournaments in Brookline.

The trustees of the hospital have renewed the subscriptions to the magazines for the Nurses' Home.

In October the hospital will open in connection with the out patient department an eye clinic.

The regular class work at the Nurses' School will begin September 29 when the majority of the students will have returned from vacations. It is expected that the entering class will number about twenty-five.

Miss Elizabeth Young, who has been supply during the vacation season, has returned to her home in New Hampshire. Miss Ruth Humphreys, the assistant superintendent, is on vacation at South Chatham, Miss Agnes Fuge is at Gloucester, and Mr. Charles Howard, the chief engineer, and Mrs. Howard have returned from a vacation trip through the White Mountains.

With the return of cool weather the Hospital again sends out a call for volunteer workers to make surgical dressings. Those who are willing to lend a hand are asked to telephone to the superintendent and arrangements will be made for them to work at the times most convenient for them. The Hospital also reminds its friends that it can never have too much old linen or cotton.

With the return of cool weather the Hospital again sends out a call for volunteer workers to make surgical dressings. Those who are willing to lend a hand are asked to telephone to the superintendent and arrangements will be made for them to work at the times most convenient for them. The Hospital also reminds its friends that it can never have too much old linen or cotton.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Leverett D. G. Bentley

It may seem a trifle inconsistent for one who found boyish delight in "hanging on behind" a wagon, or even a swifter moving horse-drawn vehicle, to sermonize on the practice of present-day youngsters begging for automobile rides. To preach of the danger is only to provide an additional urge for some of the more daring of the rising generation. In our opinion, half of the pupils who hail a driver with "Give us a ride, mister?" do not expect to have their requests taken seriously. It is more or less an adventure. There are drivers who can ignore the suggestion, while others find it difficult to do so. To this latter group we would advise the methods successfully employed by a man we knew, in resisting the attempts of a local "dead beat" to borrow his money. The borrower, whose reputation for never returning a cent of the sum loaned him was widespread, would approach our canny friend with, "Can't you let me have a five-spot just for a day or so; I'll give it back as soon as I get paid off."

Our ingenious friend would never resort to a positive refusal or a plea that he himself was "broke." He would, instead, begin to laugh until he had the would-be borrower laughing, too. Between roars of mirth he would say, "You borrow money of me? Ha! ha! ha! That's the best joke I've heard in a long time. I, a poor man, lending you five dollars! (More un-suppressed mirth.) You will have your fun, won't you? Why if I had half your roll, wouldn't work another day." By this time both would be splitting their sides with merriment, and the borrowing fiend would have forgotten for the moment his financial embarrassment. Meanwhile the canny chap would have backed off and made a graceful getaway. In view of the success of this operation, we would suggest that motorists answer the same as a riddle appeals with a hearty laugh, and at the same time step on the gas. Sort of "laughing-gas" treatment.

It is one of the joys of life that now and then we are thrilled by a new experience. If that experience teaches us something we are all the happier, and need not "count that day lost." One has only to train one's mind to a receptive mood to learn something—if not every day then every third or fourth day. The particular gleam from the lamp of knowledge that recently penetrated our skull had to do with the selection of wall paper. We had supposed that one made up one's mind as to the grade and pattern of paper desired and straightway proceeded to an establishment where such things are sold, and there purchased the requisite amount. With such an errand on our hands we allowed ourselves about half-an-hour out of a very busy day. That was our first mistake. We should have set apart two hours at least. We found that one does not purchase wallpaper as one would a necktie, allowing from one to three minutes to look over the stock and make selection of something pleasing to the eye. Picking out wallpaper requires in many cases, we found, the combined mental power of an entire family. In the establishment we visited each salesman had a sort of suite where he entertained groups of customers. The various groups included from two to half-a-dozen, but each group was making a single purchase. After seating themselves on the chairs, settees, etc., they faced the salesman much as an audience gazes at the stage in a theatre. The salesman brings forth great rolls and spreads them over a sort of easel, probably to give the so-called art effect. Then follows a family conference. "Will this look well with our furniture?" or "Isn't that too much like that horrid paper in the library?" Again, "Isn't that a cold color, and shouldn't we have something warmer for the living room?" We listened to chatter of this kind for three-quarters of an hour. There were four salesmen, and each had a group of customers whose methods were identical. We sympathized with the salesmen—and with ourselves. There was a young couple that seemed to be overwhelmed with the important duty of choosing something suitable. We were confident they were rich and planning to invest several hundred dollars. When finally they had made a decision and the alert salesman had closed the deal before they could again manage their minds, we leaned forward to learn how much they were about to pay. It was $124.50. That was all. Now we are trying to figure out how the proprietor of a retail wallpaper shop gets any profit when he has taken out the cost of manufacture, the overhead and the salesman's time. The latter item must indeed be considerable. We only wish somebody in the business would enlighten us.

Many things had gone wrong in the kitchen that morning, and mother was looking about for something to scold more animate than a refractory fire and a pile of unwashed breakfast dishes. In the corner of the dining-room sat daughter, studying her stenography lesson and waiting for her chum to come along and take the car for school with her.

"It seems to me," mother was saying, "that girls nowadays spend more time over silly things than they did when I went to school. What good'll all that scribbling do you, anyway? Of course they'll tell you that you can go right out and get a place in an office for $25 a week and a half-holiday Saturdays. Precious few of those places suffering to be filled, in my opinion. Girls ought to learn how to cook, how to wash dishes, how to make beds, n' sweep, n' lots of other things 'round the house. If they did that, then they might be some help to their mothers."

Mother stopped to catch up with herself and incidentally her work. Filling the tea-kettle is an operation that requires undivided attention, even of experts.

"As I was saying," she continued, "There are altogether too many trills. I'd like to know what my mother would'a thought if I'd told her I couldn't get down to breakfast before 8 o'clock! Mercy me, she'd taken that out'er me quicker'n you could say 'Jack Robinson.' Why I used to—, but, land, it's no use, you might as well talk to the side of the house as to try to make some folks hear you."

There was another pause, broken only by the gentle voice of daughter, with, "Did you laugh then or did you sigh, mother?" I know the stenographic sign for 'laugh' but not for 'sigh.' I've got the rest you said all right."

"You can't be sure of anything in politics" was the observation made in our presence by one of the most astute political managers it has been our privilege to meet. He was discussing events in a Councillor district (not the one of which Newton is a part) and seeking to emphasize the absurdity of under-estimating the other fellow's strength. In this particular instance a very fine type of office-holder was defeated for nomination by a man whose reputation had never previously inspired the voters to tender him their cordial support. To be sure the new-comer had the alphabetical advantage so far as the arrangement of names on the ballot was concerned. The political leader who was pointing-out the lesson shown by the returns said, "I never let the grass grow under my feet no matter how trifling the opposition. This year I had two against me. Everybody said, 'What's the use of making a fight, they haven't got the ghost of a show.' But I was not misled. I went out as I have in every previous campaign. I solicited votes, I made speeches and organized committees. Many people thought I was wasting my energies and their time. Maybe I was, but the big majority I received convinced me otherwise. Like everything else in life what is worth having is worth going after." The speaker then cited numerous instances where some of the most desirable men in public life had failed of re-nomination by taking too much for granted. We have not written this for political candidates but for the citizens of Newton in general. We believe the lesson is just as vivid in its application to the question of party success as to an individual's aspirations. Beware of the man who tells you "There's nothing to it—we can't lose!" He should know better and you, gentle reader, should not heed him. There never was a worthy candidate or a cause that suffered from too many votes or too many supporters. There have been many worthy candidates who have suffered defeat because of too few votes and too few earnest workers. Public opinion and public interest are essential, believe it or not.

Several who have written the Graphic in complaint against the taking of Clafin Park as a school building site have called attention to the overflowing of the brook that passes through the land. They point out the enormous pressure of water is "liable to occur at any time." We haven't heard this denied by the other side. To us it looks as if the city fathers could not consistently overlook this flood of protests.

According to our count, based on the City Clerk's official advertisement, there are more than 80 petitions to be heard by the Board of Aldermen Monday evening, October 6, for permission to erect and maintain garages. Personally we favor every one of them, but at the same time suggest the day may not be far distant when the Garden City will be known as the Garage City.

SUCCESSFUL SURPRISE SHOWER

A very successful surprise party was tendered to Miss Anna H. Hennessey of Newtonville, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. William Shaughnessy, 59 Bowers street, Newtonville, on Friday night, last, preliminary to Miss Hennessey's departure for the Charlesgate Hospital of Cambridge, where she is to take up the duties of a nurse.

The young lady was presented with $50, in gold by close friends; also, many other gifts were bestowed on her. Expert dance music was furnished by Paul's Rivoli Orchestra, the personnel of which is as follows: Geo. V. Hennessey, Drummer; Herman F. McNeil, Cornetist; D. Francis Sheehan, Pianist; and John J. Shea, Violinist. Fine vocal talent and humor was afforded by Messrs. Fraser, Sheehan, Connors, and Miss Irene Kane of Norwich, Conn.

The guests easily numbered one hundred or more, and in the opinion of all concerned, the party was an overwhelming success.

EVER NOTICED THIS?

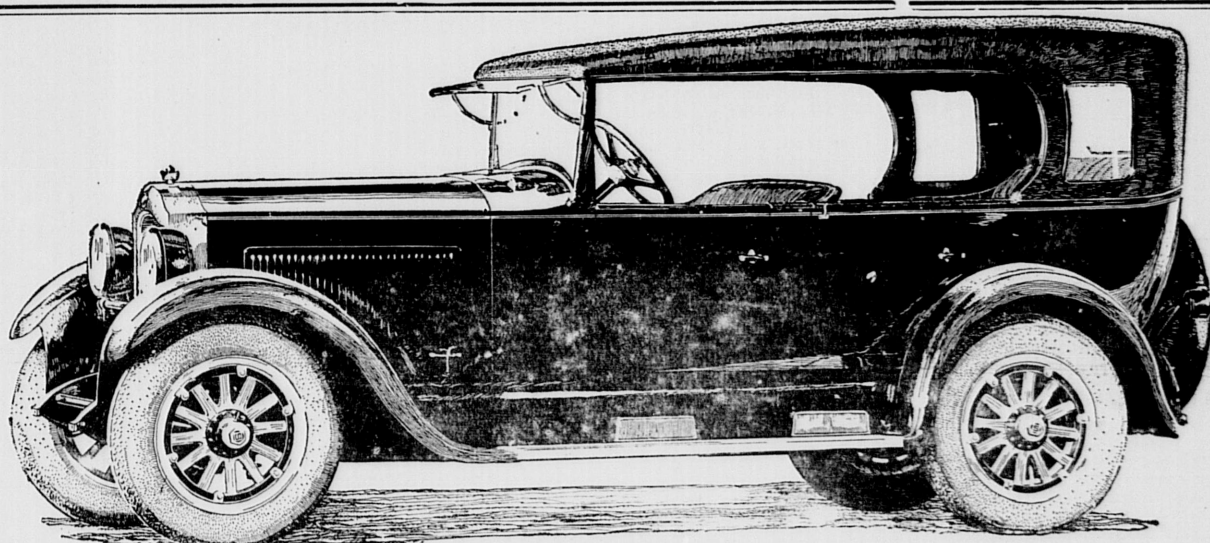

It is more fun to watch a man read a puff on himself in a newspaper than to see a fat man slip on a banana peel. The narrow-minded man reads it seven or eight times and then goes around to appropriate what copies he can. The kind-hearted man goes around to the newspaper office and pays what he owes. The successful business man who advertises regularly and makes money by it, immediately starts out to find the editor and the two walk silently down the street to the cigar store. As they bite the ends of the cheroots life is sweeter and peace settles down on their hearts for a moment. Such is the fate of a mustard seed that falls on different ground.—Norborne (Mo.) Democrat-Leader.

ARCHERY

'Twenty-one archers were out for shooting, last Saturday, on the Newton Centre range.

Much interest is maintained in the shooting events this fall. On Sunday afternoon, October 11th, and on Monday morning and afternoon, October 13th, a local tournament will be held. Small prizes will be given to both the winning man and the winning lady. Men, women and children all take part in these events.

One of the Newton Archers, Miss Eleanor True of Waban, has recently gone to Smith College as a freshman, where she will continue archery, as one of the college sports. Miss True is also proficient in tennis, probably because she developed so much muscle in archery.

Have you seen this new car?
—It is a closed-open car!

A WEEK ago the new Studebaker Special Six DUPLEX-PHAETON was first announced.

Today, countless thousands of people are talking about this entirely new type of car.

One moment it is a closed car—in five seconds it can be transformed into a delightful, airy, open car. But it is always the closed car in deep soft cushions, beautiful fittings and finish and luxurious riding comfort.

When you see it and ride in it you will know why it has made so profound a sensation—you will realize then that it gives you more than the finest open car can give you, plus the comfort and protection of the closed car.

And all at the price of an open car!

And this is the new DUPLEX BODY on the famous Special Six Chassis.

Hundreds of thousands of owners all over this country and abroad have given the Studebaker Special Six a name for value, dependability and performance second to no other automobile.

The new Studebaker Special Six retains all the qualities which make great reputation—to these have been added every real improvement which science and owner-service could suggest.

EDITORIAL

We are sadly disappointed at the action of the aldermen on Monday evening in refusing to grant the petitions of Mrs. Byfield to purchase and to move to another site the house which has delayed the completion of the new Underwood school for the past two years. We fear that the aldermen, having apparently obtained the whip hand in this long drawn out litigation, are showing some resentment towards Mrs. Byfield which, while natural, does not seem to us as being actuated by good sound common sense. We used the word "apparently" above, for the very good reason that we appreciate the resourcefulness of the attorney for Mrs. Byfield, and do not believe that the present situation is, by any means, the finish of the matter. Mrs. Byfield asked that the house, which, in the first place, ought not to have been taken by the city (the land only being needed for school purposes) and sold to her for a nominal sum and that she be granted a permit to move it to a location on the Hibbard estate and permission also given to allow the building to encroach upon the set back on Washington street about five feet. If these petitions had been granted there would have been no further litigation, the city would have gained additional taxable property, and far more important, immediate work could begin on the completion of the school for the comfort of the children. The failure to grant these moderate petitions means further litigation and a consequent delay in providing needed school accommodations, due entirely in our opinion to a matter of pique on the part of our city government.

The report of the select committee of the aldermen on the proposition to substitute busses for the present noisy street cars should be read by every taxpayer. We are inclined to believe that the improvement in the service will warrant an expenditure of ten thousand dollars a year by the city and that the claim by the street railway company for this compensation on account of the loss incurred by carrying school children for half fare, is fully justified.

The proposition of the street railway company for an exclusive right to operate busses in this city should, however, be strictly limited to sections of the city where it now has its tracks. Newton has a large and as yet undeveloped area south of Boylston street, where the city government of the future should not be limited in the matter of granting some form of transportation franchise.

The blindness of some of the automobile operators in this city to the prominent signs directing traffic, would, if brought to the attention of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, certainly bring about the suspension of their license to operate. Just why an automobile should be driven past a "No Passing" sign, when the machine has to make a change in direction in order to pass the sign, is incomprehensible to the average pedestrian. We have also seen machines standing within six feet of a sign which distinctly stated "No Parking." In Nonantum Square where silent policemen clearly indicate the southbound route, there are numerous instances where drivers attempt to cut in between two of these markers.

We should be glad to have a few of these "know-it-all" operators hailed before Mr. Goodwin and have their licenses taken away.

The Republican city committee is to make an earnest effort this fall to increase the number of registered voters in this city.

It is estimated that there are 17,709 women and 14,742 men in the city eligible to register of which only 9027 women and 9556 men are actually registered, leaving about 14,000 persons not now registered. Of this number a considerable proportion will undoubtedly prove to be aliens, but it is evident that the committee will find a fertile field for its work.

With daylight saving for the season ending next Sunday, the present is a good time to review the benefit which has been derived from this excellent piece of legislation, as the matter will be on the ballot at the coming election for approval or disapproval by the voters of the entire Commonwealth. The result of that ballot will not affect the law unless the incoming legislature chooses to take the action which may be indicated at the election.

Newton is honored and the Commonwealth is to be congratulated, on the nomination of Mr. Thomas W. White of this city for the important office of chairman of the state commission on administration and finance. Few men in the state have a wider knowledge or a longer experience in state finances and none have as much ability and courage to apply their knowledge to the solution of the problems of the state.

We are glad to note the organization of a chapter of the Order of DeMolay in this city. The average boy of sixteen years needs some outlet for his half formed religious nature or he will attempt to suppress it as something of which he should be ashamed. A fraternal body of his own associates based on religion, good morals and good citizenship, will go far towards making real men of our younger generation.

The churches, women's clubs, fraternal organizations and the moving picture theatres have a splendid opportunity to assist in the good work of registering voters for the coming election.

DOG SHOW

October 11th will see another open air Dog Show in Newton, when the Middlesex County Kennel Club presents its third licensed Fall Show for all Breeds on the spacious grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Church street. The past shows given about this date, in 1922 and 1923, proved very popular to both exhibitors and the public, and this show has become almost an institution, as being the last show of the Fall.

This year, as always, particular care has been used in the selection of the judges, and a perusal of the names given in the Prize List proves conclusively that no effort has been spared to obtain judges of acknowledged ability in their respective breeds.

To correct a popular but incorrect impression, it should be noted that in order to be shown at an KC show dogs do NOT have to be registered. They must be pure bred, however, and the particulars required in making out entries must be followed.

The Boston Terriers will be judged by Mr. Thomas Herney, Bull Terriers, Sealyhams and Whippets by Mr. Bayard Warren, while Mrs. C. E. Jeffrey, Jr., of Newton Centre will award the prizes for Cairns, Scotchies and West Highland White Terriers. Mr. Walter H. Davis judges Foxhounds and Beagles, and Mrs. V. F. Pettie the Pointers, Setters and Wirehaired Pointing Griffons. Sporting Spaniels will be judged by M. E. S. Macomber; Mr. John W. Vaughan will have Bull Dogs; Mr. C. Harland Lawrence, Chow; Mrs. E. T. Swift, the Collies; Frenchies will have Mr. C. N. Denault for their arbiter. The Doberman Pinschers will be placed by Mr. John J. Riordan. Pekingeses will have the president of the local specialty club; Mrs. J. B. Hadaway wearing the Ermine; Shepherd dogs will welcome a new and well liked adjudicator in Mrs. Margaret Lefavour, while the Great Danes have a specialist in Mr. Hervey Mason. The all rounder rule by Mrs. T. E. L. Kemp, who has a splendid record in that capacity.

As the Y. M. C. A. will benefit by the success of this show, it should be of particular interest to all Newton residents, and as the show giving club has a splendid record for the past twelve years of active show giving, a success should be assured.

POLICE COURT

The hard cider case was finished Monday, and no more cider will be sold by the firm of Marzilli & Fermonite in Nonantum as a result of the imposition of fines and jail sentences on both the wholesalers and retailers involved. Geo. Wilson of Main street, Medfield, proprietor of a cider mill, was fined $100 for selling the cider to Nonantum men, Fred Marzilli and Charles Fermonite of Watertown St., Nonantum, owners of a groceries and provisions store, were fined $50 for illegal sales of intoxicating liquor, and each was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for keeping and exposing intoxicating liquors for sale. The last sentence was suspended until March 28, 1925. The arrests, on both ends, were made by Sergt. Leehan.

On a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, three months in the House of Correction was imposed on Eddie Desorci of 25 Watertown street, Watertown. Wednesday morning by Judge Bacon. Officers testified that Desorci had knocked down a fire alarm box and run into a group of three men who were changing a tire. Desorci appealed the three months' sentence and was released in bonds of $500.

NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The Newton W. C. T. U. will meet at the Baptist Church, Newton Centre, corner Beacon and Centre streets, Thursday, October 2, at 2.30 P. M. Dr. S. H. Woodrow will speak on "Our Present Duty." Music.

LIP READING CLASSES

A lip reading class for adults is to be held in connection with the Evening Schools at the Technical High School building, Newtonville. Registration Monday night, Sept. 29, at 7.10.

GIRL SCOUTS

The winter program of the Newton Girl Scouts is beginning in real earnest. Each week sees one or more troops starting their regular meetings, and by the first week in October most of the troops will be in full swing.

Troop 1—the Newtonville troop will hold its first meeting on Wednesday, October 1, in the Parish House of St. John's Church, at 4 P. M.

Troop 3 Juniors, Newton Centre, will start on October 2, holding its meeting as usual in the vestry of the Congregational Church.

Troop 3 Seniors, also of Newton Centre, will meet for the first time this fall on Friday evening, October 3, at 7 o'clock.

Troop 5, the West Newton troop, will meet as usual on Tuesday afternoons in the Entertainment Hall of the Congregational Church. The first meeting of the season will be on Tuesday, September 30. The Junior Division of the Troop will meet at 2 o'clock and the Senior Division at 4.

Troop 7 will hold its first meeting on Tuesday evening, September 30, at 7 o'clock in the Emerson School, Upper Falls.

Troop 12, the troop at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children will hold its first meeting this fall on Monday, September 29, at the Home at 3 P. M. Captains and Scouts alike will welcome any girls ten years old or over who would like to join the organization. There is a troop in every village, now but Lower Falls (where it is hoped one will be started soon) and there should be a chance for every girl in the city who wishes to join the scouts to do so.

Camp Mary Day

On Friday of last week 12 scouts from Troop 11 with Mrs. Collins, Captain of the Troop, and Mrs. Carrick, Chairman of the Troop Committee, arrived at Camp Mary Day for an overnight hike all in the open—a part of the First Class test. They reached camp about 5 o'clock in the afternoon with their blanket rolls slung over their shoulders and their provisions, kettles and so forth strapped to their backs, and they asked Miss Freeman who was spending her vacation at camp if they might spend the night using the Council ring with its big fire place to cook their meals and the camp green for sleeping quarters. They were cordially welcomed and the use of the camp given them but they could not be persuaded to enter the camp buildings, as this was an "out of doors hike" and the girls stuck to their idea of not crossing the threshold of the camp most rigidly. Supper of "hunters' stew" and cocoa was cooked over a big fire and after washing the dishes in the pond and a good sing around the camp fire the girls rolled up in their blankets and slept on the floors of the tents. They were up early in the morning and after breakfast cooked again in the open they played hare and hound until it was time to start for home. They hiked back to the car line with their blankets once more singing as they went and each one feeling certain that of all hikes this one spent all out of doors was the very best bet.

"Strap your pack to your back with a sandwich for a snack, And we'll take to the road with a song. Through the brush, through the brake when the day is first awake When the Girl Scouts go hiking along. Whether spring or fall, you will hear the high road call. Come out, tune up your little song. So take your pack and strap it to your back. For the Girl Scouts go hiking along. COME OUT HIKING! For the Girl Scouts go hiking along."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. William Chalfant, Jr., of West Chester, Pennsylvania, announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dallet Chalfant, to Mr. William Thayer Rich, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thayer Rich, of Newton.

Miss Chalfant was graduated from Miss Wright's School at Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Probate Court. To all persons interested in the estate of Edward E. Wright.

Whereas, Samuel N. Braman has presented for allowance the first account of his administration upon the estate of said deceased:

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County, on the fifteenth day of October A. D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be allowed.

And said executor is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to all persons interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, George E. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-second day of September in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

CHARLES N. HARRIS, Register. Sept. 25, Oct. 3-10.

Y. W. C. A.

All the Gymnasium and Health Activities at the Y. W. C. A. will start the first week in October.

There are three gymnasium classes for adults, an advanced and beginner's class on Tuesday evenings, and a normalizing class on Thursday mornings. The grade school girls' class is held on Tuesday afternoons, and the kiddies' class for children from 8 to 11 on Wednesday forenoons.

The Blue Triangle Club is to have a talk on the League of Nations on Monday evening, preceded as usual by a club supper at 6.30.

The High School Girl Reserves will entertain their mothers at supper this evening. Next week's meeting will be devoted to a discussion on Personal Charm, which will become the basis of a Charm school to be inaugurated as a part of the high school program for the year. The Health program of the High School Girl Reserves is well started. Most of the girls have had a fitness test and are hard at work on increasing their physical equipment.

The Grade School Girl Reserves are preparing an autumn pageant to be given next month.

A new club has been formed for the smaller children, Miss Alice Barney is the volunteer worker in charge of the club, and has planned a very lively program for the little ones with all the mechanism used by their older sisters in their club work.

Swimming parties leave the Y. W. C. A. for the Brookline tank every Wednesday evening, and bowling parties go to the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evenings.

Many other activities are being planned, and it is urgently hoped that the girls and young women of Newton will take time to call at the rooms and find out what is being done for their pleasure and profit.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

Registration days were held this week for lessons in the Music School in West Newton, Nonantum, Newtonville and Newton Highlands. Many applications were received, and a large number for advanced courses. Regular sessions commence next Tuesday, Sept. 30th, at the Peirce School, West Newton, and the Claffin School, Newtonville, where pupils desiring instruction may apply Tuesday or Thursday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Communication by telephone may be made to the General Secretary, Miss Marion Chidsey, 130 Warren St., Newton Centre. Tel. 2893-M Centre Newton.

This year the regular meetings will come the first Wednesday of each month, and the programs will be arranged by the chairmen of different committees.

ALLEN-MANNING

The wedding of Miss Anna Mae Manning of Charlesbank road, Newton and Mr. George E. Allen, Jr., of Waltham, was solemnized at the Church of Our Lady on Tuesday morning, Rev. Conrad Quirbach celebrating the nuptial mass. There were solos by Miss Irene Cain and Mr. Joseph Antoinette.

The bride wore white canton crepe with pearl trimmings, her veil caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Helen Fallon of Newton was in peach canton crepe, with black velvet hat and she carried tea roses.

The best man was Mr. Albert O'Connell of Brockton.

A wedding breakfast following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

DEATH OF NOTED PHYSICIAN

Dr. Edward Roland Cutler, a well known physician in Waltham for over thirty years, died Wednesday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Rowland H. Barnes, on Bowdoin St., Newton Highlands.

He was born in Boston, Jan. 15, 1840, and after two years of study at Williams College he entered the Harvard Medical School in 1860. He received the degree of M. D. in 1863. On the day of his graduation he walked directly from the Medical School to the State House, where he enlisted in the Medical Corps, and was commissioned as assistant surgeon in the United States Army.

He rendered distinguished service on the field of battle with the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery first as assistant surgeon, to which he was appointed Sept. 25, 1863, and surgeon, Dec. 5, 1864.

During the years of 1865 and 1866 he engaged in the practice of medicine at Hartford, Conn. The three years between 1866 and 1869 he spent in study abroad, returning from Vienna in 1870 to engage in the practice of medicine at Waltham. He retired from active practice in 1906.

On Dec. 23, 1887, Dr. Cutler performed one of the first operations for the removal of the appendix, and he was the first to perform it as a preventive measure. In one of his early medical papers he predicted the general adoption of this policy.

Just before Dr. Cutler enlisted for the war he married Miss Melvina Amanda Rogers, daughter of the late Samuel B. Rogers of South Sudbury. The ceremony took place in Washington at one of the old-time hotels on Pennsylvania avenue, and a few days later the young bride saw her husband march off with his regiment.

Dr. Cutler was stationed at Fort Myer, in Virginia, and his wife, who remained in Washington, volunteered her services as a nurse in helping to care for wounded soldiers. Dr. Cutler is survived by three sons, George W. Cutler of Skull Valley, Ariz., Howard A. Cutler of Andover, and Roland R. Cutler of South Sudbury, and one daughter, Mrs. Barnes.

Funeral services will be held from the residence of Mr. Atherton W. Rogers in South Sudbury, tomorrow afternoon, and the burial will be in the Wadsworth Cemetery of that town.

Service

The Service of a modern funeral director is founded on a large fund of new scientific knowledge. It is backed up with facilities that provide for every possible requirement.

We have made this question of Service a life study. In your time of need we understand just what to do in the way that makes the last tribute a comforting memory. Our well equipped establishment at Newtonville with our corps of especially trained assistants make it possible for us to give this Service.

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE COAL? "PREPARE"

The problem of, "how much coal will I have to burn this winter?" is the question that is in every household. We all know that coal gives off various gases which pass up the chimney unburnt due to faulty drafts or poor combustion. You will have a large surplus of ashes and half consumed coal left.

By using the CRAIGULATOR which increases combustion by scientific burning of these gases you will save on your coal and obtain better heat.

CRAIGULATOR

is easily attached to any steam, hot water or hot air heater, $35.00 to $45.00 for the average home. Consult us without obligation.

THOMAS-MANN

Among the early fall weddings of interest to residents of the Newtons, was that of Miss Ruth Marion Thomas to Mr. Kenneth Elmer Mann on Saturday evening, September 20, 1924, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hoag, 112 Institution avenue, Newton Centre.
The house was beautifully decorated with palms and bright colored gladioli for the occasion.

The ceremony was performed by
Rev. P. M. Wood, rector of the Auburndale Episcopal Church. The bride, who was gown in white satin crepe with veil of tulle, and shower bouquet of brides' roses, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harold W.
Thomas of Malden. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lee L. Smalley of Worcester, as matron of honor, Misses Nanette E. Hoag and M. Muriel Duffus as bridesmaids, and Anita Wheeler, three year old niece of the groom, as flower girl. The matron of honor wore peach colored georgette and carried Ophelia roses; the gowns of the bridesmaids were of rose coral georgette and they carried Columbia roses, while little Miss Wheeler wore pale pink tulle and carried a basket of pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Bertram A.
Wheeler of Medford, and the ushers were Messrs. Robert Jones, Nathan Dewing, Brooks Lakeman of Auburndale, and Fred M. Thomas of Somerville.

The wedding music was played by Mr. Donald S. Smith, pianist, instructor in music at the N. E. Conservatory of Music, and Mr. Clarence Knudsen, violinist in the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

A reception followed the ceremony.
Mr. and Mrs. Mann being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mann of Auburndale, parents of the groom, Mrs. Viola B.
Thomas, the bride's mother, and the other members of the wedding party.

After an automobile tour to Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Mann will make their home at 70 Melrose avenue, Needham, Mass.

THE AUBURDALE CLUB

The Auburndale Club, opening its season last week Thursday evening, (Sept. 18.) contributed to the New England Week observance by an illustrated lecture upon New England scenic and historic points.
More than 200 members came out to listen to Edward S. Jones, whose talk and pictures proved most interesting.

Wm. Carroll Hill, president of the club, made announcements regarding the Society Circus to be given by the club at Norumbega Park on September 27, next Saturday, when the 101st Artillery troops will give an exhibition of wonderful riding, and a Dodge sedan car will be given away.

The motion pictures at the club, open to the public, will begin on the first Friday in October with "The Wanderer of the Wasteland" and continue each Friday evening. On the last Friday evening of the month "The Covered Wagon" will be shown.

Prof. George H. Browne of Browne & Nichols' school of Cambridge will give a lecture of unusual interest on October 22 on "Our Newest National Parks, Zion, Bryce and Roosevelt Sequoia, and the Pueblo Indians," also open to the public.

A Halloween dance will be given on the evening of Wednesday, October 29.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

The Club held its luncheon on Monday noon at the Newton Clubhouse in Newtonville.

Mr. Thomas W. White, a member of the State Commission on Administration and Finance was the speaker, and gave an illuminating talk on the finances of the state, with brief statements of the larger departments, and a description of how his own commission functioned. Few men have as wide an acquaintance with the work of the state as Mr. White, and the club was fortunate in having him as a guest.

The speaker next Monday will be Hon. Joseph E. Warner, assistant attorney general of the Commonwealth.
About twenty members and their ladies will attend the fall convalescent week at Poland Springs.

INDEXES AND LISTS FOR TEACHERS

What teacher has not suddenly wondered in what book to find a story she used to tell, but has forgotten? Perhaps after a long search the story is found; perhaps after an even longer search it is not found. To help teachers in such a search there have been several indexes and lists compiled, which may be consulted at the Newton Free Library. One of the most useful of these is Eastman's "Index to fairy tales, myths and legends," (AL-E13). In this are listed alphabetically according to their titles, many familiar and unfamiliar fairy tales, fables, hero stories, Greek and Norse myths, with a few modern stories as well. If a teacher knows the exact title of the story she wants to find, consulting this index will often give her quickly the needed information. Even without the exact title a story can sometimes be found because of the cross references from possible titles and the listing of some more common subjects.

Another useful index for story-tellers is "The Index to Short Stories," by G. E. Sallisbury and M. E. Beckwith (JAI-S16). Here the arrangement of material is by the subject matter in the stories. Thus if a teacher knows that a story has courage or horses, hospitality or cheerfulness as its main subject, she may find the book in which it was published through this index by looking under the particular subject. Moreover, if a story is wanted to illustrate a special point, this index is of use. Short stories for older children and adults are also listed with their sources in Firkins' "Index to Short Stories" (AL-F51). In connection with story-telling it may be well to mention here a new book,
"Children's stories and how to tell them" by W. A. Bone (JISA-B64) because of its especially full bibliography.

For teachers in search of a play suitable for their pupils to act, there are two indexes which give a general idea of the action of the play, the time it would take to produce, and the number of characters needed. One is by A. L. Hazeltine called "Plays for Children" (JAI-H33). The other with the same title is by Kate Oglebay (JAI-079). Both list plays for holidays and special occasions. The index to Saint Nicholas will also be found helpful in looking for a suitable play as many have been published in this magazine.

teachers and the following are some of those to be consulted at the Library:
Out-of-door books.
Familiar essays.
Books to grow on.
Lists of stories and programs for story hours.
Popular books for boys.
Books about Indians.
Books about the Great West
Hartford reading list.
Graded list of books for children.
Books for girls in Continuation schools.
Viewpoints on Travel.
Viewpoints in Biography.
Poetry for young people.

RELIGION

"My religion consists in doing my duty," said Jones. "I am honest in business; I am good to my family; I give to needy causes as much as I can; and that seems religion enough for me. I have no use for creeds or doctrines; so I go to church as a sort of social club; that's all."

"For my part," said Brown, "I demand for my mind some thoughtful statement for and of my religious belief. I think religions is more than conduct; it is thought as well; it is mind-stuff, not merely going about doing the things one has to do; decent conduct can now be carried on without much religion, but when I think at night over the problems of the universe I need religion."

"I need more than that," chimed in Smith. "I am an emotional nature; I suffer and rejoice every hour almost with the world. I am a man of many moods; I am glad and glad by turns; I am a bit of a mystery to myself; and unless religion has some answer to my questions I see no hope at all behind the world. You need thought and conduct too in religion, but still more you need an answer to yourself."

Thoughts like these are in everyone's mind today; and at the Unitarian church of Newton Centre, on next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock, the minister, George Lawrence Parker will take up such a conversation, making the subject of his sermon,
"Vital Aspects of Religion." Is religion mere duty, mere creed; mere worship; what is it? What will it be in the future? The Stebbins Alliance will meet on October 20, 10:30 A. M.
The Laymen's League has prepared a vital winter program.

FAREWELL PARTY

Miss Aletha Moore of Hicks street,
West Newton, was given a farewell party on Friday evening of the past week at her home, by a number of young friends from Newton, Malden, Worcester, Winchester and Boston, who presented Miss Moore with a travelling bag and a purse of money to remember them as she goes to Washington, D. C., to attend Howard University, where she intends to specialize in English and History.

Miss Moore is a graduate of Newton High School in the class of 1924, where she was a room reporter for the Newtonite and the Dynamo; she also made her letter on the Field Hockey team.

Dr. Edward Samuel Niles, D. M. D., of 60 Elmwood street, who for many years has been a successful dentist in Copley Square and Commonwealth avenue, Boston, has so far recovered that he is receiving patients at his home office, 62 Elmwood street, Newton Corner. Advertisement. tf

WELFARE WORK EXHIBIT

Twenty-five welfare and civic organizations of Newton have requested space in the Welfare Exhibit which will be held in Players Hall on Thursday, October 16. The Exhibit will be held in connection with the first All-Newton Community Welfare Conference which is being arranged for under the auspices of the Newton Central Council. Sessions of the Conference will be held during the morning, afternoon and evening of October 16th, in the main auditorium of Players Hall.

The Exhibit will be held in the smaller hall adjoining the main auditorium in the Players Hall building.
The Exhibit will be open from nine o'clock in the morning to ten at night, during the one day of the Conference.
Arrangements for the Exhibit are in charge of a special committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. G.
Hopkins of Newton Centre. Other members of the committee are Mrs.
Alice H. Smith of Auburndale; Mrs.
E. Payson Upham of Waban; Mrs. Edward B. Bowen of Newton Centre;
Mrs. Florence G. Morse of Newton;
Miss Elizabeth Hartel of West Newton; Miss Pauline Yetten, Community Worker for the Stearns School Centre; and Miss Nydia E. Minchin, Director of the West Newton Neighborhood House.

At a meeting held under the direction of the Exhibit Committee on September 23, plans for the exhibits were reported by representatives of the various welfare organizations.
Models, handwork, photographs, posters, maps, and charts will all be used to interpret the service rendered by the social agencies of the city.

Among the organizations which have requested space for the Exhibit are the following:
American Legion, Newton Post
Number 48, American Red Cross, Newton Chapter; Bowen School Centre; Boy Scouts of America, Newton Council; City Planning Board; Girl Scouts, Newton Local Council;

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, Sept. 24 — Somehow, there is always something amusing in the spectacle of two rich men quarreling. The average citizen lacking in a vast accumulation of worldly wealth, finds some consolation in the Biblical proverb that "riches profit not in the days of wrath." Such is the reception given generally to the renewal of the Couzens-Mellon feud in Washington. Being eminently successful in establishing their mark in Bradstreet's catalogue of "Whose Who and How Much," the Senator from Michigan and the distinguished Secretary of the Treasury are obviously woefully short on the fine points of behavior during a political year. They have, in brief, gathered much in the marts of trade, but failed to adapt their experiences to their political environment. Hence, the smiles and chaffing as Mr. Couzens proceeds to investigate the administration of Mr. Mellon.

For a time it appeared that illness and primary elections would provide an effective blockade of the publicly announced plans of Sen. Couzens for an inquiry into the Treasury Department. He proposed to devote the time of his committee to a quiz of officials in the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the prohibition unit. Mr. Couzens told the Senate that he had reached the conclusion that all was not well in these two Federal organizations. The information, from un-revealed sources, he declared made it plain that he was in the service, and to the country, to expose, if possible, any corruption and wrong-doing. Senator Jim Watson of Indiana entered strenuous objections to the proposed inquiry but finally consented. It was charged at the time that the Michigan Senator was sympathetic to the "wet" cause and expected to impress the nation with the futility of prohibition enforcement. Many other things of a like nature found their way into type. The professional "drys" denied they opposed the inquiry and urged an impartial study so that the evils, if existent, could be remedied, believing a more wholesome respect for the law would result. The victory at the primaries apparently gave the Michigan Senator strength for his role of the crusader. He summoned his committee this week for hearings, and everybody is on their toes expecting interesting inquisitorial methods, if nothing more. Times have been dull in Washington since the oil scandal passed out of the spotlight, and the impending fracas is a choice morsel.

It is only natural that cautious political leaders should try to display enthusiasm for this late outburst. That the unpleasantness should have traveled beyond the epistolary stage is deplorable to these gentlemen, as they would have considered it more prudent to have waited longer. But, the attitude of Senator Couzens is best described by Homer of our school-room days "my own great mind I then consulted." This represents the criticism of local political leaders on the inquiry which the Michigan solon persists in regarding as a legacy from the last session of Congress.

The investigation brings out many inquiries as to the personalities of the two principal characters. It is conceded that they are both men who have won for themselves immense wealth. Secretary Mellon is rated as the second richest man in the world, and Senator Couzens is reported to have received seventeen millions from an original investment of five thousand plus his unquestioned success as general manager for the Ford Motor Company. A portrait of the Secretary of the Treasury could show him as a mild, unassuming man, not easily identified in a crowd. Nobody contests the fact that he is a financial genius and the strongest man in the Cabinet. Unfortunately, his wizardry at finance is not sufficiently counterbalanced for marked success in the realm of politics. His successful administration has far over-shadowed his political blunders.

Senator Couzens and William M. Butler, the Coolidge campaign manager, have a common fault, which, it seems, is their chief weakness. Both are "hard-boiled" business executives, it is said, unable to adjust their characters to the new setting. In many ways this consistency is commendable, but it is a total loss from a political standpoint. Unless a man can compromise with his associates and ingratiate himself with the multitude, the days of his leadership are numbered. The story is told that Senator Couzens came to Washington, by appointment, firmly resolved that he would seek no great favors for his constituents and serve in the nation as a whole. Truly a most laudable position, but one destined to change under pressure from the voters and voters back home. It developed that the folks at home considered their representative in the Senate an arrogant individual, a man with inflexibility of mind, not desirous of their attention. Then, the ravens began to croak when the man sought the office by the gift of the people and not the chief executive of the state. According to well-informed observers, no oracle was consulted but the results from the primary told their own story. Mr. Couzens obtained the nomination.

Historically, the tiff between these two industrial leaders had its inception in the candid reference of Secretary Mellon to the investment of the Couzens in millions in nontaxable securities at a time when the Senator was criticizing the motives of Mr. Mellon in advocating the so-called Mellon tax plan. The Senator considered it bad taste on the part of Mr. Mellon to draw the spotlight on his personal fortunes and became incensed. Whether it is revenge or an honest effort to straighten affairs in the bureau long under fire, is something which the evidence alone will reveal. On the eve of the elections it is reminiscent of the "brick bat" days when politics had more of a personal tinge.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

A Scoutmasters' meeting, preceded by a dinner, was held at the Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening which was attended by sixteen officers and guests. The dinner was of the excellent variety served by the Y. M. C. A., and was a success due to the efficient planning by Mr. Bruton, the Assistant Secretary; a good chef, and careful waiters.

An interesting part of the meeting was the presentation of a gift to Mr. Harlan D. Crowell, the retiring scoutmaster of troop 7, West Newton, by the Commissioner in the name of the commissioned officers of Norumbega Council. In making the presentation Commissioner Carley complimented Mr. Crowell on his wonderful success with his troop, expressed his and the Council's thanks for the great work Mr. Crowell has done and wished him the success in his new field that he deserves.

Mr. Crowell took over the scoutmastership of troop 7 two years before the war and except for the time that he was in the service, has carried along the work with the troop in a very wonderful way. He will carry away many pleasant recollections of his association with the scouts in Norumbega Council and they are each and every one sorry to see him leave but glad of his good fortune. His place in scouting in Newton will be very hard to fill.

After the scoutmasters' meeting, quite a number of scouts met with the officers in the large hall and took part in a sort of an "Inter-troop" meeting, going through the color ceremony and listening to several short talks on scout subjects. Mr. Lichtenhaeler of troop 4 told of a long hike made by him, together with Eagle Scout Parker, through the Catskill Mountains this summer and brought out certain things that the scouts ought to see on their hikes, particularly their "14 mile" hike for the first class test. Mr. Charles Woodworth spoke on the cooking tests and admonished the scouts to "be prepared." Deputy Commissioner Varney spoke on the Court of Honor and Mr. Crowell gave a short talk on the question of loyalty and its rewards.

Court of Honor will be held at the headquarters of troop 11, Bigelow School, Newton, at 7.15 P. M. Thursday, October 2nd. Applications must be at headquarters by the 26th.

DEATH OF MR. MOORE

William E. Moore, a resident of this city for over 40 years, died Sunday at his home, 55 Hillside road, Newton Highlands. As a young man Mr. Moore associated himself with the old-time firm of A. H. Davenport & Co., and he showed such ability in the decorating line that he attracted the attention of the Thomas Stratman Decorating Co., then located at 9 Park St., Boston. He had not been with this house long before he was advanced and finally became a partner, remaining with this concern until all the other partners had died. At the time of his death, Mr. Moore was with William B. Savage Company, 36 Bromfield street, Boston.

He was a man of considerable musical ability, and was one of the charter members of the Highland Glee Club of Newton, and as a young man he had been a singer in the choir of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newton Highlands, for a long time. He was a member of the Daughters of the Masons of Newtonville.

Mr. Moore was a native of Charlestown and his parents were William A. Moore and Ellen M. Moore. He is survived by a widow, Katherine J. Moore, whose maiden name was Duffy, who was a school teacher in the Newtons before her marriage; and two brothers, Frank R. Moore of New York city and Frederick C. Moore of Leonia, N. J. Mr. Moore was in his fifty-ninth year.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at his late home on Hillside road, Rev. George G. Phipps, officiating. The burial was in the family lot at Burlington, Mass.

FOK STORIES

Each member of the Woman's Association of Central Church, Newton-ville, has been asked to earn some money for the budget and Mrs. E. K.
Titus, of 23 Otis St., Newtonville, gave an entertainment at her home on Tuesday afternoon for that purpose.

Mrs. Walter Jamison of Cambridge, a graduate of the New York School of Expression and of Miss Edith Noyes School in Boston now known through her courses under the University Extension and her course in Community Drama at Emerson School of Oratory, gave selections from folk lore.

Her program was: two Czech-Slovakian tales: "The Rooster and the Little Red Hen;" "The Shepherd's Nosegay;" telling how the princess learns to say "please" and "thank you" to her husband, "How Boots Be-fooled the King," by Howard Pyle,
"The Three Silks," an English folk tale which is found in many languages. From Kentucky came the American story of Abraham Lincoln which was passed down by those who knew the circumstances of the birth of our great American.

These tales contained much of humor and of quaint wisdom and Mrs.
Jamison interpreted in a graceful manner and with charming naturalness. Some of the stories had the characteristics of fables, pointing a moral in a delightful and fantastic way. They also reflected the ideas and imaginings of the primitive peoples from whence they came.

Mrs. Jamison is known to the boys and girls of Newton through her story telling hour at the Newton Library and its branches.
